GM Workers Win Pay Boost, Other Benefits

Corporation, UAW Agree To Changes In Five-Year Pact

DETROIT, May 22 (AP)—General Motors Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers today agreed to changes in their current five-year contract to provide pay raises and other benefits for 350,000 workers throughout the nation.

The agreement was reached as separate strikes in four Midwestern parts plants idled 135,650 workers in the automotive industry.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the union would "press immediately" for similar concessions from other major manufacturers which have long-term contracts with the union.

GM, Electrical Union Agree

Shortly after the GM-UAW announcement, James B. Carey, president of the CIO Electrical Workers Union, said GM and his union had reached a similar agreement covering 40,000 GM Electrical workers.

GM President Harlow H. Curtice termed the GM-UAW revisions "a practical solution to problems created by the Korean War with its resultant inflationary impact and the re-institution of government wage controls."

This is what the UAW and GM contract modifications are:

1. The annual improvement factor was raised to five cents an hour. The 1950 contract—a historic five-year pact—provided that hourly-rated workers should get a four-cent hourly pay hike during each year of the contract.

Change To New Price Index

2. GM granted a changeover from the "old" to the "new" Bureau of Labor Statistics price index. The UAW had declared the old index was outmoded. Under the five-year-contract, wages and salaries are reviewed quarterly and adjusted with changes in the consumer price index.

3. Nineteen of the 24 cents an hour cost of living allowance which the workers gained thus far under the contract, will be added to base wage rates as of June 1. This means that the amount of wages subject to downward revision from present levels is limited to five cents an hour, no matter how much the cost of living goes down.

4. GM granted 40,000 skilled trades workers across the nation an hourly increase of 10 cents.

Flood Funds Asked

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)— A Senate committee was asked today to provide one million dollars to begin construction of an Anacostia River flood control project in Bladensburg and Riverdale Md., area and to complete planning.

Flood Waters Continue To Rise

Airmen from the Lake Charles (La.) Air Force Base push a stalled car along the road leading from the airport to town as flood waters from the Calcasieu River continue to rise. Many sections of the city were isolated.

Lid On Further Probe Of Books And Magazines

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — House leaders indicated today the lid is on any further investigations into the field of obscene literature.

Bottled up in the House Rules Committee is a bill by Rep. Kearns (R-Pa) to renew the probe of pornographic books and magazines held last year. Chairman Leo Allen (R-Ill) said he expects to let it stay there.

In the last Congress, a special committee under the leadership of Rep. Gathings (D-Ark) reported that obscene literature on local newsstands represents a danger to juvenile readers, but concluded Congress could not assume the role of censor of the nation's reading.

Fraternity Sounds Warning

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, meanwhile registered with key House members a strongly-worded warning against a possible threat to freedom of the press in such investigations.

V. M. Newton Jr., managing editor of the Tampa Tribune and chairman of the fraternity's committee for Advancement of Freedom of Information, wrote Allen that Sigma Delta Chi did not condone printing of obscene or pornographic matter.

"But at the same time," he said, "Sigma Delta Chi and its members are deeply concerned over the preservation of the freedom of the press wh,ich is the very cornerstone principle of freedom in the U. S. Constitution.

Public, Press Reassured

"Without this freedom, we as citizens could have no other freedom. And certainly we would not want to sacrifice our freedom upon the altar of morality because, without freedom, we could not achieve true morality."

Kearns said he felt the concern voiced by Newton was "premeditated fear," and that he wanted to reassure the public and press that "no motive of censorship exists."

Little Girl And Doll Lost 49 Hours Rescued By 'Copter

MENOMINEE, Mich., May 22 (AP) —Beverly lost her overalls but she still had her doll.

That is a summary of the 49-hour ordeal undergone by 2½-year-old Beverly Kay Bradley from the time she wandered out of a cottage yard Wednesday until she was picked up by a Coast Guard helicopter at 12:15 p.m. today.

The tot was spotted by Comdr. Paul Morasky shortly after he piloted a helicopter from Traverse City to join the search that already had enlisted virtually every available man in Menominee County.

Beverly was lying on an abandoned logging road, tired and dirty and mosquito-bitten, and although she was down to her T-shirt and red underpants she still had the doll she carried when she vanished into the swampy brushland.

Taken into the aircraft, Beverly was flown at once to St. Joseph's Hospital here by Ens. John Olson, who landed in the hospital parking lot. Olson said her eyes were open and she was conscious of people around her but offered no conversation.

Shortly afterward, however, after emergency treatment for exposure, she greeted her divorced parents—Mrs. Ocalla Bradley of Milwaukee and Paul A. Bradley of Greenville, O.—with the statement:

"I wanna get up."

The happy ending to the search came as hopes for the winsome little girl were fading fast under fruitless ground efforts. The Upper Peninsula of Michigan has been swept by rain and thunderstorms since Beverly walked away and more than 300 volunteers, aided by dogs and aircraft, had been unable to pick up any trace of her.

Amateur Artist Misjudged Work

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—Grace Brennan, a Hinsdale, Ill., secretary painted a self portrait and didn't think she did too good a job.

So she used the reverse side of the picture to paint a cat. She liked that painting and entered it in a National Amateur Art Festival Competition here.

Today she has a prize from the festival judges—for the self portrait.

Secrecy Shields U. N. Truce Plans

TOKYO, Saturday, May 23 (AP)—An unusual degree of secrecy shielding work by the Allied high command on a revised Korean truce proposal suggested today that a turning point is approaching.

In preparation for resumption of the truce talks Monday at Panmunjom, Allied officers worked on the one remaining barrier to an armistice—how to dispose of 48,500 Red prisoners who balk at being returned to Communist rule.

Peiping's Red radio, meanwhile, built the barrier higher by painting its own violent version of what lies behind the thinking processes of the reluctant prisoners. Peiping claimed that close examination of sick and wounded Reds already sent home by the Allies made it clear the 48,500 were driven by fear of torture into taking their present stand.

Peiping, as it often does, used Alan Winnington, the Communists' London Daily Worker correspon- in Korea, as its sounding board.

A Winnington dispatch quoted by Peiping, was filled with pictures of screaming men crying out against being beaten and tatooed by Allied captors.

Hopkins, Three Doctors Sued In Woman's Death

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP) — Damage suits totaling $100,000 were filed today against Johns Hopkins University, its hospital and three doctors as the result of the death of a young woman employe who had handled rats used in experiments.

The suits charged that the victim, Miss Winifred Gorman, 27, was not told of the danger of contracting Weil's disease—a type of jaundice—from the rats with which she worked at Phipps Clinic.

Cost Of Living Nearing Record Mark, BLS Says

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Living costs rose slightly between March and April, to approach the record mark, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

The government index advanced only one-tenth of 1 per cent between mid-March and mid-April. But it was up for the second straight month, and brought the index within one-half of 1 per cent of the peak set last November.

Despite the increase, predictions that President Eisenhower's abandoning of wage and price controls several months ago would not materially affect consumer costs still are holding true. The consumer price level has been fluctuating in a narrow range.

Retail food costs, which have been dropping steadily month by month since last August, except for a slight upturn in March, went down again in April, by .2 per cent.

This was more than offset by modest increases in many other consumer costs, including rents and household operation, shoes, medical care, cigarettes, transportation, gasoline, auto repairs, beauty shop services, and recreation.

April clothing prices were a bit lower, as were prices for washing machines and electric refrigerators. Coal and fuel oil averaged .6 per cent lower.

The mid-April index, as announced by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, was 113.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This means that what cost a dollar about five years ago now costs nearly $1.14. The index reached a record 114.3 last November, went down in December, January and February, rose to 113.6 in March and advanced again in April.

Allied Raiders Kill Or Wound 100 Reds

SEOUL, Saturday, May 23 (AP)—Allied troops killed or wounded more than 100 Reds Friday, fighting in rain that drenched the 155-mile front all day and grounded Allied aircraft.

In the early darkness of Friday, an American raiding party went after a Chinese Red company in the Chorwon Valley of Central Korea. While both sides poured in artillery and mortar fire, the raiders killed or wounded 83 Reds during a three-hour action.

Defending South Koreans near Finger Ridge in Western Korea killed 20 Reds of a reinforced platoon which attacked their position.

Brilliant Physicist Convicted Of Perjury

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—William Perl, 34, a brilliant physicist, was convicted on two counts of perjury today for denying three years ago that he knew members of an atom spy ring.

He faces up to 10 years in prison and $4,000 in fines.

No date was set for sentencing.

A jury in Federal Court deliberated nearly six hours in reaching its verdict.

Perl was acquitted on two other counts of the indictment.

He was tried on a charge of lying in 1950 when he denied under oath he knew the condemned atom spy, Julius Rosenberg, and four other persons.

Dulles Doubts Value Of Western Power Talks With Soviet Union

Secretary Points To Red Aggression In Korea, Indochina

NEW DELHI, India, May 22 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today he doubted any good would come of big power talks with Soviet leaders unless the Communist bloc stopped its aggression in Korea and Indochina and agreed on independence for Austria.

His statement, given at a news conference here just before he flew on to Karachi, Pakistan, aroused special interest in the light of the coming Bermuda meeting of President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and whatever premier takes up the reins of France's fallen government.

Soviet Aggression Cited

Churchill has expressed the hope the Big Three talks next month might lead to a broader discussion of East-West tension with Soviet Premier Georgi N. Malenkov.

"I doubt," said Dulles, "that very important results could come out of any high-level conference including the leaders of Soviet Russia so long as the Soviet bloc countries are promoting a war of aggression in Korea, a war of aggression in Indochina — against Laos; so long as in Europe they refuse to restore the independence of Austria and withdraw their occupation troops from that small and inoffensive country."

Talks With Nehru 'Worthwhile'

At the airport, Dulles said he felt his three days of talks with Prime Minister Nehru and other Indian leaders had led to better understanding on both sides.

"We had a very full exchange of views," he said. "It has been a worthwhile visit."

Big Four deputy foreign ministers are scheduled to meet in London May 27 to resume the long deadlocked negotiations on Austria. Korean truce negotiations at Panmunjom are due to start up again Monday after a recess. The Vietminh has pulled its troops out of Laos after overrunning a third of the kingdom without a major battle. But the rebels continue their seven-year war against the French in the neighboring Indochinese state of Viet Nam.

ADA, Scoring Ike, Demands Check On 'McCarthyism'

WASHINGTON, May 22 —(AP)The Americans for Democratic Action, whose leaders in 1948 were clamoring for an Eisenhower presidential nomination, warmed up their annual convention today with an attack on Eisenhower as president.

They scored what they called his "lack of leadership." They demanded that he do something about "McCarthyism." They criticized defense spending cuts and called on the President to halt what they called a trend away from "tested conservation policies" regarding the nation's mineral resources.

"Retaliation" Suggestions

One suggestion made to combat methods employed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) was that the President have "administration senators" counter McCarthy's speeches on the Senate floor and ask the Internal Revenue Bureau to investigate the senator's income tax.

Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., ADA vice chairman and history professor at Harvard University, made that suggestion at a news conference held jointly with Francis Biddle, ADA national chairman and former Democratic attorney general.

Schlesinger said the late Franklin D. Roosevelt employed the counterspeech and tax probe methods in his battles with the late Sen. Huey Long of Louisiana and "thus reduced" Long's strength in Washington.

ADA Strongly Democratic

"If Eisenhower did that," Schlesinger added, "McCarthy would be as isolated and impotent in Washington as Long was."

The ADA was formed six years ago to advance the cause of "progressive" principles of the Roosevelt brand. It still is made up almost entirely of Democrats, but officially asserts its political independence of either party. Biddle says it has about 30,000 dues-paying members.

Hottest Jet Aces Fly Homeward

TOKYO, Saturday, May 23 (AP)—The two hottest U. S. jet aces, who between them shot down 30 MIGs, flew homeward today but only because the Air Force ordered it that way.

Both declared they intended to apply for second missions—and more MIG hunting—in Korea once they get back home rather than face the "perils" of possible desk jobs.

The world's first triple ace, Capt. Joseph McConnell Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif., with 16 MIGs to his credit, left yesterday for the United States with his former teacher, Capt. Manuel J. Fernandez Jr. of Miami, Fla., who downed 14 MIGs.

Both were presented Distinguished Service Crosses and Silver Stars in ceremonies Friday. They are under orders to report to U. S. Air Force headqurters in Washington.

"I guess they wanted to get some of us back alive," said Fernandez as he pondered why he was grounded.

McConnell couldn't see that a "hot pilot" was any more likely to take chances in sky fights than any other flier although conceding "he might take what we call calculated risks."

AFL Urges Planning Ahead For Any Slump

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The AFL Executive Council said today prosperity seems here to stay for a while but recommended that President Eisenhower set up a commission anyway to study steps of combatting any economic recession.

The AFL proposed that a special presidential commission be named to make "a thorough study of the economic outlook" and map plans to "assure continuing economic expansion, financial stability and full employment."

The proposal is similar to one advanced recently by CIO President Walter Reuther to plan ahead for any economic downturn that might develop.

More Tornado Relief

WASHINGTON, May 22 (INS) — President Eisenhower allocated today an additional $115,000 in emergency federal air to tornado-stricken areas of Texas.

Seven Dangerous Convicts Escape

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 22 Seven long-term inmates armed with knives and described as "dangerous," escaped late today from the Michigan State Prison at Marquette.

The prisoners made their break by overpowering a guard and cutting the bars in their cell block with an acetylene torch. All of them had made previous escape attempts.

Warden Emery E. Jacques said the fugitives were "armed with knives but as far as we know they are not carrying guns."

Jacques said the men were working on a plumbing assignment in a cellblock when they overpowered an officer and locked him in the concrete building after threatening him with a knife.

They cut the bars and made their way across the front lawn of the prison to the pump house, then fled into the heavily-wooded area along the Carp River west of the prison.

Taft To Leave Hospital

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Aides said today Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) will be released from Walter Reed Hospital tomorrow after completion of a checkup.

FDR-Truman "Shangri La" To Be "Camp David" To Ike

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — President Eisenhower has given a new name—"Camp David"—to the Maryland mountain retreat known to Presidents Roosevelt and Truman as "Shangri La".

And the President apparently likes the place, because he is going to spend all day tomorrow there working "very quietly" with two aides. It is about 60 miles above Washington, near Thurmont, Md., in the Catoctin Mountains.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced the plans today. He wouldn't say specifically that Eisenhower plans to continue using the camp but he noted that it has been given a new name, which might be taken to indicate Eisenhower doesn't plan to relinquish it.

Hagerty said the name "Camp David" was chosen because the President's grandson, Dwight David Eisenhower II, 5, is usually called David, David was the President's father's name and "he likes the name David."

Eisenhower plans to drive to the camp immediately after breakfasting at 6:15 a.m. EST, in the White House with his principal assistant, Sherman Adams, and his acting special counsel, Bernard Shanley.

They will spend the day doing some office work, Hagerty said. He added in answer to a question that the forthcoming Anglo-French-American meeting in Bermuda will be discussed.

The news secretary said no further details are available on the Bermuda conference. Asked about reports that Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen may be brought back from Moscow for the conference, Hagerty said no list of those to attend has been prepared.

Eisenhower has made one previous visit to the Maryland mountain camp—a recent inspection trip on which it was indicated he would decide whether to keep it for White House use.

Violent Midwest Storms Injure At Least Dozen

(By The Associated Press)

Violent spring storms lashed parts of the Midwest Friday, injuring at least a dozen persons, wrecking buildings and homes and causing damage estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

Floodwaters caused by spring downpours forced hundreds of additional families to flee their homes on the Texas-Louisiana border and sent damage past the two million dollar mark.

Illinois, Indiana and Ohio bore the brunt of the Midwest storms which struck a few hours after tornadoes ripped across the Michigan-Canadian border, killing at least five persons.

Bus Carried 300 Feet

The winds knocked down trees, snapped power and telephone lines and blocked highways with debris.

At Watseka, Ill., about 70 miles south of Chicago, the wind snatched a school bus from the road and dropped it upside down in a field 300 feet away. The driver and single girl passenger were injured seriously.

Three persons were injured near Martinton, in Northeast Illinois, when their home was wrenched from its foundations and dropped on its side.

Hail piled up to a depth of 6 inches near Delphi, Ind., and in the adjoining strip of Illinois.

At least seven persons were injured in the Illinois storm and five in Indiana.

Ohio Communities Hit

Winds caused an estimated $50,000 damage at the small Ohio communities of Greenford and New Albany.

Louisiana troopers increased their patrols after a suggestion by officials in nearby Orange, Tex., that dynamiting U. S. Highway 90 would release dangerous flood waters treatening Orange.

Capt. Jerome Haas of the Louisiana state police said the escaping water of the swollen Calcasieu River could destroy large portions of the highway and that blasting by unskilled workers could be dangerous.

Move To Slash Funds For Air Force Blasted

"Reductions Just Don't Make Sense," Rep. Yorty Declares

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Rep. Yorty (D-Calif) asserted today that Secretary of Defense Wilson should resign "and let somebody get in who understands our defense needs."

It was the latest in a mounting series of blasts directed at Wilson by both Democrats and Republicans who are opposed to Wilson's move to cut five billion dollars from Air Force funds in the fiscal year starting July 1.

"The reductions just don't make sense," Yorty said.

He was following up an Air Force report which said the cut in funds would leave the Air Force well below the "absolute minimum" for national security.

Yorty Requested Report

Yorty read the report into the Congressional Record yesterday. An Air Force spokesman said today it was prepared at Yorty's request in the office of Maj. Gen. Robert E. L. Elton, director of legislative liaison.

Sen Ferguson (R-Mich), whose Senate appropriations subcommittee heard testimony from Wilson on the Air Force cuts earlier this week, said he will demand that those responsible for the report go before his subcommittee. He said the report "disputes the facts as I understand them."

At the heart of the controversy is the question of just what role the Joint Chiefs of Staff played in deciding on the reduction in Air Force funds. President Eisenhower proposed the five billion dollar cut as the biggest reduction in his budget for the next fiscal year.

Senators Quiz Wilson

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) and Sen. Hill (D-Ala) asked Wilson at a committee hearing whether the Joint Chiefs now in office agreed to the Air Force cut. The secretary said Gen. Vandenberg, the Air Force chief, "didn't specifically approve."

Mrs. Smith wanted to know whether Vandenberg was consulted. To that, Wilson replied the matter was discussed with him "to the extent he was available."

Dissatisfied, Mrs. Smith said she still wanted to know what role the Joint Chiefs played in the matter.

Wilson suggested she ask the Joint Chiefs, saying there was "no muzzle on them."

President Signs Tidelands Bill

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower signed the controversial "tidelands" bill into law today, declaring "I will always resist federal encroachment upon rights and affairs of the states."

The legislation asserts the rights of states to all submerged offshore land within their historic boundaries and gives them authority to develop the oil and other mineral riches lying in the underwater territory.

California, Florida, Texas and Louisiana will benefit especially, since oil wells already have been brought in off their coasts.

Generally the historic boundaries extend three miles offshore, but Texas and Florida claim four Spanish leagues—about 10½ miles—into the Gulf of Mexico.

Eisenhower invited 46 members of Congress to the signing ceremony. All of them had helped push the bill through the House and Senate. The Senate fought over the issue for a month before approving it.

Vietminh Bullets Hit French Chief's Plane

HANOI, Indochina, May 22 (AP)—The new French commander in chief in Indochina, Gen. Henri Eugene Navarre, got a hot reception from Vietminh gunners on an observation flight in the Black River salient today.

Anti-aircraft fire of the Communist-led rebels ripped into Navarre's two-engined Dakota transport as it flew low over enemy positions in the region of Nasan, a French garrison town in the mountains 117 miles west of Hanoi. Machine-gun bullets hit the plane repeatedly and Navarre was lucky to escape unharmed.

"The Vietminh inaugurated me this morning," he said after the pilot jockeyed the plane safely back to Hanoi. "They surely fired about 50 tracer bullets and perhaps some shells."

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP) — Damage suits totaling $100,000 were filed today against Johns Hopkins University, its hospital and three doctors as the result of the death of a young woman employe who had handled rats used in experiments.

The suits charged that the victim, Miss Winifred Gorman, 27, was not told of the danger of contracting Weil's disease—a type of jaundice—from the rats with which she worked at Phipps Clinic.

Cost Of Living Nearing Record Mark, BLS Says

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Living costs rose slightly between March and April, to approach the record mark, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

The government index advanced only one-tenth of 1 per cent between mid-March and mid-April. But it was up for the second straight month, and brought the index within one-half of 1 per cent of the peak set last November.

Despite the increase, predictions that President Eisenhower's abandoning of wage and price controls several months ago would not materially affect consumer costs still are holding true. The consumer price level has been fluctuating in a narrow range.

Retail food costs, which have been dropping steadily month by month since last August, except for a slight upturn in March, went down again in April, by .2 per cent.

This was more than offset by modest increases in many other consumer costs, including rents and household operation, shoes, medical care, cigarettes, transportation, gasoline, auto repairs, beauty shop services, and recreation.

April clothing prices were a bit lower, as were prices for washing machines and electric refrigerators. Coal and fuel oil averaged .6 per cent lower.

The mid-April index, as announced by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, was 113.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This means that what cost a dollar about five years ago now costs nearly $1.14. The index reached a record 114.3 last November, went down in December, January and February, rose to 113.6 in March and advanced again in April.

Allied Raiders Kill Or Wound 100 Reds

SEOUL, Saturday, May 23 (AP)— Allied troops killed or wounded more than 100 Reds Friday, fighting in rain that drenched the 155-mile front all day and grounded Allied aircraft.

In the early darkness of Friday, an American raiding party went after a Chinese Red company in the Chorwon Valley of Central Korea. While both sides poured in artillery and mortar fire, the raiders killed or wounded 83 Reds during a three-hour action.

Defending South Koreans near Finger Ridge in Western Korea killed 20 Reds of a reinforced platoon which attacked their position.

Little Girl And Doll Lost 49 Hours Rescued By 'Copter

MENOMINEE, Mich., May 22 (AP) —Beverly lost her overalls but she still had her doll.

That is a summary of the 49-hour ordeal undergone by 2½-year-old Beverly Kay Bradley from the time she wandered out of a cottage yard Wednesday until she was picked up by a Coast Guard helicopter at 12:15 p.m. today.

The tot was spotted by Comdr. Paul Morasky shortly after he piloted a helicopter from Traverse City to join the search that already had enlisted virtually every available man in Menominee County.

Beverly was lying on an abandoned logging road, tired and dirty and mosquito-bitten, and although she was down to her T-shirt and red underpants she still had the doll she carried when she vanished into the swampy brushland.

Taken into the aircraft, Beverly was flown at once to St. Joseph's Hospital here by Ens. John Olson, who landed in the hospital parking lot. Olson said her eyes were open and she was conscious of people around her but offered no conversation.

Shortly afterward, however, after emergency treatment for exposure, she greeted her divorced parents—Mrs. Ocalla Bradley of Milwaukee and Paul A. Bradley of Greenville, O.—with the statement:

"I wanna get up."

The happy ending to the search came as hopes for the winsome little girl were fading fast under fruitless ground efforts. The Upper Peninsula of Michigan has been swept by rain and thunderstorms since Beverly walked away and more than 300 volunteers, aided by dogs and aircraft, had been unable to pick up any trace of her.

Brilliant Physicist Convicted Of Perjury

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—William Perl, 34, a brilliant physicist, was convicted on two counts of perjury today for denying three years ago that he knew members of an atom spy ring.

He faces up to 10 years in prison and $4,000 in fines.

No date was set for sentencing.

A jury in Federal Court deliberated nearly six hours in reaching its verdict.

Perl was acquitted on two other counts of the indictment.

He was tried on a charge of lying in 1950 when he denied under oath he knew the condemned atom spy, Julius Rosenberg, and four other persons.

ADA, Scoring Ike, Demands Check On 'McCarthyism'

WASHINGTON, May 22 —(AP)The Americans for Democratic Action, whose leaders in 1948 were clamoring for an Eisenhower presidential nomination, warmed up their annual convention today with an attack on Eisenhower as president.

They scored what they called his "lack of leadership." They demanded that he do something about "McCarthyism." They criticized defense spending cuts and called on the President to halt what they called a trend away from "tested conservation policies" regarding the nation's mineral resources.

"Retaliation" Suggestions

One suggestion made to combat methods employed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) was that the President have "administration senators" counter McCarthy's speeches on the Senate floor and ask the Internal Revenue Bureau to investigate the senator's income tax.

Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., ADA vice chairman and history professor at Harvard University, made that suggestion at a news conference held jointly with Francis Biddle, ADA national chairman and former Democratic attorney general.

Schlesinger said the late Franklin D. Roosevelt employed the counterspeech and tax probe methods in his battles with the late Sen. Huey Long of Louisiana and "thus reduced" Long's strength in Washington.

ADA Strongly Democratic

"If Eisenhower did that," Schlesinger added, "McCarthy would be as isolated and impotent in Washington as Long was."

The ADA was formed six years ago to advance the cause of "progressive" principles of the Roosevelt brand. It still is made up almost entirely of Democrats, but officially asserts its political independence of either party. Biddle says it has about 30,000 dues-paying members.

Hottest Jet Aces Fly Homeward

TOKYO, Saturday, May 23 (AP)— The two hottest U. S. jet aces, who between them shot down 30 MIGs, flew homeward today but only because the Air Force ordered it that way.

Both declared they intended to apply for second missions—and more MIG hunting—in Korea once they get back home rather than face the "perils" of possible desk jobs.

The world's first triple ace, Capt. Joseph McConnell Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif., with 16 MIGs to his credit, left yesterday for the United States with his former teacher, Capt. Manuel J. Fernandez Jr. of Miami, Fla., who downed 14 MIGs.

Both were presented Distinguished Service Crosses and Silver Stars in ceremonies Friday. They are under orders to report to U. S. Air Force headqurters in Washington.

"I guess they wanted to get some of us back alive," said Fernandez as he pondered why he was grounded.

McConnell couldn't see that a "hot pilot" was any more likely to take chances in sky fights than any other flier although conceding "he might take what we call calculated risks."

AFL Urges Planning Ahead For Any Slump

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The AFL Executive Council said today prosperity seems here to stay for a while but recommended that President Eisenhower set up a commission anyway to study steps of combatting any economic recession.

The AFL proposed that a special presidential commission be named to make "a thorough study of the economic outlook" and map plans to "assure continuing economic expansion, financial stability and full employment."

The proposal is similar to one advanced recently by CIO President Walter Reuther to plan ahead for any economic downturn that might develop.

More Tornado Relief

WASHINGTON, May 22 (INS) — President Eisenhower allocated today an additional $115,000 in emergency federal air to tornado-stricken areas of Texas.

Secretary Points To Red Aggression In Korea, Indochina

NEW DELHI, India, May 22 (AP)— Secretary of State Dulles said today he doubted any good would come of big power talks with Soviet leaders unless the Communist bloc stopped its aggression in Korea and Indochina and agreed on independence for Austria.

His statement, given at a news conference here just before he flew on to Karachi, Pakistan, aroused special interest in the light of the coming Bermuda meeting of President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and whatever premier takes up the reins of France's fallen government.

Soviet Aggression Cited

Churchill has expressed the hope the Big Three talks next month might lead to a broader discussion of East-West tension with Soviet Premier Georgi N. Malenkov.

"I doubt," said Dulles, "that very important results could come out of any high-level conference including the leaders of Soviet Russia so long as the Soviet bloc countries are promoting a war of aggression in Korea, a war of aggression in Indochina — against Laos; so long as in Europe they refuse to restore the independence of Austria and withdraw their occupation troops from that small and inoffensive country."

Talks With Nehru 'Worthwhile'

At the airport, Dulles said he felt his three days of talks with Prime Minister Nehru and other Indian leaders had led to better understanding on both sides.

"We had a very full exchange of views," he said. "It has been a worthwhile visit."

Big Four deputy foreign ministers are scheduled to meet in London May 27 to resume the long deadlocked negotiations on Austria. Korean truce negotiations at Panmunjom are due to start up again Monday after a recess. The Vietminh has pulled its troops out of Laos after overrunning a third of the kingdom without a major battle. But the rebels continue their seven-year war against the French in the neighboring Indochinese state of Viet Nam.

Seven Dangerous Convicts Escape

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 22 Seven long-term inmates armed with knives and described as "dangerous," escaped late today from the Michigan State Prison at Marquette.

The prisoners made their break by overpowering a guard and cutting the bars in their cell block with an acetylene torch. All of them had made previous escape attempts.

Warden Emery E. Jacques said the fugitives were "armed with knives but as far as we know they are not carrying guns."

Jacques said the men were working on a plumbing assignment in a cellblock when they overpowered an officer and locked him in the concrete building after threatening him with a knife.

They cut the bars and made their way across the front lawn of the prison to the pump house, then fled into the heavily-wooded area along the Carp River west of the prison.

Taft To Leave Hospital

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Aides said today Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) will be released from Walter Reed Hospital tomorrow after completion of a checkup.

FDR-Truman "Shangri La" To Be "Camp David" To Ike

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — President Eisenhower has given a new name—"Camp David"—to the Maryland mountain retreat known to Presidents Roosevelt and Truman as "Shangri La".

And the President apparently likes the place, because he is going to spend all day tomorrow there working "very quietly" with two aides. It is about 60 miles above Washington, near Thurmont, Md., in the Catoctin Mountains.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced the plans today. He wouldn't say specifically that Eisenhower plans to continue using the camp but he noted that it has been given a new name, which might be taken to indicate Eisenhower doesn't plan to relinquish it.

Hagerty said the name "Camp David" was chosen because the President's grandson, Dwight David Eisenhower II, 5, is usually called David, David was the President's father's name and "he likes the name David."

Eisenhower plans to drive to the camp immediately after breakfasting at 6:15 a.m. EST, in the White House with his principal assistant, Sherman Adams, and his acting special counsel, Bernard Shanley.

They will spend the day doing some office work, Hagerty said. He added in answer to a question that the forthcoming Anglo-French-American meeting in Bermuda will be discussed.

The news secretary said no further details are available on the Bermuda conference. Asked about reports that Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen may be brought back from Moscow for the conference, Hagerty said no list of those to attend has been prepared.

Eisenhower has made one previous visit to the Maryland mountain camp—a recent inspection trip on which it was indicated he would decide whether to keep it for White House use.

(By The Associated Press)

Violent spring storms lashed parts of the Midwest Friday, injuring at least a dozen persons, wrecking buildings and homes and causing damage estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

Floodwaters caused by spring downpours forced hundreds of additional families to flee their homes on the Texas-Louisiana border and sent damage past the two million dollar mark.

Illinois, Indiana and Ohio bore the brunt of the Midwest storms which struck a few hours after tornadoes ripped across the Michigan-Canadian border, killing at least five persons.

Bus Carried 300 Feet

The winds knocked down trees, snapped power and telephone lines and blocked highways with debris.

At Watseka, Ill., about 70 miles south of Chicago, the wind snatched a school bus from the road and dropped it upside down in a field 300 feet away. The driver and single girl passenger were injured seriously.

Three persons were injured near Martinton, in Northeast Illinois, when their home was wrenched from its foundations and dropped on its side.

Hail piled up to a depth of 6 inches near Delphi, Ind., and in the adjoining strip of Illinois.

At least seven persons were injured in the Illinois storm and five in Indiana.

Ohio Communities Hit

Winds caused an estimated $50,000 damage at the small Ohio communities of Greenford and New Albany.

Louisiana troopers increased their patrols after a suggestion by officials in nearby Orange, Tex., that dynamiting U. S. Highway 90 would release dangerous flood waters treatening Orange.

Capt. Jerome Haas of the Louisiana state police said the escaping water of the swollen Calcasieu River could destroy large portions of the highway and that blasting by unskilled workers could be dangerous.

Move To Slash Funds For Air Force Blasted

"Reductions Just Don't Make Sense," Rep. Yorty Declares

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Rep. Yorty (D-Calif) asserted today that Secretary of Defense Wilson should resign "and let somebody get in who understands our defense needs."

It was the latest in a mounting series of blasts directed at Wilson by both Democrats and Republicans who are opposed to Wilson's move to cut five billion dollars from Air Force funds in the fiscal year starting July 1.

"The reductions just don't make sense," Yorty said.

He was following up an Air Force report which said the cut in funds would leave the Air Force well below the "absolute minimum" for national security.

Yorty Requested Report

Yorty read the report into the Congressional Record yesterday. An Air Force spokesman said today it was prepared at Yorty's request in the office of Maj. Gen. Robert E. L. Elton, director of legislative liaison.

Sen Ferguson (R-Mich), whose Senate appropriations subcommittee heard testimony from Wilson on the Air Force cuts earlier this week, said he will demand that those responsible for the report go before his subcommittee. He said the report "disputes the facts as I understand them."

At the heart of the controversy is the question of just what role the Joint Chiefs of Staff played in deciding on the reduction in Air Force funds. President Eisenhower proposed the five billion dollar cut as the biggest reduction in his budget for the next fiscal year.

Senators Quiz Wilson

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) and Sen. Hill (D-Ala) asked Wilson at a committee hearing whether the Joint Chiefs now in office agreed to the Air Force cut. The secretary said Gen. Vandenberg, the Air Force chief, "didn't specifically approve."

Mrs. Smith wanted to know whether Vandenberg was consulted. To that, Wilson replied the matter was discussed with him "to the extent he was available."

Dissatisfied, Mrs. Smith said she still wanted to know what role the Joint Chiefs played in the matter.

Wilson suggested she ask the Joint Chiefs, saying there was "no muzzle on them."

President Signs Tidelands Bill

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower signed the controversial "tidelands" bill into law today, declaring "I will always resist federal encroachment upon rights and affairs of the states."

The legislation asserts the rights of states to all submerged offshore land within their historic boundaries and gives them authority to develop the oil and other mineral riches lying in the underwater territory.

California, Florida, Texas and Louisiana will benefit especially, since oil wells already have been brought in off their coasts.

Generally the historic boundaries extend three miles offshore, but Texas and Florida claim four Spanish leagues—about 10½ miles —into the Gulf of Mexico.

Eisenhower invited 46 members of Congress to the signing ceremony. All of them had helped push the bill through the House and Senate. The Senate fought over the issue for a month before approving it.

Vietminh Bullets Hit French Chief's Plane

HANOI, Indochina, May 22 (AP)— The new French commander in chief in Indochina, Gen. Henri Eugene Navarre, got a hot reception from Vietminh gunners on an observation flight in the Black River salient today.

Anti-aircraft fire of the Communist-led rebels ripped into Navarre's two-engined Dakota transport as it flew low over enemy positions in the region of Nasan, a French garrison town in the mountains 117 miles west of Hanoi. Machine-gun bullets hit the plane repeatedly and Navarre was lucky to escape unharmed.

"The Vietminh inaugurated me this morning," he said after the pilot jockeyed the plane safely back to Hanoi. "They surely fired about 50 tracer bullets and perhaps some shells."

AFL Charges Service Bands Keep Union Men From Jobs

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The AFL Executive Council complained today that Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine bands are playing too much free music and depriving civilian horn tooters and fiddlers of pay.

The 13-man council backed up protests voiced by James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL's American Federation of Musicians. Petrillo, an AFL Council member, told newsmen:

"These service bands are knocking my members out of work and pay. The laws and regulations are being violated every week, every month, all over the country. It's got to stop."

He said about half the union's 240,000 members lack full-time jobs.

The council's statement said there are four separate Federal laws, plus Army regulations clearly spelling out the kind of occasions on which service bands may play.

But the rules are being broken, the statement said, to use military bands "at premiers of movies entirely commercial in character, and at banquets of . . . purely private organizations."

Negro Is Found Guilty In Boy's Poison Death

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—A 48-year-old Negro glass plant worker was convicted today of first degree murder in the arsenic-poisoning death of a 14-year-old boy.

Judge James K. Cullen said the circumstantial evidence was sufficient to convict Earl Henson, but he asked that the case be ruled on by the Supreme Bench. He directed the defense to file for a new trial and said the costs would be borne by the state if Henson couldn't pay.

The state contended yesterday that Henson put arsenic in some flour and pancake mix intended for Mrs. Lucille Alexander, who allegedly jilting him. Her son died after eating some pancakes.

Three State Hospital Escapees Still Sought

ANNAPOLIS, May 22 (AP)—Three Negro youths who escaped yesterday from Crownsville State Hospital were still at large today, hospital officials said.

The three, none of them listed as dangerous, were missed yesterday at the 9 p.m. check. Officials said they possibly could have escaped while playing ball outside during the afternoon.

Many Unaware Of Md. Medical Care Eligibility

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—Thousands of Marylanders in the counties probably are eligible for the benefits of the state medical care program without being aware of it county health officers and allied nursing groups were told today.

Dr. Herbert Notkin, assistant chief of the Bureau of Medical Services and Hospitals, told the 33rd annual conference of the State Health Department that "roughly speaking, there may be 4 or 5 times as many persons eligible for the service as now make use of it."

Dr. Notkin, speaking generally on public education about the program, said the Health Department, faced with budgetary cuts, already has serious problems in meeting the needs of the medically indigent who do know about and use the service.

Because of the financial pinch, Dr. Notkin said, some county health officers prefer to follow the technique of educating groups of influential and tax-conscious persons about the benefits of the program, rather than devoting themselves to wide, general publicity, which might bring in more clients than could be served.

Dr. Notkin said he believes public misunderstanding about the program is linked closely with recent "serious" budget cuts.

The plan in the counties is based on family income, with fixed fees allowed doctors, dentists and supplies of drugs. It can be used by both the indigent and by persons designated as medically indigent.

Seventy per cent of the physicians, 60 per cent of dentists and 90 per cent of pharmacists in the counties participate in the program, Dr. Notkin said.

Dr. Notkin spoke at the final session of the two-day conference.

Caterpillar Plague Poses Questions

TELSCOMBE, Eng., May 22 (AP)—Does a caterpillar have legs? Is it a pest?

Residents of this village want the answers to those questions because they are caught up in a tangle of bureaucracy and a plague of caterpillars. For two weeks caterpillars have been swarming over houses, dropping down chimneys, climbing through windows, even crawling over sleeping babies.

The pest officer—he kills the village's rats and mice—says he's out of the picture—deals only with pests having legs. The health authorities say they can't help because caterpillars aren't listed on any proper government pest list.

Telscombe villagers rather testily note that naturalists say a caterpillar does have legs—16 of them—and they are ready to testify themselves that caterpillars are a pest—government list or no.

The sole remedy thus far is the broom of the housewife.

Medical, Chirurgical Faculty OK'd Pearre

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—The director of the State Department of Health said today Gov. McKeldin's appointment of Dr. A. Austin Pearre to the State Board of Health was in compliance with a request from the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty.

Dr. Robert H. Riley, presiding at the 33rd annual conference of the department, called Pearre a county man "of the highest standing." A general practioneer from Frederick, Pearre was named to succeed the late Dr. Thomas N. Cullen of Baltimore.

At its annual meeting last April, the Medical and Chirurgical Faclty passed a resolution requesting the governor to appoint a county man. Only two others on the eight-man board are from the counties.

McKeldin told the health officers they are indispensable to the state's battle against the encroachment of chronic diseases.

He said for more than two years communities in Maryland have been free of serious epidemics.

State's Women Voters Oppose Import Curbs

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—The League of Women Voters of Maryland today placed its support firmly behind a full appropriation for the United Nations and all of its agencies and opposed restrictive import measures under the Simpson bill.

The 32nd annual convention of the League agreed to notify Maryland's Republican senators of its action.

One resolution calls for renewal of the Trade Agreements Act for one year in addition to opposition to the Simpson bill which would place import quotas on oil, lead and zinc.

The measure would also increase tariff commission membership from six to seven, eliminating the present bi-partisan flavor.

Listed as subjects for study in the next two years were problems of public welfare, safeguarding of constitutional liberties and corrupt practices.

Mrs. Philip Woods of Montgomery County was elected president for the coming year. Others elected were Mrs. John Scharf, Montgomery, first vice president; Mrs. Lawrence Hess, Baltimore, second vice president; Mrs. William Wood, Prince George's, secretary, and Mrs. Dwight Partello, Prince Georges, treasurer.

Appeals Court Says FPC Should Regulate Rates For Interstate Sale Of Natural Gas

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—By a 2-1 decision, the U. S. Court of Appeals ruled today that the Federal Power Commission should regulate the rates for interstate sale of natural gas by a company that produces and gathers it.

The ruling directly affects only one big producing company, but it has a potential effect on the gas bills of housewives and industrial users over much of the country.

The Supreme Court is expected to be asked for a final determination of the issue. A spokesman for the power commission said last December, the decision likely would be appealed no matter which way it went.

Judge Henry W. Edgerton, who wrote the main opinion for the Court of Appeals, said the power commission "applied in erroneous rule of law" when it decided in 1951 that it had no jurisdiction over rates charged by the Phillips Petroleum Co.

The commission based its decision on the premise that the Phillips company was not a "natural gas company" within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act. The commission held that Phillips' interstate sales fell within a provision exempting "production and gathering" of natural gas from federal regulation.

The power commission has estimated that more than 2,000 companies may be affected by the ultimate outcome of the Phillips case.

The issue was battled through Congress when Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) won passage of a bill which would have specifically exempted companies like Phillips from FCP regulation.

Former President Truman vetoed the bill in 1951, but the commission itself brought about Kerr's objective by deciding it did not have authority over Phillips' rates.

AFL Charges Service Bands Keep Union Men From Jobs

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The AFL Executive Council complained today that Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine bands are playing too much free music and depriving civilian horn tooters and fiddlers of pay.

The 13-man council backed up protests voiced by James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL's American Federation of Musicians. Petrillo, an AFL Council member, told newsmen:

"These service bands are knocking my members out of work and pay. The laws and regulations are being violated every week, every month, all over the country. It's got to stop."

He said about half the union's 240,000 members lack full-time jobs.

The council's statement said there are four separate Federal laws, plus Army regulations clearly spelling out the kind of occasions on which service bands may play.

But the rules are being broken, the statement said, to use military bands "at premiers of movies entirely commercial in character, and at banquets of . . . purely private organizations."

Negro Is Found Guilty In Boy's Poison Death

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—A 48-year-old Negro glass plant worker was convicted today of first degree murder in the arsenic-poisoning death of a 14-year-old boy.

Judge James K. Cullen said the circumstantial evidence was sufficient to convict Earl Henson, but he asked that the case be ruled on by the Supreme Bench. He directed the defense to file for a new trial and said the costs would be borne by the state if Henson couldn't pay.

The state contended yesterday that Henson put arsenic in some flour and pancake mix intended for Mrs. Lucille Alexander, who allegedly jilting him. Her son died after eating some pancakes.

Three State Hospital Escapees Still Sought

ANNAPOLIS, May 22 (AP)—Three Negro youths who escaped yesterday from Crownsville State Hospital were still at large today, hospital officials said.

The three, none of them listed as dangerous, were missed yesterday at the 9 p.m. check. Officials said they possibly could have escaped while playing ball outside during the afternoon.

Many Unaware Of Md. Medical Care Eligibility

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—Thousands of Marylanders in the counties probably are eligible for the benefits of the state medical care program without being aware of it county health officers and allied nursing groups were told today.

Dr. Herbert Notkin, assistant chief of the Bureau of Medical Services and Hospitals, told the 33rd annual conference of the State Health Department that "roughly speaking, there may be 4 or 5 times as many persons eligible for the service as now make use of it."

Dr. Notkin, speaking generally on public education about the program, said the Health Department, faced with budgetary cuts, already has serious problems in meeting the needs of the medically indigent who do know about and use the service.

Because of the financial pinch, Dr. Notkin said, some county health officers prefer to follow the technique of educating groups of influential and tax-conscious persons about the benefits of the program, rather than devoting themselves to wide, general publicity, which might bring in more clients than could be served.

Dr. Notkin said he believes public misunderstanding about the program is linked closely with recent "serious" budget cuts.

The plan in the counties is based on family income, with fixed fees allowed doctors, dentists and supplies of drugs. It can be used by both the indigent and by persons designated as medically indigent.

Seventy per cent of the physicians, 60 per cent of dentists and 90 per cent of pharmacists in the counties participate in the program, Dr. Notkin said.

Dr. Notkin spoke at the final session of the two-day conference.

U. S. To Train Ethiopians

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — United States agreed today to provide military equipment and training aid to Ethiopia's armed forces.

Caterpillar Plague Poses Questions

TELSCOMBE, Eng., May 22 (AP)—Does a caterpillar have legs? Is it a pest?

Residents of this village want the answers to those questions because they are caught up in a tangle of bureaucracy and a plague of caterpillars. For two weeks caterpillars have been swarming over houses, dropping down chimneys, climbing through windows, even crawling over sleeping babies.

The pest officer—he kills the village's rats and mice—says he's out of the picture—deals only with pests having legs. The health authorities say they can't help because caterpillars aren't listed on any proper government pest list.

Telscombe villagers rather testily note that naturalists say a caterpillar does have legs—16 of them—and they are ready to testify themselves that caterpillars are a pest—government list or no.

The sole remedy thus far is the broom of the housewife.

Medical, Chirurgical Faculty OK'd Pearre

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—The director of the State Department of Health said today Gov. McKeldin's appointment of Dr. A. Austin Pearre to the State Board of Health was in compliance with a request from the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty.

Dr. Robert H. Riley, presiding at the 33rd annual conference of the department, called Pearre a county man "of the highest standing." A general practioneer from Frederick, Pearre was named to succeed the late Dr. Thomas N. Cullen of Baltimore.

At its annual meeting last April, the Medical and Chirurgical Faclty passed a resolution requesting the governor to appoint a county man. Only two others on the eight-man board are from the counties.

McKeldin told the health officers they are indispensable to the state's battle against the encroachment of chronic diseases.

He said for more than two years communities in Maryland have been free of serious epidemics.

State's Women Voters Oppose Import Curbs

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—The League of Women Voters of Maryland today placed its support firmly behind a full appropriation for the United Nations and all of its agencies and opposed restrictive import measures under the Simpson bill.

The 32nd annual convention of the League agreed to notify Maryland's Republican senators of its action.

One resolution calls for renewal of the Trade Agreements Act for one year in addition to opposition to the Simpson bill which would place import quotas on oil, lead and zinc.

The measure would also increase tariff commission membership from six to seven, eliminating the present bi-partisan flavor.

Listed as subjects for study in the next two years were problems of public welfare, safeguarding of constitutional liberties and corrupt practices.

Mrs. Philip Woods of Montgomery County was elected president for the coming year. Others elected were Mrs. John Scharf, Montgomery, first vice president; Mrs. Lawrence Hess, Baltimore, second vice president; Mrs. William Wood, Prince George's, secretary, and Mrs. Dwight Partello, Prince Georges, treasurer.

Appeals Court Says FPC Should Regulate Rates For Interstate Sale Of Natural Gas

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—By a 2-1 decision, the U. S. Court of Appeals ruled today that the Federal Power Commission should regulate the rates for interstate sale of natural gas by a company that produces and gathers it.

The ruling directly affects only one big producing company, but it has a potential effect on the gas bills of housewives and industrial users over much of the country.

The Supreme Court is expected to be asked for a final determination of the issue. A spokesman for the power commission said last December, the decision likely would be appealed no matter which way it went.

Judge Henry W. Edgerton, who wrote the main opinion for the Court of Appeals, said the power commission "applied in erroneous rule of law" when it decided in 1951 that it had no jurisdiction over rates charged by the Phillips Petroleum Co.

The commission based its decision on the premise that the Phillips company was not a "natural gas company" within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act. The commission held that Phillips' interstate sales fell within a provision exempting "production and gathering" of natural gas from federal regulation.

The power commission has estimated that more than 2,000 companies may be affected by the ultimate outcome of the Phillips case.

The issue was battled through Congress when Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) won passage of a bill which would have specifically exempted companies like Phillips from FCP regulation.

Former President Truman vetoed the bill in 1951, but the commission itself brought about Kerr's objective by deciding it did not have authority over Phillips' rates.

"On The Line" Wins Award For Considine

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 22 (INS)—Bob Considine of International News Service tonight was named winner of a 1952 Headliner achievement award for his "consistently outstanding feature column."

Considine, whose daily "On The Line" column appears in hundreds of newspapers (including the Cumberland News), was one of 21 winners of the 19th annual awards of the National Headliners Club. The Press Club of Atlantic City will play host to the Headliners June 12-13 and silver medallions will be presented to the winners at a luncheon on the 13th.

Safer Flying

Transportation by air is safer today than at any time in the past, but a new series of air diasters in mid-May reminded the air traveler that there still is danger in flying. The worst accident to a scheduled domestic airliner was the crash in a Texas thunderstorm, May 17, of a Delta DC-3. All except one of the 20 persons aboard lost their lives.

Two days earlier an Air Force F-84 Thunderjet tore into a formation of C-119 Flying Boxcars over Germany. Two of the giant transports went down in flames. At home, on May 14, a B-29 plowed into the ground in Nebraska and burned. Sixteen men were killed in these Air Force accidents.

Certain non-combat flights by military planes are necessarily hazardous, because intended to train pilots in flying under extraordinary conditions, but Air Force transport operations are generally similar to those of domestic airlines. Indeed, a large proportion of today's airline pilots are graduates of the military transport services. Air Force Chief of Staff Vandenberg told a House investigating committee in January that, in proportion to miles flown, his service had the lowest fatality rate in its history in 1952, yet 1,214 lives were lost in non-combat flights.

American scheduled airlines boasted, February 12, 1952, they had on that day completed their first 12-month period without a single passenger fatality. But within 48 hours, a National Airlines DC-6 plunged into the Gulf of Mexico with a loss of 46 lives. Also the fatality-free period had been immediately preceded by a series of three crashes at Elizabeth, N. J., which caused the death of 114 persons, including 11 whose homes were struck by falling planes.

The safety record of scheduled American airlines is good, in proportion to miles flown and passengers carried, despite the disasters with which they are plagued from time to time. In domestic service, they had only five fatal accidents in 1952, compared with ten the year before. The passenger fatality rate per 100 million passenger miles flown was only 0.38, as against 1.1 in 1951—a reduction of almost two-thirds. In international operations, on the other hand, the rate was 3.1 — the highest since 1946 when it stood at 3.5.

Non-scheduled domestic operations had only one fatal accident last year; their fatality rate was 2.0 per 100 million passenger miles—the lowest yet, and a steep reduction from the 7.2 rate of 1951. The fatality rate for travel by private automobile in 1951 (latest year available) was 2.4 per 100 million passenger miles. In 1952, the loss of life in automobile accidents was more than 38,000; in all forms of civilian aviation, 937 persons lost their lives.

A vast amount of research and experiment to promote air safety is carried on by government agencies, the airlines, and plane manufacturers. The notable reduction in air fatality rates is evidence that it has been paying off. Advances have been particularly notable in saving lives in the so-called survivable accidents in which planes are forced to land in water or there is danger of fire when a plane cracks up on land.

Perhaps the greatest advance of recent years is the reversible propeller which gives the pilot better control in landing. It is credited with saving many lives. The new jet transports soon to come off production lines are sturdier craft, with greatly simplified controls, and in general are safer than today's piston-engine driven airliners. The absence of propellers deprives them of one great safety advantage, but this handicap may ultimately be overcome by development of a means to reverse the thrust of the jet engine.

Stalemate In Korea

It is obvious to everyone that the United States truce team in Korea, headed by General Harrison, has made extraordinary efforts to seek a basis of agreement. The original Communist proposals would have left up in the air the fate of prisoners refusing repatriation, keeping them in custody indefinitey while their fate was debated by a political conference to be convened later.

In addition, the Communists rejected U. S. acceptance of Pakistan to supervise the prisoner arrangements, though they had nominated Pakistan themselves. Instead, they cynically proposed giving the assignment to a five-nation commission to include such "neutrals" as Poland and Czechoslovakia.

General Harrison's counter-proposal actually accepted this "neutral" custodial commission, merely making the condition that India should be its chairman and that India alone should provide the necessary custodial troops. This was a big concession, and perhaps unwise. In exchange, General Harrison asked certain concessions the Reds insolently rejected.

Prisoners who refuse repatriation would, under the proposed U. S. plan, be kept in custody another two months (making four in all after the armistice). During that period representatives of their side would have access to them to persuade them to change their minds. Those who changed their minds would be repatriated at once. The others would be set free at the end of four months.

The proposal included a number of provisions to avoid boobytraps. A commission representative would be present at all interviews. No force or indignities could be used on the prisoners to make them change their minds. But the Reds, who have predicted that under their plan all Communist prisoners would be persuaded to return home, rejected this one.

General Harrison—acting under orders, of course—has shown willingness to meet the Reds more than half way by accepting two Red satellites on the custodial commission. No comparable concession has been made by the Reds.

No Special Day Needed

Golf is an ancient and honorable sport whose popularity has long been established. Fact that President Eisenhower is one of its enthusiastic devotees may have enhanced its prestige with those who like to be seen doing the things that are done by people in high places.

But it certainly did not need the boost which one of its best known exponents has sought to give it through congressional action. Jack Westland, who last September won the national amateur golf championship, is a member of Congress from the state of Washington. As such, he recently introduced a bill that would have designated May 28 as "national golf day."

The House Judiciary Committee has killed the proposal on the ground that it would have set a precedent for a host of other special days to satisfy devotees of baseball, football and other popular sports.

It would have been a work of supererogation. Why May 28? Every golfer knows that every day when the weather is right is national golf day.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

The Disciplined Life

Most of us think of discipline as punishment but in its broader meaning the word refers to a process of training and learning. Obviously, there is more to discipline than spanking, denying the child, or telling him not to do this and that. It is a form of guidance and education.

Youngsters must be taught to adhere to the rules of life. They must be shown that living and competing with others is something to be enjoyed rather than endured. The results are a disciplined or orderly mind which has so many advantages that parents cannot afford to neglect this aspect of training. Part of the system is teaching good work habits which come in handy regardless of the avocation the individual selects. These habits are acquired early in life, from example and instruction. Discipline accompanies each task that is performed whether the age is 2, 10, or 20 years. Many of the courses taught in school may have no practical value in the future but a certain amount of discipline is required to master them. Students who learn the technique are setting a pattern by which they can meet related problems in the future. In this respect, discipline teaches persistence and cooperation and encourages eagerness to learn honesty and courage.

If the child is to acquire an orderly mind he must be trained to deal with emotional drives. This is important because in maturity most of us are able to satisfy our instinctive drives without overstepping the normal code of conduct. Unless control is achieved the person never grows up emotionally and is plagued with remorse or frustration when he is unable to live as he should with his fellow men. Such reactions are basic causes of neuroses. The criminal goes further in his misconduct and instead of being rebuked by his conscience is forced to contend with courts of law, which serve a related purpose.

A disciplined mind also helps judgment and everyday thinking. The mind is not cluttered with unwholesome thoughts that center on instinctive drives. Instead, intelligence is freed for use in those situations that call for conscious thought. This attitude encourages the individual to believe in himself and to feel secure in the self-respect that follows clear thinking. Such usefulness brings great satisfaction to life. Happiness and emotional maturity are the rewards of a well disciplined man and woman. This need offers a challenge to parents who must give constant attention to children to make them self-sufficient and well rounded rather than egocentric, defiant, and boastful, which are signs of insecurity. A well balanced personality results when thinking and acting are in harmony with conscience and society. These children know what love is and have the ability to love others.

IRRITABLE HEART

L. W. writes: Is it necessary to give up smoking in palpitation of the heart?

REPLY

Yes, if tobacco is responsible for the symptom. Other causes of palpitation are described in our leaflet on heart symptoms, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WANTS TO PRACTICE

F. J. writes: I have a good lead on how to kill the germs that cause cancer. How do I go about getting a license to practice?

REPLY

Because there are no more diploma mills, you must graduate from a recognized medical school, obtain an internship, and pass your state board medical examinations.

V. C. writes: How long does it take for all symptoms of virus pneumonia to disappear?

REPLY

Usually 10 days, but some cases require up to six months.

A THREE-WAY ATTACK

Mrs. Y. writes: My brother has been in the hospital with Reiter's syndrome for about six weeks. Can he expect to be cured?

REPLY

In this disorder, three parts of the body are affected simultaneously: the eyes, the bladder, and the joints. To my knowledge there is no sure-fire remedy although cortisone is reported to be of value. The disease usually disappears spontaneously, but there is a tendency toward recurrence before final cure takes place.

WEEKEND CURE

S. D. writes: Will penicillin taken for pneumonia on Saturday cure the disease over the weekend?

REPLY

Not quite. Penicillin may knock out the causative organisms within two or three days, but Mother Nature still requires as much time as she always did in healing infected lung tissue.

SMART CHILD

Mrs. T. writes: My 12-year-old son is mentally advanced but he always selects as playmates children who are inferior to him. Does this indicate that he has a psychological disturbance?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Airline Lobbyist Blocks Passenger-Fare Probe; Ike's Brother Fights Cuts For Land-Grant Colleges; Shoddy Soviet Goods Rile Captive Czechs.

WASHINGTON—One of the most amazing feats of lobbying in Washington took place a few days ago when a fast-talking airline lobbyist got the Civil Aeronautics Board to reverse itself and abandon an investigation into passenger fares.

This is the fourth time in the CAB's history that it has started to probe passenger rates, but, each time, the big airlines have managed to block the investigation before anything happened. Yet the CAB is required by law to regulate airline fares and protect the public from overcharging.

The latest investigation was launched last year to decide the following questions: (1) should the airlines be permitted to charge fares based on capital investment rather than actual operating costs; (2) was the dollar-per-ticket increase fair to passengers taking short flights; and (3) should the airlines set aside profits in good years to offset losses in bad years, rather than depend on the government to bail them out?

The airlines put up such resistance to the investigation, however, that the CAB agreed to reconsider it last month on the grounds that a new Republican member had been appointed. The vote was taken behind closed doors on April 10. However, the new appointee, Harman Denny, voted with Commissioners Josh Lee and Joe Adams to continue the probe. As usual, Commissioners Oswald Ryan and Chan Gurney voted with the airlines.

Then the Air Transport Association's persuasive lobbyists, Stuart Tipton, got busy. He called on the new commissioner and turned on the charm. By April 27, the impressed Denny switched his vote, again behind closed doors. The formal notice that the investigation was off wasn't announced until May 14.

Denny admitted to this column that it was Tipton who had changed his mind.

"I have great admiration for Tipton's judgment," Denny declared.

He argued that the CAB could achieve the same results at less cost through a study rather than an investigation. He admitted, however, that the staff could not cross-examine the airline representatives and could not recommend any action in a routine study.

It would appear that the CAB is more interested in protecting the airlines than the public.

NOTE—The big airlines receive 90 per cent of their income from passenger service. Yet passenger rates still have never been investigated.

Economy Ax Threatens

The President's brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, was able to save land-grant colleges from the chopping block inside the Budget Bureau, but couldn't stay the economy ax wielded by House Appropriations Chairman John Taber.

Since 1935, the federal government has been chipping in to aid the nation's land-grant colleges. Under the Truman budget, next year's handout was supposed to be $2,501,500, but President Eisenhower's budgeteers automatically slashed this in half, to $1,250,750.

However, they failed to reckon with the new head of the American Association of Land-Grant Colleges, who turned out to be none other than President Eisenhower's brother, Milton. Once this information got around, Budget Boss Joe Dodge hastily revised the land-grant budget back up to $2,501,500, and forwarded a private letter to the House Appropriations Committee, pleading for a restoration of the funds he, himself, had carelessly hacked in half.

The congressmen, however, were more impressed with his original arguments, and not only slashed the land-grant budget in two, but cut it out altogether.

NOTE—Only hope for the land-grant colleges now is for the Senate to restore the cut.

CIO-AFL Merger?

Most people know the CIO Auto Workers' boss, Walter Reuther, whose name has been in the headlines, but not as many have heard of the AFL Auto Workers' boss, Lester Washburn. However, he may be the labor statesman who will bring the CIO and the AFL together.

CIO leaders are worried that Washburn's union may raid the Ford auto plants and take them away from Reuther's union. However, the two unions are investigating the possibility of signing a no-raiding agreement, which would be the first step toward a CIO-AFL merger.

The man who may swing this deal is the fighting, imaginative, 47-year-old Washburn, who has worked his way up in the labor movement since its rough-and-tumble days. His mounting stature is due not only to his successful labor record, but also to his increasing activity in the broad field of human welfare.

Czechs Complain

Joe E. Lewis, the noted cabaret comedian, might well revive his old theme song ("Sam, You Made the Pants Too Long") and pipe it over the Voice of America, judging by recent events in Czechoslovakia.

It seems the captive Czechs are finally getting fed up with inferior goods manufactured by their sovietized industries and have been complaining so vigorously that even the Communist press has been forced to admit the shortcomings of production.

The daily Pravda recently dealt with the Bratislava clothing industry, critically reporting that trousers and coat sleeves in men's suits are uneven and jackets frequently are stained.

Pravda also quoted a letter from an intrepid Czech reader complaining about the inferior quality of ladders that break when you step on them, chairs that collapse when you sit on them, and closet doors that don't open, or fall out, when you touch them.

Here And Now

Love Is Livable

The Reverend Dr. Thirdly preached a sermon entitled "A Brief for Religion" which he put in a word — Love. He began by comparing the Christian graces with flowers, some thriving in the sunshine, others in the shade; some requiring moisture, others little; some growing in high altitudes, others in low.

For example, courage might be symbolized by the geranium, that does well in the sun but not so well in the shade; modesty and humility might be compared to the lily of the valley that hides itself under green fronds and must be hunted to be found.

Worship might be compared to the morning-glory that begins the day with an offertory of beautiful colors in full diapason, and toward evening folds its hands and with bowed head and closed eyes, softly sings:

> Now the day is over,
> Night is drawing nigh,
> Shadows of the evening
> Steal across the sky.
> Jesus, give the weary
> Calm and sweet repose;
> With Thy tenderest blessing
> May our eyelids close.

When the service was over the people came forward to shake hands and thank the preacher for his wonderful sermon. One woman especially was fulsome in her compliments, saying, "I never before knew what was the matter with my geraniums."

Of course the good woman missed the point, for the preacher was only leading up to say that Christianity is a plant indigenous to all soils, climates, altitudes, longitudes and latitudes, and among all peoples, from Pike's Peak to Cumberland Gap; from the Icelanders in the Arctic to the fuzzy-wuzzies in the South seas; and it has been known to flower in the Catacombs of Rome and in Caesar's palace; in Newgate prison and in Bedford gaol, and everywhere in haunts of wretchedness and need.

Such sweeping claims are considered merely rhetorical by the man from Missouri who has observed that the last rose of summer is never so beautiful as it is pictured in the spring seed catalogs, and his attitude is "You've got to show me."

As Christians, we accept the challenge to demonstrate a brand of religion that will work in all places and under all circumstances — in the family where husband and wife, sons and daughters, in-laws and servants get along beautifully together; in shop and store and factory where good will and fair play obtain; in communities where there are no spite fences but all dwellers are good neighbors.

And when we travel, our manners among foreigners should be such as to disprove the allegation that Americans are hooligans and dollar chasers, and not the decent God-fearing people we really are—at least in spots!

Mark Twain said he had read of a choir somewhere that did not whisper during prayer. He thought it was in some foreign country.

Congregations divided over the selections of a preacher, or whether the carpet for the sanctuary should be green or red, have a golden opportunity to show "how good and pleasant a thing it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

The Rev. Dr. John McDowell, when moderator of the Presbyterian U. S. A. General Assembly, was in Chicago on official business, and one day was invited by a group of shoe manufacturers then in session to come down to their banquet and address them on "Christian Relations in Industry."

The address was informal and open for discussion. A dour Scotsman asked: "Is there anywhere in the Bible where we are told how to run a shoe factory?" The speaker was stumped for a moment, and then his ready wit came to the rescue. Recalling a verse from Romans that is said to have a Scottish flavor, namely, "Hold fast to what is good," he turned to the eighth chapter of the book and read from the 28th verse, and then ad libbed:

"We know God works for good in families where there is no wrangling, but love prevails. God works for good in the schoolroom and on the playground where teachers and pupils love one another. Love works in neighborhoods where there is no tale-bearing. Love works in governments, national and city, where politicians work co-operatively and in mutual respect.

The canny Scot replied: "I think you have something to hold on to. Anyhow I'm going back to St. Louis and try it out in my shoe factory."

These Days

Boy Meets Girl

A reader telephoned to me to suggest that I do a column on the subject of a rich girl, Sara Delano Roosevelt, descendant of Franklin D. Roosevelt, becoming engaged to a poor boy, Anthony di Bonaventura the son of a barber. He said that I have been serious too long. Yet, what can be more serious or important than love and marriage, than the young in spring finding a new world?

Which of these two is rich or poor, I do not know, because money is never the criterion with youth. Maybe they are both rich in the contentments that come to them from their common bond of great music. Perhaps the young man is rich in the sense of strength and in the stability that comes from an early struggle for the sun against what some mistakenly call poverty. Perhaps the young lady has been enriched by an experience with a broken home and with a kindly step-father who adopted her.

What can know about such things that are deep in the memories of children and growing young people?

When I was very young, women reporters, professionally known as sob sisters, were sent on such stories. They would interview an immigrant mother who spoke not a word of English and who either beamed with joy or wept out of the anguish of losing a child to some alien and frightening environment. And maybe a small boy, like myself, would step out of the crowd of neighbors to interpret as best one could the story of struggle and high hopes.

There are hundreds such marriages among us in this country, because social barriers are disappearing, particularly in our colleges. Students of sociology cannot be too impressed by the term, "good families," and students of biology know that it is the genes and the chromosomes, and not the blood, that count in inherited qualities.

So they go along loving each other as the opportunities offer, because money does not count, anyhow. Four deaths, and a great estate is wiped out by taxes. It is not impossible to conceive of a Vanderbilt barber, just as old man di Bonaventura is a barber. And what is wrong with being a barber? Somebody tried to give him a pedigree as coming down from the Romans, which is undoubtedly correct, as it is with many Italians. Maybe, I am a descendant of King David. Who knows? I recall that my grandfather thought that he descended from Aaron, the brother of Moses, but he had no documents to prove it. Let us not go too far in genealogy, lest we discover that a man's a man no matter who his ancestor was a thousand years ago.

One of the celebrated marriages of my childhood was that of Rose Pastor to James G. Phelps-Stokes. Rose Pastor had started in a cigar factory and then wrote a column in a Yiddish newspaper, entitled "Among Ourselves, Girls," in which she gave advice freely, which is a journalistic habit. She particularly advised against intermarriage.

Along came Phelps-Stokes of Yale, rich, handsome, tall, to our very comfortable slums to be a settlement worker. He met Rose and married her and they moved down to the East Side of New York and became part of us. Phelps-Stokes entered politics and ran on William Randolph Hearst's ticket for the Independence League. Hearst was robbed by Tammany Hall and I, as a child, watched the destruction of the ballot boxes. It was one of my earliest lessons in practical politics.

Years later, Rose Pastor Stokes became one of the first American Communsists and they were divorced. But it was a beautiful and exciting romance while it lasted.

A greater fuss used to be made over such adventures in romance 50 years ago than today, because the rich seemed to be richer and the poor seemed to be poorer. But we have been leveled to an economic common denominator and society in this country is no longer an aristocracy either of birth or money.

Cupid is a democrat and given free rein denies the differences that humans regard as so important. He shoots his arrow into two young people and they respond as did Adam and Eve or Romeo and Juliet or Pelleas and Melisande and the less anybody does about it, the greater are the chances for happiness.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower achieved a master stroke by inviting the heads of the governments of Great Britain and France to meet with him in a few weeks to discuss problems of world peace. Their acceptance was immediate.

It was essential, indeed imperative, that something dramatic be done to show Soviet Russia that the Western Allies are not at odds and that, in matters of substance as against Moscow, they stand together.

Unfortunately, Rene Mayer, Premier of France, was forced out of office almost simultaneously with the announcement of the forthcoming conference, which he undoubtedly was instrumental in getting President Eisenhower to convene. But another French Premier will attend and doubtless will present the same viewpoint as Mr. Mayer might have expressed. Nevertheless, the incident does rather expose the fallacy of Clement Attlee's tart comment in the House of Commons recently about the American constitutional system and the possibility that an American president might not be backed up by the Senate.

Actually, all democracies have constitutional difficulties with their parliaments—including at the moment the governments of Germany and Italy. This is not new and merely emphasizes the importance of a free play of public opinion and a free press, which in a democracy can bring all elements together in a common international policy irrespective of partisan politics. Mr. Attlee the other day spoke too hastily, and by inference was unnecessarily critical of President Eisenhower in implying that the Senate would not work with the present Chief Executive. Actually, there is more evidence of harmony already between Mr. Eisenhower and both Democratic and Republican leaders in Congress on matters of foreign policy that has been manifested in any previous administration in many years. Mr. Attlee was simply uninformed.

Senate Cooperative

No better example of the leadership of Mr. Eisenhower on world affairs can be given than the support which he received from coast to coast in America and from virtually all groups and factions after he made his historic address before the American society of newspaper editors last month.

The comments, moreover, that have just come from Capitol Hill since the announcement of the three-power meeting, called by President Eisenhower, were unanimous. They prove that all the talk about obstruction from the Senate is poppycock.

The significance of the three-power meeting is this: America will explore the viewpoints of the British and French governments and present with them a solid front to Soviet Russia. If, for example, it is decided to ask for a high-level conference with the head of the Soviet government, the Bermuda conference will set forth the conditions for such a meeting with the Russian government.

Matters have gone along so far already that it will be politically difficult for any government in the west to oppose a meeting with Malenkov, even though there may be little assurance of subsequent progress. Prime Minister Churchill prefers an informal type of meeting—like the ones at Yalta and Potsdam — where there is ample opportunity for exchanges of views at the top without too many subordinates around to give the affair the appearance of a "plenary session."

Such a meeting with Malenkov—probably to be held in Berlin—could be a fateful affair. If it proved fruitless, it would demonstrate to those abroad who have had unbounded faith in the sincerity of the Russians that mere conversation doesn't solve anything. If, on the other hand, war came in the next few years, such a meeting would be historic evidence that the allies had sought every honorable method of maintaining peace.

More Talkfests

Any idea that Moscow intends to yield her claims and demands and suddenly become cooperative in Europe would seem far-fetched, because Moscow feels she has been winning the Cold War and that she is negotiating now from strength rather than weakness. Some minor concessions by Russia are likely, provided the Allies are willing to relax restrictions on the movement of raw materials and manufactured goods into Iron Curtain countries. For the real purpose of the Moscow "peace offensive" is to get a breathing spell for the Soviet armament program, to build Communist prestige in the weaker countries which have been wavering between support for the East and West, and to get time in which to enlarge the Russian military forces and equipment with facilities and materials that the west might be gullible enough to furnish.

It took 267 meetings to discover that Soviet Russia didn't intend to make an agreement on the Austrian treaty. It has taken nearly two years to ascertain whether or not the Communists want a truce in Korea. It may take the heads of the three governments only a few days to set up a series of subsequent meetings by foreign secretaries and their deputies. But it might take another couple of years or more to hold such meetings with Soviet negotiators. The cycle of talkfests is about to be resumed.

Safer Flying

Transportation by air is safer today than at any time in the past, but a new series of air diasters in mid-May reminded the air traveler that there still is danger in flying. The worst accident to a scheduled domestic airliner was the crash in a Texas thunderstorm, May 17, of a Delta DC-3. All except one of the 20 persons aboard lost their lives.

Two days earlier an Air Force F-84 Thunderjet tore into a formation of C-119 Flying Boxcars over Germany. Two of the giant transports went down in flames. At home, on May 14, a B-29 plowed into the ground in Nebraska and burned. Sixteen men were killed in these Air Force accidents.

Certain non-combat flights by military planes are necessarily hazardous, because intended to train pilots in flying under extraordinary conditions, but Air Force transport operations are generally similar to those of domestic airlines. Indeed, a large proportion of today's airline pilots are graduates of the military transport services. Air Force Chief of Staff Vandenberg told a House investigating committee in January that, in proportion to miles flown, his service had the lowest fatality rate in its history in 1952, yet 1,214 lives were lost in non-combat flights.

American scheduled airlines boasted, February 12, 1952, they had on that day completed their first 12-month period without a single passenger fatality. But within 48 hours, a National Airlines DC-6 plunged into the Gulf of Mexico with a loss of 46 lives. Also the fatality-free period had been immediately preceded by a series of three crashes at Elizabeth, N. J., which caused the death of 114 persons, including 11 whose homes were struck by falling planes.

The safety record of scheduled American airlines is good, in proportion to miles flown and passengers carried, despite the disasters with which they are plagued from time to time. In domestic service, they had only five fatal accidents in 1952, compared with ten the year before. The passenger fatality rate per 100 million passenger miles flown was only 0.38, as against 1.1 in 1951—a reduction of almost two-thirds. In international operations, on the other hand, the rate was 3.1 — the highest since 1946 when it stood at 3.5.

Non-scheduled domestic operations had only one fatal accident last year; their fatality rate was 2.0 per 100 million passenger miles—the lowest yet, and a steep reduction from the 7.2 rate of 1951. The fatality rate for travel by private automobile in 1951 (latest year available) was 2.4 per 100 million passenger miles. In 1952, the loss of life in automobile accidents was more than 38,000; in all forms of civilian aviation, 937 persons lost their lives.

A vast amount of research and experiment to promote air safety is carried on by government agencies, the airlines, and plane manufacturers. The notable reduction in air fatality rates is evidence that it has been paying off. Advances have been particularly notable in saving lives in the so-called survivable accidents in which planes are forced to land in water or there is danger of fire when a plane cracks up on land.

Perhaps the greatest advance of recent years is the reversible propeller which gives the pilot better control in landing. It is credited with saving many lives. The new jet transports soon to come off production lines are sturdier craft, with greatly simplified controls, and in general are safer than today's piston-engine driven airliners. The absence of propellers deprives them of one great safety advantage, but this handicap may ultimately be overcome by development of a means to reverse the thrust of the jet engine.

Stalemate In Korea

It is obvious to everyone that the United States truce team in Korea, headed by General Harrison, has made extraordinary efforts to seek a basis of agreement. The original Communist proposals would have left up in the air the fate of prisoners refusing repatriation, keeping them in custody indefinitey while their fate was debated by a political conference to be convened later.

In addition, the Communists rejected U. S. acceptance of Pakistan to supervise the prisoner arrangements, though they had nominated Pakistan themselves. Instead, they cynically proposed giving the assignment to a five-nation commission to include such "neutrals" as Poland and Czechoslovakia.

General Harrison's counter-proposal actually accepted this "neutral" custodial commission, merely making the condition that India should be its chairman and that India alone should provide the necessary custodial troops. This was a big concession, and perhaps unwise. In exchange, General Harrison asked certain concessions the Reds insolently rejected.

Prisoners who refuse repatriation would, under the proposed U. S. plan, be kept in custody another two months (making four in all after the armistice). During that period representatives of their side would have access to them to persuade them to change their minds. Those who changed their minds would be repatriated at once. The others would be set free at the end of four months.

The proposal included a number of provisions to avoid boobytraps. A commission representative would be present at all interviews. No force or indignities could be used on the prisoners to make them change their minds. But the Reds, who have predicted that under their plan all Communist prisoners would be persuaded to return home, rejected this one.

General Harrison—acting under orders, of course—has shown willingness to meet the Reds more than half way by accepting two Red satellites on the custodial commission. No comparable concession has been made by the Reds.

No Special Day Needed

Golf is an ancient and honorable sport whose popularity has long been established. Fact that President Eisenhower is one of its enthusiastic devotees may have enhanced its prestige with those who like to be seen doing the things that are done by people in high places.

But it certainly did not need the boost which one of its best known exponents has sought to give it through congressional action. Jack Westland, who last September won the national amateur golf championship, is a member of Congress from the state of Washington. As such, he recently introduced a bill that would have designated May 28 as "national golf day."

The House Judiciary Committee has killed the proposal on the ground that it would have set a precedent for a host of other special days to satisfy devotees of baseball, football and other popular sports.

It would have been a work of supererogation. Why May 28? Every golfer knows that every day when the weather is right is national golf day.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

The Disciplined Life

Most of us think of discipline as punishment but in its broader meaning the word refers to a process of training and learning. Obviously, there is more to discipline than spanking, denying the child, or telling him not to do this and that. It is a form of guidance and education.

Youngsters must be taught to adhere to the rules of life. They must be shown that living and competing with others is something to be enjoyed rather than endured. The results are a disciplined or orderly mind which has so many advantages that parents cannot afford to neglect this aspect of training. Part of the system is teaching good work habits which come in handy regardless of the avocation the individual selects. These habits are acquired early in life, from example and instruction. Discipline accompanies each task that is performed whether the age is 2, 10, or 20 years. Many of the courses taught in school may have no practical value in the future but a certain amount of discipline is required to master them. Students who learn the technique are setting a pattern by which they can meet related problems in the future. In this respect, discipline teaches persistence and cooperation and encourages eagerness to learn honesty and courage.

If the child is to acquire an orderly mind he must be trained to deal with emotional drives. This is important because in maturity most of us are able to satisfy our instinctive drives without overstepping the normal code of conduct. Unless control is achieved the person never grows up emotionally and is plagued with remorse or frustration when he is unable to live as he should with his fellow men. Such reactions are basic causes of neuroses. The criminal goes further in his misconduct and instead of being rebuked by his conscience is forced to contend with courts of law, which serve a related purpose.

A disciplined mind also helps judgment and everyday thinking. The mind is not cluttered with unwholesome thoughts that center on instinctive drives. Instead, intelligence is freed for use in those situations that call for conscious thought. This attitude encourages the individual to believe in himself and to feel secure in the self-respect that follows clear thinking. Such usefulness brings great satisfaction to life. Happiness and emotional maturity are the rewards of a well disciplined man and woman. This need offers a challenge to parents who must give constant attention to children to make them self-sufficient and well rounded rather than egocentric, defiant, and boastful, which are signs of insecurity. A well balanced personality results when thinking and acting are in harmony with conscience and society. These children know what love is and have the ability to love others.

Airline Lobbyist Blocks Passenger-Fare Probe; Ike's Brother Fights Cuts For Land-Grant Colleges; Shoddy Soviet Goods Rile Captive Czechs.

WASHINGTON—One of the most amazing feats of lobbying in Washington took place a few days ago when a fast-talking airline lobbyist got the Civil Aeronautics Board to reverse itself and abandon an investigation into passenger fares.

This is the fourth time in the CAB's history that it has started to probe passenger rates, but, each time, the big airlines have managed to block the investigation before anything happened. Yet the CAB is required by law to regulate airline fares and protect the public from overcharging.

The latest investigation was launched last year to decide the following questions: (1) should the airlines be permitted to charge fares based on capital investment rather than actual operating costs; (2) was the dollar-per-ticket increase fair to passengers taking short flights; and (3) should the airlines set aside profits in good years to offset losses in bad years, rather than depend on the government to bail them out?

The airlines put up such resistance to the investigation, however, that the CAB agreed to reconsider it last month on the grounds that a new Republican member had been appointed. The vote was taken behind closed doors on April 10. However, the new appointee, Harman Denny, voted with Commissioners Josh Lee and Joe Adams to continue the probe. Denny admitted to this column that it was Tipton who had changed his mind.

"I have great admiration for Tipton's judgment," Denny declared.

He argued that the CAB could achieve the same results at less cost through a study rather than an investigation. He admitted, however, that the staff could not cross-examine the airline representatives and could not recommend any action in a routine study.

It would appear that the CAB is more interested in protecting the airlines than the public.

Economy Ax Threatens

The President's brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, was able to save land-grant colleges from the chopping block inside the Budget Bureau, but couldn't stay the economy ax wielded by House Appropriations Chairman John Taber.

Since 1935, the federal government has been chipping in to aid the nation's land-grant colleges. Under the Truman budget, next year's handout was supposed to be $2,501,500, but President Eisenhower's budgeteers automatically slashed this in half, to $1,250,750.

However, they failed to reckon with the new head of the American Association of Land-Grant Colleges, who turned out to be none other than President Eisenhower's brother, Milton. Once this information got around, Budget Boss Joe Dodge hastily revised the land-grant budget back up to $2,501,500, and forwarded a private letter to the House Appropriations Committee, pleading for a restoration of the funds he, himself, had carelessly hacked in half.

The congressmen, however, were more impressed with his original arguments, and not only slashed the land-grant budget in two, but cut it out altogether.

NOTE—Only hope for the land-grant colleges now is for the Senate to restore the cut.

CIO-AFL Merger?

Most people know the CIO Auto Workers' boss, Walter Reuther, whose name has been in the headlines, but not as many have heard of the AFL Auto Workers' boss, Lester Washburn. However, he may be the labor statesman who will bring the CIO and the AFL together.

CIO leaders are worried that Washburn's union may raid the Ford auto plants and take them away from Reuther's union. However, the two unions are investigating the possibility of signing a no-raiding agreement, which would be the first step toward a CIO-AFL merger.

The man who may swing this deal is the fighting, imaginative, 47-year-old Washburn, who has worked his way up in the labor movement since its rough-and-tumble days. His mounting stature is due not only to his successful labor record, but also to his increasing activity in the broad field of human welfare.

Czechs Complain

Joe E. Lewis, the noted cabaret comedian, might well revive his old theme song ("Sam, You Made the Pants Too Long") and pipe it over the Voice of America, judging by recent events in Czechoslovakia.

It seems the captive Czechs are finally getting fed up with inferior goods manufactured by their sovietized industries and have been complaining so vigorously that even the Communist press has been forced to admit the shortcomings of production.

The daily Pravda recently dealt with the Bratislava clothing industry, critically reporting that trousers and coat sleeves in men's suits are uneven and jackets frequently are stained.

Pravda also quoted a letter from an intrepid Czech reader complaining about the inferior quality of ladders that break when you step on them, chairs that collapse when you sit on them, and closet doors that don't open, or fall out, when you touch them.

Here And Now

Love Is Livable

The Reverend Dr. Thirdly preached a sermon entitled "A Brief for Religion" which he put in a word — Love. He began by comparing the Christian graces with flowers, some thriving in the sunshine, others in the shade; some requiring moisture, others little; some growing in high altitudes, others in low.

For example, courage might be symbolized by the geranium, that does well in the sun but not so well in the shade; modesty and humility might be compared to the lily of the valley that hides itself under green fronds and must be hunted to be found.

Worship might be compared to the morning-glory that begins the day with an offertory of beautiful colors in full diapason, and toward evening folds its hands and with bowed head and closed eyes, softly sings:

Now the day is over,
Night is drawing nigh,
Shadows of the evening
Steal across the sky.
Jesus, give the weary
Calm and sweet repose;
With Thy tenderest blessing
May our eyelids close.

When the service was over the people came forward to shake hands and thank the preacher for his wonderful sermon. One woman especially was fulsome in her compliments, saying, "I never before knew what was the matter with my geraniums."

Of course the good woman missed the point, for the preacher was only leading up to say that Christianity is a plant indigenous to all soils, climates, altitudes, longitudes and latitudes, and among all peoples, from Pike's Peak to Cumberland Gap; from the Icelanders in the Arctic to the fuzzy-wuzzies in the South seas; and it has been known to flower in the Catacombs of Rome and in Caesar's palace; in Newgate prison and in Bedford gaol, and everywhere in haunts of wretchedness and need.

Such sweeping claims are considered merely rhetorical by the man from Missouri who has observed that the last rose of summer is never so beautiful as it is pictured in the spring seed catalogs, and his attitude is "You've got to show me."

As Christians, we accept the challenge to demonstrate a brand of religion that will work in all places and under all circumstances — in the family where husband and wife, sons and daughters, in-laws and servants get along beautifully together; in shop and store and factory where good will and fair play obtain; in communities where there are no spite fences but all dwellers are good neighbors.

And when we travel, our manners among foreigners should be such as to disprove the allegation that Americans are hooligans and dollar chasers, and not the decent God-fearing people we really are—at least in spots!

Mark Twain said he had read of a choir somewhere that did not whisper during prayer. He thought it was in some foreign country.

Congregations divided over the selections of a preacher, or whether the carpet for the sanctuary should be green or red, have a golden opportunity to show "how good and pleasant a thing it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

The Rev. Dr. John McDowell, when moderator of the Presbyterian U. S. A. General Assembly, was in Chicago on official business, and one day was invited by a group of shoe manufacturers then in session to come down to their banquet and address them on "Christian Relations in Industry."

The address was informal and open for discussion. A dour Scotsman asked: "Is there anywhere in the Bible where we are told how to run a shoe factory?" The speaker was stumped for a moment, and then his ready wit came to the rescue. Recalling a verse from Romans that is said to have a Scottish flavor, namely, "Hold fast to what is good," he turned to the eighth chapter of the book and read from the 28th verse, and then ad libbed:

"We know God works for good in families where there is no wrangling, but love prevails. God works for good in the schoolroom and on the playground where teachers and pupils love one another. Love works in neighborhoods where there is no tale-bearing. Love works in governments, national and city, where politicians work co-operatively and in mutual respect.

The canny Scot replied: "I think you have something to hold on to. Anyhow I'm going back to St. Louis and try it out in my shoe factory."

BROTHER BARNABAS.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Boy Meets Girl

A reader telephoned to me to suggest that I do a column on the subject of a rich girl, Sara Delano Roosevelt, descendant of Franklin D. Roosevelt, becoming engaged to a poor boy, Anthony di Bonaventura the son of a barber. He said that I have been serious too long. Yet, what can be more serious or important than love and marriage, than the young in spring finding a new world?

Which of these two is rich or poor, I do not know, because money is never the criterion with youth. Maybe they are both rich in the contentments that come to them from their common bond of great music. Perhaps the young man is rich in the sense of strength and in the stability that comes from an early struggle for the sun against what some mistakenly call poverty. Perhaps the young lady has been enriched by an experience with a broken home and with a kindly step-father who adopted her.

What can know about such things that are deep in the memories of children and growing young people?

When I was very young, women reporters, professionally known as sob sisters, were sent on such stories. They would interview an immigrant mother who spoke not a word of English and who either beamed with joy or wept out of the anguish of losing a child to some alien and frightening environment. And maybe a small boy, like myself, would step out of the crowd of neighbors to interpret as best one could the story of struggle and high hopes.

There are hundreds such marriages among us in this country, because social barriers are disappearing, particularly in our colleges. Students of sociology cannot be too impressed by the term, "good families," and students of biology know that it is the genes and the chromosomes, and not the blood, that count in inherited qualities.

So they go along loving each other as the opportunities offer, because money does not count, anyhow. Four deaths, and a great estate is wiped out by taxes. It is not impossible to conceive of a Vanderbilt barber, just as old man di Bonaventura is a barber. And what is wrong with being a barber? Somebody tried to give him a pedigree as coming down from the Romans, which is undoubtedly correct, as it is with many Italians. Maybe, I am a descendant of King David. Who knows? I recall that my grandfather thought that he descended from Aaron, the brother of Moses, but he had no documents to prove it. Let us not go too far in genealogy, lest we discover that a man's a man no matter who his ancestor was a thousand years ago.

One of the celebrated marriages of my childhood was that of Rose Pastor to James G. Phelps-Stokes. Rose Pastor had started in a cigar factory and then wrote a column in a Yiddish newspaper, entitled "Among Ourselves, Girls," in which she gave advice freely, which is a journalistic habit. She particularly advised against intermarriage.

Along came Phelps-Stokes of Yale, rich, handsome, tall, to our very comfortable slums to be a settlement worker. He met Rose and married her and they moved down to the East Side of New York and became part of us. Phelps-Stokes entered politics and ran on William Randolph Hearst's ticket for the Independence League. Hearst was robbed by Tammany Hall and I, as a child, watched the destruction of the ballot boxes. It was one of my earliest lessons in practical politics.

Years later, Rose Pastor Stokes became one of the first American Communsists and they were divorced. But it was a beautiful and exciting romance while it lasted.

A greater fuss used to be made over such adventures in romance 50 years ago than today, because the rich seemed to be richer and the poor seemed to be poorer. But we have been leveled to an economic common denominator and society in this country is no longer an aristocracy either of birth or money.

Cupid is a democrat and given free rein denies the differences that humans regard as so important. He shoots his arrow into two young people and they respond as did Adam and Eve or Romeo and Juliet or Pelleas and Melisande and the less anybody does about it, the greater are the chances for happiness.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower achieved a master stroke by inviting the heads of the governments of Great Britain and France to meet with him in a few weeks to discuss problems of world peace. Their acceptance was immediate.

It was essential, indeed imperative, that something dramatic be done to show Soviet Russia that the Western Allies are not at odds and that, in matters of substance as against Moscow, they stand together.

Unfortunately, Rene Mayer, Premier of France, was forced out of office almost simultaneously with the announcement of the forthcoming conference, which he undoubtedly was instrumental in getting President Eisenhower to convene. But another French Premier will attend and doubtless will present the same viewpoint as Mr. Mayer might have expressed. Nevertheless, the incident does rather expose the fallacy of Clement Attlee's tart comment in the House of Commons recently about the American constitutional system and the possibility that an American president might not be backed up by the Senate.

Actually, all democracies have constitutional difficulties with their parliaments—including at the moment the governments of Germany and Italy. This is not new and merely emphasizes the importance of a free play of public opinion and a free press, which in a democracy can bring all elements together in a common international policy irrespective of partisan politics. Mr. Attlee the other day spoke too hastily, and by inference was unnecessarily critical of President Eisenhower in implying that the Senate would not work with the present Chief Executive. Actually, there is more evidence of harmony already between Mr. Eisenhower and both Democratic and Republican leaders in Congress on matters of foreign policy that has been manifested in any previous administration in many years. Mr. Attlee was simply uninformed.

Senate Cooperative

No better example of the leadership of Mr. Eisenhower on world affairs can be given than the support which he received from coast to coast in America and from virtually all groups and factions after he made his historic address before the American society of newspaper editors last month.

The comments, moreover, that have just come from Capitol Hill since the announcement of the three-power meeting, called by President Eisenhower, were unanimous. They prove that all the talk about obstruction from the Senate is poppycock.

The significance of the three-power meeting is this: America will explore the viewpoints of the British and French governments and present with them a solid front to Soviet Russia. If, for example, it is decided to ask for a high-level conference with the head of the Soviet government, the Bermuda conference will set forth the conditions for such a meeting with the Russian government.

Matters have gone along so far already that it will be politically difficult for any government in the west to oppose a meeting with Malenkov, even though there may be little assurance of subsequent progress. Prime Minister Churchill prefers an informal type of meeting—like the ones at Yalta and Potsdam — where there is ample opportunity for exchanges of views at the top without too many subordinates around to give the affair the appearance of a "plenary session."

Such a meeting with Malenkov—probably to be held in Berlin—could be a fateful affair. If it proved fruitless, it would demonstrate to those abroad who have had unbounded faith in the sincerity of the Russians that mere conversation doesn't solve anything. If, on the other hand, war came in the next few years, such a meeting would be historic evidence that the allies had sought every honorable method of maintaining peace.

More Talkfests

Any idea that Moscow intends to yield her claims and demands and suddenly become cooperative in Europe would seem far-fetched, because Moscow feels she has been winning the Cold War and that she is negotiating now from strength rather than weakness. Some minor concessions by Russia are likely, provided the Allies are willing to relax restrictions on the movement of raw materials and manufactured goods into Iron Curtain countries. For the real purpose of the Moscow "peace offensive" is to get a breathing spell for the Soviet armament program, to build Communist prestige in the weaker countries which have been wavering between support for the East and West, and to get time in which to enlarge the Russian military forces and equipment with facilities and materials that the west might be gullible enough to furnish.

It took 267 meetings to discover that Soviet Russia didn't intend to make an agreement on the Austrian treaty. It has taken nearly two years to ascertain whether or not the Communists want a truce in Korea. It may take the heads of the three governments only a few days to set up a series of subsequent meetings by foreign secretaries and their deputies. But it might take another couple of years or more to hold such meetings with Soviet negotiators. The cycle of talkfests is about to be resumed.

Polish Mt. 4-H'er Will Represent Co.

Virginia Shipway, member of the Polish Mountain club, won first place in the annual 4-H Cherry Pie contest, Thursday at the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company auditorium. She will represent Allegany County in the cherry pie contest at state Club week, August 3-8 at College Park.

Eleanor Smith, also of Polish Mountain club, placed second and Yvonne House, Danville Club; and Joanne Neubiser, Nave's Cross Road Club, tied for third place.

Judging was on poise, arrangement and skill and the quality of the final product. Mrs. Holmes Cessna, Mrs. James R. Smith and Mrs. Joseph Steger were the judges.

Several demonstrations for today's judging were also given. Lucille Aaron gave one on making ice cream soda; Mary Ann Painter, on pineapple salad; and Judith Fisher on baking powder biscuits. All three are members of the Nave's Cross Road Club.

Other demonstrations will be given today beginning at 9:15 a. m.

Flintstone Club Has Reports

Members of the Flintstone Homemakers Club were asked to think about the theme booth for the Cumberland Fair, and present their various ideas at the June meeting, when a committee is to be appointed. The request was made at the meeting earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Guy Thompson. Mrs. Arthur C. Howard was cohostess.

The meeting was opened with the group singing "My Mother's Bible," by Charles D. Tellman, after which the group repeated the 23 Psalm. Roll call was answered with house cleaning hints, and the exchange of salad dressing recipies.

Mrs. H. V. Bender, Radio chairman, reminded the group of the July broadcast in which the Flintstone club participates with the Polish Mountainn club. The topic is "Family Fun." Mrs. Bender asked members to bring suggestions for the script to the June meeting.

Miss Pearl Wilson presided and announced the garden party being held at the home of Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna, May 27 from 2 until 4 o'clock, and in case of rain on the 28th. Announcement also was made of the North Cumberland club minstrel at Centre Street School, Miss Wilson urged attendance at Short Course and Mrs. Bender outlined the highlights of the course. A report of the flower school given by Emily Stueling was given by Mrs. B. C. Robinette. She stressed the importance of the background and vase, in arranging flowers. She gave helpful hints for arranging flowers for shows.

The meeting ended with the Music chairman, Mrs. R. I. Gilson reading the history of the hymn, "Jesus Thou Joy of Loving Heart," by Dr. Roy Palmer.

CONTEST WINNER—Virginia Shipway, first place winner and Mrs. James R. Smith, a judge in the annual 4-H Cherry Pie contest are shown comparing the pies following the contest in the gas company auditorium.

Girl Scout Training Course For Counselors Being Given

The fundamentals of Girl Scouting as applied to camping were shown on a flannelgraph board, Thursday evening, when Miss Olive Hurlburt conducted a training meeting for camp counselors at the scout house.

The unit system of planning through charts and some of the objectives of camping were discussed, and plans for the camping season were made.

In next week's session the group will practice camping skills, which are to be followed by a trip to the camp for a day of training, preceeding the four-day session just before the opening of camp.

Combined subjects which are being offered campers this summer are arts and crafts, campcraft, dramatics, archery, folk dancing, games, sports, music, song leading, nature study, photography and swimming. Four of the staff members are graduating in June from Frostburg State Teachers' college, Edith Utt, Mary Straw, Elaine Weimer and Mildred Reagan.

Miss Hurlburt is director of Established Camp at Green Ridge State Forest. One week will open July 12 and the other camp period will be two weeks from July 19 to August 2.

Camp Day at Constitution Park will be held June 15 through June 26 from 9 until 3:30, with Mrs. Elizabeth Williams director.

A "Family Day" picnic for scouts and their families is being held Memorial Day at Green Ridge Camp, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. Each family is asked to bring a picnic lunch.

William L. Darrow, 212 Knox Street, is reported in a good condition in Church Home Hospital, Baltimore, where he underwent an operation Wednesday.

The luncheon for the mothers of the East Side PTA scheduled for June 2 has been postponed until June 4.

Edith Streett Is Honored At Surprise Shower Party

Mrs. Eugene Streett and Mrs. Ralph E. Ferguson entertained in honor of Miss Edith Streett, with a surprise shower and pre-nuptial party, Wednesday evening. It was held at the former's home, Christie Road.

Miss Streett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Streett, is to become the bride of Otis Riggleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry E. Riggleman, Davis, W. Va. June 12. The candlelight ceremony is being solemnized at 8 p. m., in Melvin Methodist Church with Rev. V. F. Hartman officiating. Miss Dorothy Streett will be her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. Charles Dawson, Youngstown, Ohio, her bridesmaid. William H. Riggleman, Baltimore, is serving as his brother's best man while Robert E. Streett and Ralph E. Ferguson are the ushers.

The colors being worn by the bridal party were used in the decorations for the party. Blue, yellow and white streamers extended from a miniature bride and her attendants, to the shower gifts.

The same color scheme was repeated in the arrangements of mock orange, yellow and blue iris and the miniature plastic shower umbrellas given as favors. The shower cake, enscribed with "Congratulations Otis and Edith," and topped with a miniature sprinkling can, was decorated in pink and yellow roses with green leaves.

Several appropriate games were played and prizes awarded to the honor guest, Mrs. Donald Roby, Mrs. Roy Manges and Mrs. Clyde Walters.

Others present were Mrs. Robert S. Streett, Miss Dorothy Streett, Mrs. Lamar Wentling, Mrs. Lloyd Rice, Mrs. Robert Horstman, Miss Edith Elbin, Miss Jessie Perdew, Mrs. Robert Martin Jr., Miss Mary Jane Friend, Miss Carrie Hedrick, Mrs. David Dom, Mrs. Charles Thomas, Mrs. John Mayo, Miss Regina Ferguson, Miss Betty Hammond and Mrs. Charles True.

Garden Party To Be May 27

The countywide Garden Party for all homemakers is being held May 27 at the home of Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna, Bedford Road. It will be from 2 until 4 o'clock. In case of rain the party will be held May 28 at the same time.

A program is being planned for the guests by the Allegany County Council and RWSC Club official boards.

Final short course enrollments will be taken at the party.

Mrs. Robert Johnson will be hostess to members of the Progressive Young Women's Club of Potomac Valley, Monday. She will give a demonstration on salads.

The Celtic languages are spoken by about 3,500,000 people.

Polish Mt. 4-H'er Will Represent Co.

Virginia Shipway, member of the Polish Mountain club, won first place in the annual 4-H Cherry Pie contest, Thursday at the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company auditorium. She will represent Allegany County in the cherry pie contest at state Club week, August 3-8 at College Park.

Eleanor Smith, also of Polish Mountain club, placed second and Yvonne House, Danville Club; and Joanne Neubiser, Nave's Cross Road Club, tied for third place.

Judging was on poise, arrangement and skill and the quality of the final product. Mrs. Holmes Cessna, Mrs. James R. Smith and Mrs. Joseph Steger were the judges.

Several demonstrations for today's judging were also given. Lucille Aaron gave one on making ice cream soda; Mary Ann Painter, on pineapple salad; and Judith Fisher on baking powder biscuits. All three are members of the Nave's Cross Road Club.

Other demonstrations will be given today beginning at 9:15 a. m.

Flintstone Club Has Reports

Members of the Flintstone Homemakers Club were asked to think about the theme booth for the Cumberland Fair, and present their various ideas at the June meeting, when a committee is to be appointed. The request was made at the meeting earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Guy Thompson. Mrs. Arthur C. Howard was cohostess.

The meeting was opened with the group singing "My Mother's Bible," by Charles D. Tellman, after which the group repeated the 23 Psalm. Roll call was answered with house cleaning hints, and the exchange of salad dressing recipies.

Mrs. H. V. Bender, Radio chairman, reminded the group of the July broadcast in which the Flintstone club participates with the Polish Mountainn club. The topic is "Family Fun." Mrs. Bender asked members to bring suggestions for the script to the June meeting.

Miss Pearl Wilson presided and announced the garden party being held at the home of Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna, May 27 from 2 until 4 o'clock, and in case of rain on the 28th. Announcement also was made of the North Cumberland club minstrel at Centre Street School, Miss Wilson urged attendance at Short Course and Mrs. Bender outlined the highlights of the course. A report of the flower school given by Emily Stueling was given by Mrs. B. C. Robinette. She stressed the importance of the background and vase, in arranging flowers. She gave helpful hints for arranging flowers for shows.

The meeting ended with the Music chairman, Mrs. R. I. Gilson reading the history of the hymn, "Jesus Thou Joy of Loving Heart," by Dr. Roy Palmer.

CONTEST WINNER—Virginia Shipway, first place winner and Mrs. James R. Smith, a judge in the annual 4-H Cherry Pie contest are shown comparing the pies following the contest in the gas company auditorium.

Girl Scout Training Course For Counselors Being Given

The fundamentals of Girl Scouting as applied to camping were shown on a flannelgraph board, Thursday evening, when Miss Olive Hurlburt conducted a training meeting for camp counselors at the scout house.

The unit system of planning through charts and some of the objectives of camping were discussed, and plans for the camping season were made.

In next week's session the group will practice camping skills, which are to be followed by a trip to the camp for a day of training, preceeding the four-day session just before the opening of camp.

Combined subjects which are being offered campers this summer are arts and crafts, campcraft, dramatics, archery, folk dancing, games, sports, music, song leading, nature study, photography and swimming. Four of the staff members are graduating in June from Frostburg State Teachers' college, Edith Utt, Mary Straw, Elaine Weimer and Mildred Reagan.

Miss Hurlburt is director of Established Camp at Green Ridge State Forest. One week will open July 12 and the other camp period will be two weeks from July 19 to August 2.

Camp Day at Constitution Park will be held June 15 through June 26 from 9 until 3:30, with Mrs. Elizabeth Williams director.

A "Family Day" picnic for scouts and their families is being held Memorial Day at Green Ridge Camp, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. Each family is asked to bring a picnic lunch.

William L. Darrow, 212 Knox Street, is reported in a good condition in Church Home Hospital, Baltimore, where he underwent an operation Wednesday.

The luncheon for the mothers of the East Side PTA scheduled for June 2 has been postponed until June 4.

Edith Streett Is Honored At Surprise Shower Party

Mrs. Eugene Streett and Mrs. Ralph E. Ferguson entertained in honor of Miss Edith Streett, with a surprise shower and pre-nuptial party, Wednesday evening. It was held at the former's home, Christie Road.

Miss Streett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Streett, is to become the bride of Otis Riggleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry E. Riggleman, Davis, W. Va. June 12. The candlelight ceremony is being solemnized at 8 p. m., in Melvin Methodist Church with Rev. V. F. Hartman officiating. Miss Dorothy Streett will be her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. Charles Dawson, Youngstown, Ohio, her bridesmaid. William H. Riggleman, Baltimore, is serving as his brother's best man while Robert E. Streett and Ralph E. Ferguson are the ushers.

The colors being worn by the bridal party were used in the decorations for the party. Blue, yellow and white streamers extended from a miniature bride and her attendants, to the shower gifts.

The same color scheme was repeated in the arrangements of mock orange, yellow and blue iris and the miniature plastic shower umbrellas given as favors. The shower cake, enscribed with "Congratulations Otis and Edith," and topped with a miniature sprinkling can, was decorated in pink and yellow roses with green leaves.

Several appropriate games were played and prizes awarded to the honor guest, Mrs. Donald Roby, Mrs. Roy Manges and Mrs. Clyde Walters.

Others present were Mrs. Robert S. Streett, Miss Dorothy Streett, Mrs. Lamar Wentling, Mrs. Lloyd Rice, Mrs. Robert Horstman, Miss Edith Elbin, Miss Jessie Perdew, Mrs. Robert Martin Jr., Miss Mary Jane Friend, Miss Carrie Hedrick, Mrs. David Dom, Mrs. Charles Thomas, Mrs. John Mayo, Miss Regina Ferguson, Miss Betty Hammond and Mrs. Charles True.

Garden Party To Be May 27

The countywide Garden Party for all homemakers is being held May 27 at the home of Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna, Bedford Road. It will be from 2 until 4 o'clock. In case of rain the party will be held May 28 at the same time.

A program is being planned for the guests by the Allegany County Council and RWSC Club official boards.

Final short course enrollments will be taken at the party.

Mrs. Robert Johnson will be hostess to members of the Progressive Young Women's Club of Potomac Valley, Monday. She will give a demonstration on salads.

The Celtic languages are spoken by about 3,500,000 people.

Frostburg-Georges Creek Club Entertained At Supper

The Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch of the American Association of University Women now has 30 members, it was announced at the meeting earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Joseph Kruson. Any one interested in joining is asked to contact Miss Gertrude Williams, Miss Kathleen Wolfe.

Preceding the meeting Mrs. Kruson was hostess for a buffet supper. An invitation, from the Cumberland Branch AAUW, to attend its membership dinner June 6 was read. Reservations are to be reported to Mrs. H. R. Aldridge by June 1. Miss Agnes T. Howatt is in charge of transportation. Tentative plans for the coming year wered iscussed. It was voted to discontinue the meetings until September.

THE CHURCH

...as GOD sees it

Man and God see things differently. That's why man needs the Church—it helps him see things God's way.

But, strangely, even the Church itself looks different to man and God. To man the Church appears to be an organization. It has leaders, officials, boards, members. It has a charter, owns property, sometimes has a mortgage. And even though its aims are the highest in life, still its members are imperfect human creatures like ourselves.

To God the Church is an organism, a living thing. It is the Spirit of Christ touching men's hearts, forgiving their sins, awakening their faith. It is the Word of Truth commanding the attention and changing the lives of men, women and children. It is Divine Power transforming human sorrow to joy.

Man can learn how to see the Church as God sees it. But never by looking down upon the Church. Only by going inside the Church to worship God, and looking UP.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE CHURCH

...as GOD sees it

Man and God see things differently. That's why man needs the Church—it helps him see things God's way.

But, strangely, even the Church itself looks different to man and God. To man the Church appears to be an organization. It has leaders, officials, boards, members. It has a charter, owns property, sometimes has a mortgage. And even though its aims are the highest in life, still its members are imperfect human creatures like ourselves.

To God the Church is an organism, a living thing. It is the Spirit of Christ touching men's hearts, forgiving their sins, awakening their faith. It is the Word of Truth commanding the attention and changing the lives of men, women and children. It is Divine Power transforming human sorrow to joy.

Man can learn how to see the Church as God sees it. But never by looking down upon the Church. Only by going inside the Church to worship God, and looking UP.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Alcohi Senior Assembly Planned For Wednesday

The senior assembly at Allegany High School will be held next Wednesday at 10:45 a. m. in the school auditorium, Raymond O. McCullough, principal, announced.

The event is the traditional rite as Allegany seniors officially turn over class affairs to next year's seniors.

During the opening exercises, Kenneth McGraw, one of the graduates, will sing "The Lord's Prayer." An oration will be given by Shirley Messman on "High On a Hill."

Then the gavel of president of the 1953 Senior Class will be presented by Walter Boseley, this year's president, to Bernard Beerman, president of this year's Junior Class.

Awards will be presented to upper classmen for their participation in various non-athletic school activities. An athletic award assembly was held last week.

The closing ceremony will come when seniors move from their seats in the front of the auditorium to the back and the juniors take their places.

The seniors then will sing "Dear Old High School."

The senior sermon will be Sunday, May 31, in the auditorium. Rev. G. A. Wagner, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, will speak on "Build Now A Life Consecrated To God."

The invocation and benediction will be given by Rev. Howard M. Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church.

The processional will be played by Norman O. Scribner Jr., organist, and Nancy Long, pianist, while the recessional will be played by Scribner.

The 186 seniors will be graduated Friday, June 5, at the school with Kenneth Malcolm, president of the Allegany County Board of Education presenting diplomas.

Wild Game Refuge Planned For Dan's Mountain Area

Abstracts of titles to about 5,000 acres of Dan's Mountain terrain have been submitted to the attorney general of Maryland for checking and approval.

The land is being purchased by the state for use as a public hunting ground and game refuge. Surveyors have been working on the project two years, running lines on the eastern side of the mountain from a point at Dawson to near the Barton Dairy on McMullen Highway.

Officials of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission started working on detail for the purchase in anticipation of starting one of the best hunting game refuges in this area. The terrain is rugged and covered by forest growth. There are also large numbers of huge boulders along the upper side of the mountain.

The mountain rises to a precipice along much of the eastern side to make a natural haven for wild game. Deer, squirrel, turkeys and grouse and other game abound in the region. There is no habitation of any sort on the tract.

Attorneys working for the state have arranged to make the purchase of the first parcel of the tract next month. This contains about 325 acres. The work of tracing titles to the various sections has been arduous as the property owners in many cases no longer live in this area. The section in question is known as The Big Survey.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said the area will consist of about 1,000 acres in game refuge and 4,000 acres for public hunting.

Last year there were 11 deer killed on McMullen Highway, and Minke said that the installation of game habitation and food patches in cleared areas on the mountain will result in the deer staying on the mountain and off roads. The animals often wander to farms in search of food during the spring and summer months.

WM Passenger Train Will Be Stopped June 1

The Western Maryland Railway announced yesterday that effective June 1 its passenger train service between Cumberland and Hagerstown will be discontinued.

This move follows permission by the Maryland Public Service Commission to discontinue the service. The railway will also be allowed to reduce the number of passenger train trips daily between Hagerstown and Baltimore.

The passenger train service between Cumberland and Elkins, which runs daily except Sunday, will be continued with one trip each way. Another trip, from Elkins to Durbin, about 47 miles distant, will also be continued on a twice daily basis.

Abandonment of the passenger service between Hagerstown and Cumberland will affect only 254 passengers, the figure counted in a sample month.

According to an exhibit on file with the Public Service Commission the month of November 1952, showed that 118 persons left Cumberland eastbound and 136 left Hagerstown westbound.

Thomas F. Conlon, postmaster of the Cumberland Post Office, pointed out that postal authorities have made preliminary arrangements to have the mail to Spring Gap and Oldtown, the only two postoffices that have mail carried by the Western Maryland, hauled by the GT&R Bus Company, which operates between here and Oldtown.

B'er Chayim Centennial Services To End Today

The closing of the centennial services of B'er Chayim Congregation will be held this evening with a birthday dinner at the Cumberland Country Club.

Members of the congregation will present a review depicting various episodes in its history.

The review is under the direction of Mrs. Harry Beneman, Mrs. Leonard Schwab, and Mrs. Maurice Cohn with scenic and lighting effects directed by Herman Miller. Music will be provided by the Sykes Orchestra.

Greetings have been received in tribute to the centennial by officers of the Congregation from hundreds of the congregations affiliated with the American Hebrew Congregations and from President Eisenhower, Governor McKeldin and other national leaders.

Contract Is Signed By Union, Breweries

A contract was signed yesterday between Local 265, United Brewery Workers Union, and the Cumberland Brewing Company and the Queen City Brewing Company, spokesmen of the companies and union announced.

The pact, to cover workers in both breweries until May 1, 1954, calls for an hourly wage increase and fringe benefits on insurance that covers death and sickness.

Company negotiators were G William Bibby, and J. H. Stitley, president and vice president of the Cumberland Brewing Company; William L. Wilson Jr., vice president; Arch Hutchinson, secretary-treasurer, and George Hazelwood and C. Arthur Brotemarkle, directors, all of the Queen City firm.

For the union were Orville Young, president; Walter C. Reichert, secretary, Arthur Gellner, George Aman, Jr., Harold Riggleman and Otto Ruehl.

35,000 To See Preakness, Native Dancer Is 4-5 Choice

Heavy Betting On Dancer Has Track Worried

Management Shudders At Thought Of Minus Pool In 77th Classic

By JOHN CHANDLER

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP) — Rain today turned Pimlico's racing strip into a gooey mass of mud with the prospect of an "off" track for Native Dancer, Dark Star and five other colts in the 77th edition of the $100,000-added Preakness Stakes.

The weatherman promised some sunshine for tomorrow, however, and unless there is heavy, continuous rain through tonight the track should be no worse than "good" when the seven three-year-olds break from the starting gate at 4:45 p.m. (EST).

Dancer Seeks Revenge

The candidates were out in the sticky mud for light spins this morning, all in top trim for one of the most controversial Preakness races since it was started in 1873.

Dark Star, Cain Hoy stable colt who upset Alfred Vandrbilt's Native Dancer in the Kentucky Derby May 2, traveled half a mile in 48 seconds soon after a heavy thunderstorm swept the track. Native Dancer came out later for a leisurely two-mile gallop. He had worked a sensational three-quarters yesterday in 1:11 3-5.

There was talk of the other candidates, but most of the conjecture around this steamed up Maryland metropolis was whether Native Dancer would win the Preakness and get even with Dark Star for the Derby defeat—the only one in the Dancer's career.

35,000 To See Race

A crowd of some 35,000 is expected to see the race, plus countless others on the coast-to-coast television network, or hear it on radio. The broadcast (CBS) will be from 4:30-5 p.m. (EST).

Others in the mile and 3-16ths classic are Eugene Constantin Jr.'s Royal Bay Gem, winner of the Preakness Prep over Dark Star Monday; Jim Norris' Jamie K., winner of two straight races in New York recently; Ben Whitaker's Tahitian King, who took the Swift Stakes at Belmont Park May 11; Mrs. Gordon Guiberson's Correspondent; and Bruce Campbell's Ram O'War.

Most odds-makers figured Native Dancer would be 3 to 5 in the betting, but the track program handicapper made it 4 to 5, with Dark Star 4 to 1 and Royal Bay Gem 6 to 1.

May Face Minus Pool

The track management is shuddering at the thought of a minus pool, with a probable heavy play in the place and show betting on the Dancer. In the Wood Memorial at Jamaica in April there was a combined minus place and show pool of some $25,000 when Native Dancer won. Ditto last week at Belmont, when the big gray streak made the track dig down for more than $2,400. There was betting to win only there as the Dancer copped the Withers Mile, his 12th victory in 13 starts.

Registered Shoot Scheduled Sunday At Ridgeley Traps

The Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club will stage its fourth registered trapshooting tournament of the season Sunday at its traps on the Frankfort Road.

Tony Francis, chairman, announces that the program, scheduled to get under way at noon, will comprise 100 16-yard targets, 50 handicap and 25 pairs of doubles.

Carlton Stair Retains Lead In Bi-State

Charlton Stair, of Hyndman High School, is still showing the way in the Bi-State Conference batting race with an average of .517.

The leader has collected 15 hits in 29 trips to the plate.

Tommy Richards of Beall High is the runner-up with an average of .500 for 19 hits in 38 official at bats.

Other top hitters rank in the following order: Eirich, Allegany .441; Stickley, Fort Hill .412; Clem, Bruce .393; Walsh, Mt. Savage .385; Spiker, Central .381; Murray, Beall .378; Blank, Mt. Savage .367; G. Stair, Hyndman .357; Kirtley, Allegany .351 and Carter, Mt. Savage .350.

Lefty Lou Hite, of Hyndman, leads the pitchers with a 7-2 (.778) record. Ronnie Connolly of LaSalle is 3-1 followed by Brodie, Central 5-2; Richards, Beall 6-3, and Iser, Allegany, 4-2.

Cards Beat Reds

St. Louis, May 22 (AP)—Stan Musial drove in two runs with a single and homer tonight as the third-place St. Louis Cardinals, scoring their fourth straight victory, pulled within one half game of the National League lead by defeating the Cincinnati Redlegs, 4-2.

Romney High Qualifies For State Games

Pioneers Eliminate Harpers Ferry, 5-1

ROMNEY, W. Va., May 22 — Romney High School's Pioneers qualified for the West Virginia state baseball tournament at Parkersburg May 28, 29 and 30 by defeating Harpers Ferry High School here today for the Region Four championship by the score of 5-1.

Joe Ely, Pioneers' ace righthander, was at top form and turned back the Jefferson countians with two scratch hits — infield singles by Willingham and Horn in the fifth inning.

Jamison limited Romney to six hits and fanned 11 but was given poor support by his mates who were charged with field fielding miscues.

Phil Adams accounted for two of the winners' six safeties.

Clabaugh, left fielder of Harpers Ferry, turned in the fielding gem when he made a shoestring catch of a drive from Eddie Hartman's bat, took a tumble and came up with the ball.

Romney will play the Region No. 8 winner in the second game of a night twin bill at Parkersburg on Thursday, May 28. Box:

Giants Capture Sixth Straight

Jim Hearn Is Victor Over Brooklyn, 5-1

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—Jim Hearn, knocked out seven times in a row this season, came back today to pitch the New York Giants to their sixth straight victory, 5-1, over Brooklyn, with a route-going seven hitter.

The Giants' righthander helped nail this one down with a two-run double in the fourth inning.

Jimmy Davis Of Keyser High Wins Batting Title In PVC

Outfielder Hit .519; Wolford Is Runner-Up; Three Post 4-0 Marks

Jimmy Davis, Keyser High School outfielder, won the batting championship of the Potomac Valley Conference for the 1953 season with an average of .519.

The leader collected 14 hits in 27 times at bat in the ten games played by the Golden Tornado.

Keith Wolford, who figured in all of Romney's 13 contests, was the runner-up with .488 while Randall Raines, of Moorefield High's champs, was third with .484.

Wolford was the circuit's leading run getter with 25 tallies and was tied by Phil Adams, a teammate, for total hits—21.

Three pitchers posted 4-0 records. They were Randall Raines, Moorefield; Wendell Ullery, Capon Bridge, and Bobby Wilson, of Moorefield.

The conference strikeout king was Paul Teter, of Circleville High, who whiffed 65. Jimmy Kessel of Petersburg was the runner-up with 57 victims. The final averages:

Bosox Win Twin Bill

Defeat Philadelphia In Pair Of 3-2 Tilts

BOSTON, May 22 (AP) — After providing unbeaten southpaw Mel Parnell with his sixth victory in regular time, the Boston Red Sox swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics by twin 3-2 scores today when Sammy White doubled in Hoot Evers with one out in the 12th session of the nightcap.

Carl Scheib, the fourth of the Athletics' second game pitchers, set the stage for White's game winning clout down the left field line by passing Evers and George Kell.

Kell, the American League's batting leader, gave Parnell robust support by homering in the third inning and singling in the winning run in the eighth.

The Red Sox also needed four flingers during the second game, which wound up under the lights. One of them was veteran Ellis Kinder, who had to spell Parnell in the ninth of the opener.

Giovanelli Wins

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—Rookie Danny Giovanelli, a rangy Brooklyn kid shooting at the moon in his first Madison Square Garden main go, upset Vince Martinez, boxing's 1952 "rookie of the year" tonight on a split decision in a bristling 10-rounder that drew round of cheers from the small crowd of 4,583.

Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, May 22—(INS)—The Woodlawn Vase, a small replica of which goes to the owner of the Preakness winner, is beyond all doubt the loveliest, most exquisitely beautiful trophy in all the world of sport.

It is the oldest and most famous of all American sports trophies and a marvelous example of the silversmith's art.

It actually is beyond price for no amount of money could buy the vase any more than the Pope's tiara or the crown jewels of England could be bought.

We feel sure that Alf Vanderbilt whose great colt Native Dancer is favored to win the 77th running of the $100,000 Preakness at Pimlico tomorrow would rather have even the replica of the vase than the $100,000.

The vase was made by Tiffany for Col. R. A. Alexander of Kentucky in 1860 and buried during the late unpleasantness between the states to keep it out of the hands of the Damyanks who, it was felt, might have melted it to make bullets.

It was dug up after the war and changed hands several times until it finally landed where it belongs—at Pimlico—where the best three year olds in the country will strive to earn its replica over the mile and three-sixteenths route tomorrow.

The Preakness, as you are undoubtedly well aware, is the second tier, in the triple crown of the turf, the other two being the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes.

The round bowl of the Belmont, surmounted by a mounted jockey, and the slender cup of the Kentucky Derby, are gorgeous pieces buf neither can compare with the Woodlawn Vase, pride of the Maryland Jockey Club.

By the way, the Maryland Jockey Club was founded 210 years ago and one of its early patrons was a lad named George Washington, who, since British currency was then in use, used to make his bets in shillings. It may be that the future father of his country to be went for a few pounds.

Later we find President Andrew Jackson betting at the old track at Annapolis accompanied by a future President named Martin Van Burean, both firm believers in improving the breed via the betting ring.

Many great horses have won the Preakness, including Man O' War and peerless Eddie Arcaro has won four of them aboard Whirlaway, Hill Prince, Citation and Bold.

Eddie will be striving for his fifth Preakness winner tomorrow aboard Jim (Mr. Boxing) Norris' Jamie K.

It is doubtful that Eddie will get anything except a grand view of the race for against him will be such top-flight horses as Native Dancer, Royal Bay Gem, Dark Star and Correspondent.

Yes, we fear that after the band has rendered There's A Girl In The Heart Of Maryland, Maryland, My Maryland, and Dixie—three Maryland "musts"—Eddie will get no more than a close-up view of the Woodlawn Vase and the phony black-eyed susans wreathed around the neck of Eric Guerin aboard Native Dancer in the winner's circle.

A pair of two-run homers by Ted Durbin and a round tripper by Sam Brady accounted for five runs as the Cumberland Outdoor Club handed the B. P O. Elks their first defeat of the season in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday at Allegany Field. The score was 7-3.

Durbin hit four-baggers in the first and third frames with a mate aboard. Brady got a double in addition to his four-master. "Bubbles" Whiteman had three hits in three trips for the Elks.

Jim Gaffney pitched the Amvets to their fifth consecutive victory over the Knights of Columbus, who dropped their sixth in a row at Penn Avenue Field, 6-3.

In bagging his fifth straight pitching triumph, Gaffney yielded only three hits and banged a triple. The scores:

Heafner Grabs Leadership In Colonial Golf

Posts 4-Under-Par 66, Bolt Breaks His Clubs

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 22 (AP)—Massive Clayton Heafner shot his greatest round in the Colonial National Invitation golf tournament today—a four-under-par 66 that was just one stroke over the competitive course record — to bound into first place at the halfway mark with 140 for 36 holes.

The 250-pound blonde from Charlotte, N. C., in semi-retirement from competition after 18 years of campaigning took over from brilliantly erratic Tommy Bolt of Maplewood, N. J., who was the first round leader with a 67. Bolt soared sky-high today and reverted to his old club-throwing ways.

Bolt Breaks Clubs

Bolt wound up with a depleted golf bag and 11 over par. His 81 gave him 148 and put him far down the list. Bolt threw clubs and broke clubs. On No. 15 he broke two across his knee and pitched them over the fence. He threw one club so far the boys speculated if it wasn't a world's record and he hurled his ball into a creek on another hole.

Generally, however, the scores were all lower in this $25,000 tournament whose 7,035-yard course is a threatening challenge all the way.

The big man from the South had eight one-putt greens.

Edging into second place was little Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., who had a yo—the third player of the day to best par. Skip Alexander of St. Petersburg, Fla., was the other. He had a 68.

Barber brought his total to 143—three strokes back of Heafner.

Hogan Tied For Third

Ben Hogan of Palm Springs, Calif., the tournament favorite, had a 71 today to go with his opening day 73 and was in a tie for third place. Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., another of the top-rated men, shot himself well down the list with a 76.

Five Schools Vie Tonight At Stadium

Fort Hill To Hold Seventh Invitation Meet At 8 O'Clock

Athletes of five schools—Handley High of Winchester, Va., and Frederick, Allegany, Beall and Fort Hill of Maryland—will participate in the seventh annual Fort Hill High School Invitational Track and Field Meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Fort Hill Stadium.

Fort Hill is the defending champion, having won the meet six years in a row, but the Sentinels are expecting the competition to be much keener than in past years.

The first event on the program will be the high hurdles while four relays should serve as a fitting climax.

Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School, will present a trophy to the winning team. Ribbons will go to all place winners. The scoring will be 5-3-2-1 points for individual events and 10-6-4-2 for the relays.

William P. Hahn will be the director of the meet. Other officials will be Foy A. Curry, referee; Joe Pellerzi, clerk of the course; Eugene Hopkins, starter; Mal Campbell, announcer; William Orndorff, Clifton Van Roby, Eddie Diehl, "Buck" Morehead, Walter L. Bowers, "Ike" Smith, and John J. Cavanaugh, finish judges and timers; John McVicker, Jim Gaffney, Carlton Lapp, Joe Wagner, Ray Lapp, Arthur Davis, Walter Orndorff, Robert Young, William McProuty, Robert Bigler and Charles Bryce, field judges.

PITTSBURGH, May 22 (AP)—Jim Waugh, 19-year-old righthanded pitcher, was optioned today by the Pittsburgh Pirates to Burlington, N. C., of the Class B Carolina League.

Waugh appeared only in relief this season and has no record. He won one and lost six with the Pirates in 1952 after posting a 4-9 record with Charleston, S. C., in the Sally League.

John Miller Becomes 18th Mibs Champ

Beats Eddie Miller At Virginia Avenue

John Miller won the Virginia Avenue marbles championship yesterday over Eddie Miller (no relative) by one point. With each a winner of a game, the deciding finals tilt was won by John after each had knocked six marbles out of the ring. Eddie Miller was the runnerup last year at Humbird School.

In the semifinals were David Gross, Carl Saville, Billy Kline, Allen Miller, James Perry and Harold Sirbaugh.

With 18 school champs now on the list, only four more are due to be added. East Side finals are scheduled for Monday; Allegany Wednesday; Penn Avenue Thursday, and Gephart School next Friday.

The 22 Cumberland area champs will shoot it out June 2 at the Gephart Playground for the marbles championship that carries with it a week's free trip to Asbury Park, N. J. during the National Marbles Tournament June 14—19.

Yankees Given 12-4 Walloping By Washington

Bob Porterfield Bags 5th Straight Victory

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The Washington Senators handed the New York Yankees a humiliating 12 to 4 defeat today, raking Allie Reynolds for five runs in the first inning and adding the final insult by ending the game with a triple play.

A sparse crowd of 4,774 watched the Senators go on an 18-hit rampage, their biggest batting spree of the season.

They watched plenty more. For instance:

1. Johnny Mize, the veteran first baseman of the New York Yankees, set a new American League record by hitting safely in his fifth straight pinch hitting assignment.

2. Mickey Vernon, Washington first baseman, stretched his batting streak to 16 straight games.

3. Clyde Vollmer walloped a home run and double to drive in five runs, moving him nearer the top in RBIs in the league with 26.

4. Bob Porterfield, the castoff Yankee pitcher, won his fifth straight game, adding two hits to the Washington attack.

The biggest whoop went up in the ninth though after the Yanks had scored a run and put runners on first and second with nobody out.

Irv Noren whacked a wicked liner right at Porterfield who grabbed it on the fly and threw to Mickey Vernon to double pinch runner Art Schult off first. Vernon's fast relay to Pete Runnels caught Andy Carey trying to scramble back to second to complete the triple play.

Claget McAlister notched his 7th straight pitching triumph of the County Softball League season as Central Lunch made it eight in a row at the expense of the Sports Shoppe yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 5-3.

Charley Crabtree and McAlister shared four of the winners' eight hits while Fred Comer and Bill Thompson had two hits each for the Sports Shoppe. Don Crabtree's throw that cut down Fred Comer who attempted to score on a hit to the outfield was the fielding highlight.

Cunningham's Grocery beat Stringtown, 7-5, and Potomac Valley's Cubs downed Zihlman, 8-0, to remain deadlocked for the runner-up spot.

Russ Miller posted his fifth win for Cunningham's. Luttrell and Reuschel slammed homers for the winners and Gerald Stair rapped a double and single for Stringtown.

Hayden Phillips made his record 5-0 for the season in the Cubs' triumph over Zihlman. He yielded one hit, a single by J. Goss in the 7th inning. "Speed" Hanna paced the Cubs at the plate with a double and single.

Junior Brelsford tossed a four-hitter as Hercules Powder Kegs conquered Ellerslie, 4-1. Lease and Drenning of Hercules and Waltman of Ellerslie garnered two blows each. Scores:

LaSalle Defeats AHS, 10-6; Mt. Savage And Central Score Wins

BI-STATE STANDINGS

School	W.	L.	Pct.
Hyndman	8	2	.800
Beall	7	4	.636
Central	5	4	.556
LaSalle	6	5	.545
Bruce	5	5	.500
Fort Hill	5	6	.455
Allegany	4	6	.400
Flintstone	4	7	.364
Mt. Savage	3	8	.273

Two winning streaks came to an abrupt halt yesterday when Coach Augie Eichhorn's Bruce High nine snapped Hyndman High's eight-game string and also the 7-game winning skein of Lefty Lou Hite as the Bulldogs knocked off the Bi-State Conference leaders at Westernport to the tune of 6-5.

The setback reduced Hyndman's lead to 1½ games over the runner-up Beall High team which was idle yesterday.

To Dave Marple went the credit for stopping the Pennsylvanians for the first time since April 15 when they dropped the season opener to Fort Hill. The Bruce hurler yielded six hits and struck out eight batsmen to notch his 4th win against three losses. The loss was Hite's second against seven triumphs.

Eddie Scheermesser's timely two-base wallop scored Bobby Snyder with the run that decided the contest in the final inning. Snyder had singled and pilfered second before Scheermesser delivered the payoff blow.

Hyndman had tied the score in the top of the 7th when Snyder's wild heave home with the bases loaded enabled the visitors to score two runs.

Marvin Clem paced the Bruce hitters with a triple and two singles. G. Stair garnered two of Hyndman's six safeties.

Blank Beats Sentinels

Bobby Blank and Mt. Savage High School gave Fort Hill a severe jolt by spilling the Sentinels on their home field by the score of 7-4.

Coach Johnny Thomas' aggregation belted local pitchers for 11 safeties while Fort Hill was credited with 10 blows that were well scattered by Blank who struck out 11 batsmen.

McGregor and Stickley shared six of Fort Hill's blows while Walsh, Carter, Blank, Kenny and Winebrenner had two hits each for Mt. Savage. Blank and Stickley hit for the circuit.

Carter's catch of Burke's drive in right-center was the fielding highlight.

LaSalle Sweeps Series

LaSalle High's Explorers made a sweep of their two-game series with Allegany by whipping the Campers at Stitcher Field to the tune of 10-6.

Coach Al Martin's team set what could be a league record by registering its fourth straight triumph in five days. The victory moved the Explorers into fourth place with a 6-5 mark.

Hugh Nolan, who pitched the first 5 2-3 innings received credit for the win, his third against two losses. Harry Iser suffered his second defeat against four victories.

Conroy of LaSalle and Hoffman of Allegany topped the stickers with two hits each.

Central Wins in 8th

Central High's Tigers retained third place by winning an extra inning battle from Flintstone High's Aggies at Barton, 2 to 1.

It was the third overtime game in which the Orange and Black had engaged this season and the second with the Aggies.

Ellis Fazenbaker's single over second base in the 8th frame scored Eddie Getson with the run that broke a 1-1 deadlock and gave Jack Brodie the verdict over Kent Lough in a pitching duel. Getson opened the inning by being hit by pitcher and advanced to second on Bill Turnbull's sacrifice prior to Fazenbaker's winning wallop.

In posting his 5th win against two defeats Brodie fanned 11 to up his season's total to 65. Lough struck out eight.

League Opens Tuesday

The Mixed Bowling League season will get under way on the Capital alleys Tuesday at 8 p. m. Six teams have joined the league and there is still room for two more.

35,000 To See Preakness, Native Dancer Is 4-5 Choice

Heavy Betting On Dancer Has Track Worried

By JOHN CHANDLER

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP) — Rain today turned Pimlico's racing strip into a gooey mass of mud with the prospect of an "off" track for Native Dancer, Dark Star and five other colts in the 77th edition of the $100,000-added Preakness Stakes.

The weatherman promised some sunshine for tomorrow, however, and unless there is heavy, continuous rain through tonight the track should be no worse than "good" when the seven three-year-olds break from the starting gate at 4:45 p.m. (EST).

Dancer Seeks Revenge

The candidates were out in the sticky mud for light spins this morning, all in top trim for one of the most controversial Preakness races since it was started in 1873.

Dark Star, Cain Hoy stable colt who upset Alfred Vandrbilt's Native Dancer in the Kentucky Derby May 2, traveled half a mile in 48 seconds soon after a heavy thunderstorm swept the track. Native Dancer came out later for a leisurely two-mile gallop. He had worked a sensational three-quarters yesterday in 1:11 3-5.

There was talk of the other candidates, but most of the conjecture around this steamed up Maryland metropolis was whether Native Dancer would win the Preakness and get even with Dark Star for the Derby defeat—the only one in the Dancer's career.

35,000 To See Race

A crowd of some 35,000 is expected to see the race, plus countless others on the coast-to-coast television network, or hear it on radio. The broadcast (CBS) will be from 4:30-5 p.m. (EST).

Others in the mile and 3-16ths classic are Eugene Constantin Jr.'s Royal Bay Gem, winner of the Preakness Prep over Dark Star Monday; Jim Norris' Jamie K., winner of two straight races in New York recently; Ben Whitaker's Tahitian King, who took the Swift Stakes at Belmont Park May 11; Mrs. Gordon Guiberson's Correspondent; and Bruce Campbell's Ram O'War.

Most odds-makers figured Native Dancer would be 3 to 5 in the betting, but the track program handicapper made it 4 to 5, with Dark Star 4 to 1 and Royal Bay Gem 6 to 1.

May Face Minus Pool

The track management is shuddering at the thought of a minus pool, with a probable heavy play in the place and show betting on the Dancer. In the Wood Memorial at Jamaica in April there was a combined minus place and show pool of some $25,000 when Native Dancer won. Ditto last week at Belmont, when the big gray streak made the track dig down for more than $2,400. There was betting to win only there as the Dancer copped the Withers Mile, his 12th victory in 13 starts.

Registered Shoot Scheduled Sunday At Ridgeley Traps

The Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club will stage its fourth registered trapshooting tournament of the season Sunday at its traps on the Frankfort Road.

Tony Francis, chairman, announces that the program, scheduled to get under way at noon, will comprise 100 16-yard targets, 50 handicap and 25 pairs of doubles.

Carlton Stair Retains Lead In Bi-State

Charlton Stair, of Hyndman High School, is still showing the way in the Bi-State Conference batting race with an average of .517.

The leader has collected 15 hits in 29 trips to the plate.

Tommy Richards of Beall High is the runner-up with an average of .500 for 19 hits in 38 official at bats.

Other top hitters rank in the following order: Eirich, Allegany .441; Stickley, Fort Hill .412; Clem, Bruce .393; Walsh, Mt. Savage .385; Spiker, Central .381; Murray, Beall .378; Blank, Mt. Savage .367; G. Stair, Hyndman .357; Kirtley, Allegany .351 and Carter, Mt. Savage .350.

Lefty Lou Hite, of Hyndman, leads the pitchers with a 7-2 (.778) record. Ronnie Connolly of LaSalle is 3-1 followed by Brodie, Central 5-2; Richards, Beall 6-3, and Iser, Allegany, 4-2.

Romney High Qualifies For State Games

Pioneers Eliminate Harpers Ferry, 5-1

ROMNEY, W. Va., May 22 — Romney High School's Pioneers qualified for the West Virginia state baseball tournament at Parkersburg May 28, 29 and 30 by defeating Harpers Ferry High School here today for the Region Four championship by the score of 5-1.

Joe Ely, Pioneers' ace righthander, was at top form and turned back the Jefferson countians with two scratch hits — infield singles by Willingham and Horn in the fifth inning.

Jamison limited Romney to six hits and fanned 11 but was given poor support by his mates who were charged with field fielding miscues.

Phil Adams accounted for two of the winners' six safeties.

Clabaugh, left fielder of Harpers Ferry, turned in the fielding gem when he made a shoestring catch of a drive from Eddie Hartman's bat, took a tumble and came up with the ball.

Romney will play the Region No. 8 winner in the second game of a night twin bill at Parkersburg on Thursday, May 28. Box:

Giants Capture Sixth Straight

Jim Hearn Is Victor Over Brooklyn, 5-1

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—Jim Hearn, knocked out seven times in a row this season, came back today to pitch the New York Giants to their sixth straight victory, 5-1, over Brooklyn, with a route-going seven hitter.

The Giants' righthander helped nail this one down with a two-run double in the fourth inning.

Jimmy Davis Of Keyser High Wins Batting Title In PVC

Outfielder Hit .519; Wolford Is Runner-Up; Three Post 4-0 Marks

Jimmy Davis, Keyser High School outfielder, won the batting championship of the Potomac Valley Conference for the 1953 season with an average of .519.

The leader collected 14 hits in 27 times at bat in the ten games played by the Golden Tornado.

Keith Wolford, who figured in all of Romney's 13 contests, was the runner-up with .488 while Randall Raines, of Moorefield High's champs, was third with .484.

Wolford was the circuit's leading run getter with 25 tallies and was tied by Phil Adams, a teammate, for total hits—21.

Three pitchers posted 4-0 records. They were Randall Raines, Moorefield; Wendell Ullery, Capon Bridge, and Bobby Wilson, of Moorefield.

The conference strikeout king was Paul Teter, of Circleville High, who whiffed 65. Jimmy Kessel of Petersburg was the runner-up with 57 victims. The final averages:

Bosox Win Twin Bill

Defeat Philadelphia In Pair Of 3-2 Tilts

BOSTON, May 22 (AP) — After providing unbeaten southpaw Mel Parnell with his sixth victory in regular time, the Boston Red Sox swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics by twin 3-2 scores today when Sammy White doubled in Hoot Evers with one out in the 12th session of the nightcap.

Carl Scheib, the fourth of the Athletics' second game pitchers, set the stage for White's game winning clout down the left field line by passing Evers and George Kell.

Kell, the American League's batting leader, gave Parnell robust support by homering in the third inning and singling in the winning run in the eighth.

The Red Sox also needed four flingers during the second game, which wound up under the lights. One of them was veteran Ellis Kinder, who had to spell Parnell in the ninth of the opener.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, May 22—(INS)—The Woodlawn Vase, a small replica of which goes to the owner of the Preakness winner, is beyond all doubt the loveliest, most exquisitely beautiful trophy in all the world of sport.

It is the oldest and most famous of all American sports trophies and a marvelous example of the silversmith's art.

It actually is beyond price for no amount of money could buy the vase any more than the Pope's tiara or the crown jewels of England could be bought.

We feel sure that Alf Vanderbilt whose great colt Native Dancer is favored to win the 77th running of the $100,000 Preakness at Pimlico tomorrow would rather have even the replica of the vase than the $100,000.

The vase was made by Tiffany for Col. R. A. Alexander of Kentucky in 1860 and buried during the late unpleasantness between the states to keep it out of the hands of the Damyanks who, it was felt, might have melted it to make bullets.

It was dug up after the war and changed hands several times until it finally landed where it belongs—at Pimlico—where the best three year olds in the country will strive to earn its replica over the mile and three-sixteenths route tomorrow.

The Preakness, as you are undoubtedly well aware, is the second tier, in the triple crown of the turf, the other two being the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes.

The round bowl of the Belmont, surmounted by a mounted jockey, and the slender cup of the Kentucky Derby, are gorgeous pieces buf neither can compare with the Woodlawn Vase, pride of the Maryland Jockey Club.

By the way, the Maryland Jockey Club was founded 210 years ago and one of its early patrons was a lad named George Washington, who, since British currency was then in use, used to make his bets in shillings. It may be that the future father of his country to be went for a few pounds.

Later we find President Andrew Jackson betting at the old track at Annapolis accompanied by a future President named Martin Van Burean, both firm believers in improving the breed via the betting ring.

Many great horses have won the Preakness, including Man O' War and peerless Eddie Arcaro has won four of them aboard Whirlaway, Hill Prince, Citation and Bold.

Eddie will be striving for his fifth Preakness winner tomorrow aboard Jim (Mr. Boxing) Norris' Jamie K.

It is doubtful that Eddie will get anything except a grand view of the race for against him will be such top-flight horses as Native Dancer, Royal Bay Gem, Dark Star and Correspondent.

Yes, we fear that after the band has rendered There's A Girl In The Heart Of Maryland, Maryland, My Maryland, and Dixie—three Maryland "musts"—Eddie will get no more than a close-up view of the Woodlawn Vase and the phony black-eyed susans wreathed around the neck of Eric Guerin aboard Native Dancer in the winner's circle.

A pair of two-run homers by Ted Durbin and a round tripper by Sam Brady accounted for five runs as the Cumberland Outdoor Club handed the B. P. O. Elks their first defeat of the season in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday at Allegany Field. The score was 7-3.

Durbin hit four-baggers in the first and third frames with a mate aboard. Brady got a double in addition to his four-master. "Bubbles" Whiteman had three hits in three trips for the Elks.

Jim Gaffney pitched the Amvets to their fifth consecutive victory over the Knights of Columbus, who dropped their sixth in a row at Penn Avenue Field, 6-3.

In bagging his fifth straight pitching triumph, Gaffney yielded only three hits and banged a triple. The scores:

Heafner Grabs Leadership In Colonial Golf

Posts 4-Under-Par 66, Bolt Breaks His Clubs

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 22 (AP)—Massive Clayton Heafner shot his greatest round in the Colonial National Invitation golf tournament today—a four-under-par 66 that was just one stroke over the competitive course record — to bound into first place at the halfway mark with 140 for 36 holes.

The 250-pound blonde from Charlotte, N. C., in semi-retirement from competition after 18 years of campaigning took over from brilliantly erratic Tommy Bolt of Maplewood, N. J., who was the first round leader with a 67. Bolt soared sky-high today and reverted to his old club-throwing ways.

Bolt Breaks Clubs

Bolt wound up with a depleted golf bag and 11 over par. His 81 gave him 148 and put him far down the list. Bolt threw clubs and broke clubs. On No. 15 he broke two across his knee and pitched them over the fence. He threw one club so far the boys speculated if it wasn't a world's record and he hurled his ball into a creek on another hole.

Generally, however, the scores were all lower in this $25,000 tournament whose 7,035-yard course is a threatening challenge all the way.

The big man from the South had eight one-putt greens.

Edging into second place was little Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., who had a 70—the third player of the day to best par. Skip Alexander of St. Petersburg, Fla., was the other. He had a 68.

Barber brought his total to 143—three strokes back of Heafner.

Hogan Tied For Third

Ben Hogan of Palm Springs, Calif., the tournament favorite, had a 71 today to go with his opening day 73 and was in a tie for third place. Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., another of the top-rated men, shot himself well down the list with a 76.

Five Schools Vie Tonight At Stadium

Fort Hill To Hold Seventh Invitation Meet At 8 O'Clock

Athletes of five schools—Handley High of Winchester, Va., and Frederick, Allegany, Beall and Fort Hill of Maryland—will participate in the seventh annual Fort Hill High School Invitational Track and Field Meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Fort Hill Stadium.

Fort Hill is the defending champion, having won the meet six years in a row, but the Sentinels are expecting the competition to be much keener than in past years.

The first event on the program will be the high hurdles while four relays should serve as a fitting climax.

Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School, will present a trophy to the winning team. Ribbons will go to all place winners. The scoring will be 5-3-2-1 points for individual events and 10-6-4-2 for the relays.

William P. Hahn will be the director of the meet. Other officials will be Foy A. Curry, referee; Joe Pellerzi, clerk of the course; Eugene Hopkins, starter; Mal Campbell, announcer; William Orndorff, Clifton Van Roby, Eddie Diehl, "Buck" Morehead, Walter L. Bowers, "Ike" Smith, and John J. Cavanaugh, finish judges and timers; John McVicker, Jim Gaffney, Carlton Lapp, Joe Wagner, Ray Lapp, Arthur Davis, Walter Orndorff, Robert Young, William McProuty, Robert Bigler and Charles Bryce, field judges.

Bucs Option Waugh

PITTSBURGH, May 22 (AP)—Jim Waugh, 19-year-old righthanded pitcher, was optioned today by the Pittsburgh Pirates to Burlington, N. C., of the Class B Carolina League.

Waugh appeared only in relief this season and has no record. He won one and lost six with the Pirates in 1952 after posting a 4-9 record with Charleston, S. C., in the Sally League.

John Miller Becomes 18th Mibs Champ

Beats Eddie Miller At Virginia Avenue

John Miller won the Virginia Avenue marbles championship yesterday over Eddie Miller (no relative) by one point. With each a winner of a game, the deciding finals tilt was won by John after each had knocked six marbles out of the ring. Eddie Miller was the runnerup last year at Humbird School.

In the semifinals were David Gross, Carl Saville, Billy Kline, Allen Miller, James Perry and Harold Sirbaugh.

With 18 school champs now on the list, only four more are due to be added. East Side finals are scheduled for Monday; Allegany Wednesday; Penn Avenue Thursday, and Gephart School next Friday.

The 22 Cumberland area champs will shoot it out June 2 at the Gephart Playground for the marbles championship that carries with it a week's free trip to Asbury Park, N. J. during the National Marbles Tournament June 14—19.

Yankees Given 12-4 Walloping By Washington

Bob Porterfield Bags 5th Straight Victory

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The Washington Senators handed the New York Yankees a humiliating 12 to 4 defeat today, raking Allie Reynolds for five runs in the first inning and adding the final insult by ending the game with a triple play.

A sparse crowd of 4,774 watched the Senators go on an 18-hit rampage, their biggest batting spree of the season.

They watched plenty more. For instance:

1. Johnny Mize, the veteran first baseman of the New York Yankees, set a new American League record by hitting safely in his fifth straight pinch hitting assignment.

2. Mickey Vernon, Washington first baseman, stretched his batting streak to 16 straight games.

3. Clyde Vollmer walloped a home run and double to drive in five runs, moving him nearer the top in RBIs in the league with 26.

4. Bob Porterfield, the castoff Yankee pitcher, won his fifth straight game, adding two hits to the Washington attack.

The biggest whoop went up in the ninth though after the Yanks had scored a run and put runners on first and second with nobody out.

Irv Noren whacked a wicked liner right at Porterfield who grabbed it on the fly and threw to Mickey Vernon to double pinch runner Art Schult off first. Vernon's fast relay to Pete Runnels caught Andy Carey trying to scramble back to second to complete the triple play.

Farrady Post's team will practice today at 10 a. m. at the Frostburg Ball Park. Pictures of the players will be taken as they must be accompanied with their contracts.

Bruce High Snaps Hyndman's 8-Game Victory Streak, 6-5

LaSalle Defeats AHS, 10-6; Mt. Savage And Central Score Wins

Two winning streaks came to an abrupt halt yesterday when Coach Augie Eichhorn's Bruce High nine snapped Hyndman High's eight-game string and also the 7-game winning skein of Lefty Lou Hite as the Bulldogs knocked off the Bi-State Conference leaders at Westernport to the tune of 6-5.

The setback reduced Hyndman's lead to 1½ games over the runner-up Beall High team which was idle yesterday.

To Dave Marple went the credit for stopping the Pennsylvanians for the first time since April 15 when they dropped the season opener to Fort Hill. The Bruce hurler yielded six hits and struck out eight batsmen to notch his 4th win against three losses. The loss was Hite's second against seven triumphs.

Eddie Scheermesser's timely two-base wallop scored Bobby Snyder with the run that decided the contest in the final inning. Snyder had singled and pilfered second before Scheermesser delivered the payoff blow.

Hyndman had tied the score in the top of the 7th when Snyder's wild heave home with the bases loaded enabled the visitors to score two runs.

Marvin Clem paced the Bruce hitters with a triple and two singles. G. Stair garnered two of Hyndman's six safeties.

Blank Beats Sentinels

Bobby Blank and Mt. Savage High School gave Fort Hill a severe jolt by spilling the Sentinels on their home field by the score of 7-4.

Coach Johnny Thomas' aggregation belted local pitchers for 11 safeties while Fort Hill was credited with 10 blows that were well scattered by Blank who struck out 11 batsmen.

McGregor and Stickley shared six of Fort Hill's blows while Walsh, Carter, Blank, Kenny and Winebrenner had two hits each for Mt. Savage. Blank and Stickley hit for the circuit.

Carter's catch of Burke's drive in right-center was the fielding highlight.

LaSalle Sweeps Series

LaSalle High's Explorers made a sweep of their two-game series with Allegany by whipping the Campers at Stitcher Field to the tune of 10-6.

Coach Al Martin's team set what could be a league record by registering its fourth straight triumph in five days. The victory moved the Explorers into fourth place with a 6-5 mark.

Hugh Nolan, who pitched the first 5 2-3 innings received credit for the win, his third against two losses. Harry Iser suffered his second defeat against four victories.

Conroy of LaSalle and Hoffman of Allegany topped the stickers with two hits each.

Central Wins in 8th

Central High's Tigers retained third place by winning an extra inning battle from Flintstone High's Aggies at Barton, 2 to 1.

It was the third overtime game in which the Orange and Black had engaged this season and the second with the Aggies.

Ellis Fazenbaker's single over second base in the 8th frame scored Eddie Getson with the run that broke a 1-1 deadlock and gave Jack Brodie the verdict over Kent Lough in a pitching duel. Getson opened the inning by being hit by pitcher and advanced to second on Bill Turnbull's sacrifice prior to Fazenbaker's winning wallop.

In posting his 5th win against two defeats Brodie fanned 11 to up his season's total to 65. Lough struck out eight.

Claget McAlister notched his 7th straight pitching triumph of the County Softball League season as Central Lunch made it eight in a row at the expense of the Sports Shoppe yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 5-3.

Charley Crabtree and McAlister shared four of the winners' eight hits while Fred Comer and Bill Thompson had two hits each for the Sports Shoppe. Don Crabtree's throw that cut down Fred Comer who attempted to score on a hit to the outfield was the fielding highlight.

Cunningham's Grocery beat Stringtown, 7-5, and Potomac Valley's Cubs downed Zihlman, 8-0, to remain deadlocked for the runner-up spot.

Russ Miller posted his fifth win for Cunningham's. Luttrell and Reuschel slammed homers for the winners and Gerald Stair rapped a double and single for Stringtown.

Hayden Phillips made his record 5-0 for the season in the Cubs' triumph over Zihlman. He yielded one hit, a single by J. Goss in the 7th inning. "Speed" Hanna paced the Cubs at the plate with a double and single.

Investigative Procedure Of Police Authorities Is Probed At Hearing

Del. Whitworth Attacks Detention Of Suspects At Civil Rights Probe

Del. Horace P. Whiteworth, Jr., of Westernport, attacked, and State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher defended the methods used by investigating officers in the Odessa Meister murder case as the special investigating committee of the Legislative Council opened its probe into holding by Allegany County authorities of Charles Burkett, local painter, in connection with the case.

The hearing, held in Hagerstown, was called by State Senator David K. McLaughlin, chairman, and was the outgrowth of a suggestion by Del. Whitworth for an investigation on the rights authorities have in holding a person for questioning.

Purpose Explained

Senator McLaughlin opened the hearing by outlining the committee's purpose. He said it is a specific group appointed by the Legislative Council and has limited functions.

"It is not the purpose of the committee to criticize or place anyone on trial, but to hear evidence, make investigation, report to the council with suggested remedial legislation, if it is felt there is a need, he explained.

The Legislative Council, he went on, carried out the request of Del. Whitworth in making a suggestion of an investigation by (1) study, (2) a hearing, and (3) recommendations.

No crime is being investigated by the committee, he stated.

"The committee, and I, personally, resent any implication of a whitewash. There is nothing to whitewash. We are not the jury or judge," he declared.

"The committee wants to hear anyone with any knowledge of the subject under consideration," McLaughlin continued.

"The use of the 'No Whitewash' headline before the committee even met was an indictment of the committee. The hearing is for the purpose of determining whether any rights were violated.

"Criticism before the meeting was unfair. The committee has no intention of doing anything but hearing facts," McLaughlin declared.

Whitworth First Witness

Del. Whitworth was the first witness. He opened his statement by explaining that his reasons for asking for the investigation and study were based on principles and not personalities.

"I have the greatest respect for police officers and state's attorneys all over Maryland, but I am convinced that during the past ten years there has been a slow, creeping hacking away and possible abuse of civil rights without the intent to do so.

"However, authorities in some instances have taken away individuals' liberties and violated constitutional rights by holding them incommunicado without the knowledge of their friends, families or attorneys," Whitworth charged.

"As a member of the legislature and as a lawyer, it is my duty to help preserve constitutional liberties. I may be prejudiced, but I am especially interested in the problem."

Police Should Comply

Whitworth stated he believed law enforcement authorities should make reasonable compliance with the established rules.

He then quoted Article Four and Article Six of the Declaration of Rights in the Maryland Constitution.

"Article Four—That the people of this state have the sole right of regulating the internal government and police thereof, as a free, sovereign and independent state.

"Article Six — That all persons invested wtih the legislative or executive powers of government are the trustees of the public, and as such, accountable for their conduct: Wherefore, wherever the ends of government are perverted, and public liberty manifestly endangered, and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may, and of right ought, to reform the old, or establish a new government; the doctrine of non-resistance against arbitrary power and oppression is absurd, slavish and destructive of the good and happiness to mankind."

Whitworth then observed that he believes the committee will conduct an impartial investigation.

He also referred to Article 23 of the Maryland Bill of Rights which reads:

"That no man ought to be taken or imprisoned or disseized of his freehold, liberties or privileges, or outlawed, or exiled, or, in any manner, destroyed or deprived of his life, liberty or property, but by the judgment of his peers, or by the Law of Land."

Problem Statewide

Whitworth pointed out that the phrase "judgment of his peers," does not mean the opinion of a police officer or a state's attorney.

The problem is not a local one in Allegany County but is statewide, Whitworth added. He cited that in Baltimore a number of years ago newspapers, assisted by former Judge Joseph Sherbow, succeeded in breaking up certain police practices.

The Allegany county delegate said he hoped Judge Sherbow would be asked to appear before the committee, and said the Baltimore attorney is willing to speak.

Whitworth added that in Baltimore the practice of taking prisoners from jail to jail without being booked was clearly unconstitutional. By the present Baltimore ordinance, it is necessary to take a prisoner to the nearest station house, he pointed out.

However, there is no statute law along these lines for all of Maryland, Whitworth declared.

The federal government, he explained, recognized the need for such a law and under its rules a prisoner must be taken to the nearest committing magistrate without delay.

Gap In State Law

"There is a gap in the state law," he charged. If the committee thinks there have been abuses of civil rights, then there is a need for legislation," he observed.

"Sherbow has stated, and I concur, that any abuse of civil rights should be made a crime by statute," Whitworth continued.

Whitworth explained that he made his request to the Legislative Council because the press in Allegany County had printed in certain instances that the state's attorney and police officers held persons for investigation without charges being filed.

"They (the authorities) think they are doing the right thing, but it is not right," he exclaimed.

"When a man is arrested without a warrant, he can only be held a reasonable length of time until authorities obtain a warrant or take the man before a magistrate," Whitworth continued.

Should Investigate First

"Authorities should investigate first—if they think they have necessary evidence they should make an arrest, then present the prisoner before a magistrate and book him," he declared.

There is no law, Whitworth said, that he knows of in Maryland that allows authorities to hold a prisoner for investigation without a definite charge.

At this point McLaughlin interrupted to ask Whitworth if the Court of Appeals of Maryland has ruled on this issue.

Whitworth answered that the high court ruled 72 hours was "a reasonable length of time," but other courts and the United States Supreme Court have ruled differently.

Whitworth referred to a Texas case where a man had been held three days. The conviction was set aside on a similar issue, he stated.

Don't Know Rights

Whitworth contended that a man has "a right to be booked, not only for public information, but for his own protection. With his name on the docket he can't just disappear. Guilty or not, he is still a citizen."

In many instances, the arrested persons do not know of their rights and are afraid of reprisals, he charged.

Whitworth also asked the committee to find out why the Allegany County Bar Association on August 20, 1951, passed a resolution condemning the practice of the state's attorney holding prisoners incommunicado.

In answer to a question by the chairman, Whitworth explained that the two judges of the Circuit Court here answered the Bar Association by advising them to take the individual cases up when the prisoner comes to trial. The judges said they had no jurisdiction over the state's attorney in this instance.

Whitworth also suggested the committee call before it former Chief Judge Charles E. Markell of the Court of Appeals, and James Hepbron, director of the Criminal Justice Commission.

Whitworth pointed out that since Christmas six persons have been held in the County Jail "For Investigation," according to the sheriff's register.

Wants Reporters Heard

There seems to be a conflict of facts in the Burkett instance, the Westernport man said, adding that he felt reporters on the case should be invited by the committee to be heard.

McLaughlin commented: "They have."

Whitworth also stated that when Burkett was let out of jail he was released in the custody of his attorney, Harold M. Naughton.

"Does the state's attorney have the power to say who shall leave the state?" he asked.

"There is no such law giving him that authority," he contended.

"It is not right to take prisoners to hotel rooms secretly, and to go so far as to take persons out of the county, whisked away to points where they have no friends," Whitworth continued.

Start Of "Police State"

They may be guilty, but there is no excuse for it, he said. There must be some protection against a police action, he continued.

This situation is the "embryo of a police state," he charged.

"Police are taking, little by little, more freedom away from citizens, and some day we'll wake up to find we have no freedom."

Whitworth pointed out that the police docket at the City Jail has in one instance a notation alongside the name of a man booked "For Investigation"—"Subject is to talk to no one."

Beside another being held "For Investigation," he said, there is this note, "Leave no one see him."

Whitworth explained that he believes the police believe they are within the law to do such things, but he said he believes if there is not sufficient evidence to book a man, he should be released.

Del. Thomas F. Dempsey, of Baltimore, a member of the committee, asked whether police should have some period of time in which to hold prisoners incommunicado.

Whitworth answered, "Not one hour. It could happen to the lowest vagrant, and also to you."

Comment Brings Laugh

Whitworth maintained that a man arrested has the right to have an attorney immediately. McLaughlin asked: "What would you tell the man if you were an attorney?"

Whitworth said "I'd tell him to tell the truth."

McLaughlin observed: "Such an attorney would not get many cases."

This comment brought a laugh from the 25 spectators.

The Allegany countian contended that once these rights are taken away, there will be a police state. Maryland should guard against this, he said.

"In most cases the people arrested have no money," he explained. "If such cases were appealed the convictions obtained by confessions in hotel rooms and other such places would not stand, under the Supreme Court."

There isn't one person in 100 who can afford to take an appeal to the Supreme Court, Whitworth stated.

Mother Sought Son

He mentioned the mother of John Humes, one of the boys arrested in connection with the Westernport arson cases, who sent him a letter telling of the trouble she had tracing her son after he was taken into custody.

The state's attorney's office said Humes was at the County Jail, and attaches at the County Jail said he was at the state's attorney's office, Whitworth stated.

He was finally located in a hotel room making a confession, Whitworth added. The confession was probably correct but the youth's rights were jeopardized, he continued.

The innocent can suffer along with the guilty, he declared.

Allegany County is not the first instance where such things have happened, and the situation is bad for the welfare of the state as a whole, he concluded.

Press Makes Statement

When McLaughlin asked if the press wanted to make a statement, A. Trago Brust, managing editor of The Cumberland News, read the following:

"We appreciate the invitation you have just extended to us to present testimony at today's hearing.

"Your investigation into the subject of prisoners being held incommunicado by law enforcement authorities, with possible remedial legislation in mind, is a topic which touches on the equal rights of all citizens as set forth in the Constitution.

"Inasmuch as we did not receive prior invitation and were given to understand that we were not to testify today, we feel that we are not prepared to do so.

"We feel certain that this committee which is investigating the equal rights and treatment of all citizens will recognize the fact that under the circumstances we have not been given an equal opportunity to prepare testimony.

"If we are invited to testify on this subject at a later date we shall be happy to comply. We do feel, however, that we should be allowed as much time to prepare our testimony as was granted those persons who are here by invitation."

The statement was signed "A. T. Brust Jr., managing editor, The Cumberland News," and "T. Donald Shires, city editor, Cumberland Evening Times."

McLaughlin said that the statement by the press was incorrect. "I told Mr. Finan (Thomas B.), attorney for the Times-News papers, by telephone last Friday that the committee would be glad to hear anyone."

Finan arose to say that McLaughlin told him that the committee had not planned on hearing anyone except those persons already listed.

"McLaughlin told me that he felt the press did not have any facts in which the committee would be interested," he added.

"I further recall that you (McLaughlin) mentioned the full agenda for the day would use testimony from that list.

"However, you said that if the press felt it wanted to say something, and that if there was no difference of opinion the committee would be glad to hear the press at a later date."

McLaughlin countered with the assertion that "Didn't I say that the committee wanted to hear anyone? I felt that the press would be here. The invitation may have been qualified, but the press was welcome to come."

Fletcher Gives Version

Fletcher then followed in giving his version in the matter at hand.

"I have no prepared statement but can give certain facts. No civil rights were violated insofar as the state's attorney's office or officers were concerned during the investigation of Burkett.

"We questioned Burkett and everything has been done with his full knowledge, permission and consent. In fact, he cooperated. Burkett was given two polygraph tests. It might be noted that a person must be willing or cooperative or the tests would be of no avail."

At this point Fletcher said he understood that the Burkett case was the only one to be considered at the hearing.

(This was a reference to previous testimony by Whitworth concerning other persons involved with law officials in this county).

He then gave a brief accounting of the procedures followed in each of these cases.

"Burkett was asked if he would submit to a lie detector test," Fletcher said. "It was arranged to have a lie detector test given here in Hagerstown by Grayson Wigfield, a detective with the Hagerstown Police Department.

Tells Of Questioning

"Burkett was not questioned until the morning of April 17, and at that time, he was talked to for three and one-half hours. He made certain admissions and later changed his statements. A second lie detector test was given at Hagerstown as it was thought this would speed up the procedure.

"I sent Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, to the Burkett home to advise his wife that he was being taken to Hagerstown. This is no 'Gestapo' operation. The authorities were performing their duty within the limitations of the law. The second test resulted in damaging reactions from Burkett.

"Burkett left Hagerstown after the test at 10:30 a. m. on April 18. He was taken to the Allegany County Infirmary, his wife notified of that fact and told she could see him. At 2:30 the same day she did go to the Infirmary detention quarters to see her husband.

"The following Monday Mrs. Burkett came to my office and said she wanted to see her husband. At no time did either the husband or wife indicate he was being mistreated. They did not ask for an attorney but they could have had one if they asked."

Fletcher said he was willing to disclose anything or answer any question without endangering the Meister murder probe.

Burkett Picked Up

McLaughlin then asked for a chronological listing in the Burkett case.

Fletcher said: "Early in April a service station attendant was told by Burkett that he 'knew where Odessa Meister had been murdered, and it was not at the place where the body had been found.' On April 16 at 7:30 p. m. Lieut. James Van and Detective Leo E. P. Law went to the Burkett home and brought him to my office."

At this point Fletcher commented that murder is a felony and a person can be taken into custody if he is a suspect.

"Mrs. Burkett was at the home when the two officers went for Burkett and was told he was being taken to the state's attorney's office. Mrs. Burkett commented to the officers at the time that 'it was probably in connection with the Meister case'.

"Burkett was told of his constitutional rights. He did not look like much of a suspect. At this time the investigation was more like a conversation without much questioning. He said he did not know Mrs. Meister, did not know his wife worked in a night club owned by an uncle of Mrs. Meister, but did say he went there most every night to get his wife. That looked odd."

Questioned 11 Hours

Fletcher then stated: "In the six days and seven nights that Burkett was held, he was questioned a total of 11 hours.

"On the night (he was arrested, April 16) he was taken to the state's attorney's office and while waiting for the lie detector test Detective Law took him to a movie to put in time and keep him calm for the test."

Dempsey then asked Fletcher: "If a person is suspected of a crime, what procedure is followed?"

Fletcher replied that there is "no booking law in Allegany County or the rest of the state (outside of Baltimore City)."

He said that "authorities can take in the person for questioning and do not need a warrant in advance unless they are sure of the information they have obtained."

Fletcher then followed with, "if in questioning, the person admits the charge or we have reason to believe the person guilty, then we take him to jail on a warrant."

Then Fletcher stated, "We don't operate in the manner in which the papers make it appear."

He then pointed out that there is no such charge of "suspicion of murder or robbery."

Again Fletcher repeated in his testimony that there is "no booking requirement."

Fletcher mentioned the newspapers again and after noting some headlines of interest, said that men from a paper entered the basement of the building in which his office was located, talked to an elderly janitor and asked about an auto seat. They then took a picture of the seat and it appeared in the paper.

(The seat in question was the one taken from Burkett's car then sent to Baltimore and tested for blood stains.)

Fletcher added that the two representatives of the press who entered the building did so without permission.

Sen. McLaughlin told Fletcher the committee was not interested in hearing criticism directed at any party.

Another question, this time by Richard E. Lankford (Annapolis) directed at Fletcher was: "Is it usually customary in Allegany county to release prisoners in custody of their attorney?"

Fletcher retorted, "No, it is very unusual."

The state's attorney then quoted several opinions and rulings to justify the action before completing his testimony.

O'Conor To Give Graduation Address At Mt. St. Mary's

HERBERT R. O'CONOR

Former U. S. Senator Herbert R. O'Conor will deliver the principal address to the graduating class at the 145th annual commencement of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Wednesday, June 3.

The ceremonies will begin at 10:30 a. m. in the Memorial Gymnasium of the college and O'Conor will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the commencement exercises.

A native of Baltimore, O'Conor was graduated from Loyola College with an A. B. degree in 1917 and later received his LL.B from the University of Maryland in 1920. He was admitted to the Maryland bar in 1919 and began his law practice in Baltimore that year.

He served as assistant state's attorney in Baltimore in 1921-22, state's attorney from 1922 to 1934, attorney general of Maryland from 1935 to 1939, governor of Maryland from 1939 to 1947 and as U. S. Senator from Maryland from 1947 through 1952.

He was one of two Senators to hold memberships on five major committees in the 82nd Congress and was particularly active in the drafting of internal security and displaced persons laws. He served as chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee and was a member of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

Since his retirement from political life in 1952 he has continued to practice law in Baltimore.

Investigative Procedure Of Police Authorities Is Probed At Hearing

Del. Whitworth Attacks Detention Of Suspects At Civil Rights Probe

Del. Horace P. Whiteworth, Jr., of Westernport, attacked, and State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher defended the methods used by investigating officers in the Odessa Meister murder case as the special investigating committee of the Legislative Council opened its probe into holding by Allegany County authorities of Charles Burkett, local painter, in connection with the case.

The hearing, held in Hagerstown, was called by State Senator David K. McLaughlin, chairman, and was the outgrowth of a suggestion by Del. Whitworth for an investigation on the rights authorities have in holding a person for questioning.

Purpose Explained

Senator McLaughlin opened the hearing by outlining the committee's purpose. He said it is a specific group appointed by the Legislative Council and has limited functions.

"It is not the purpose of the committee to criticize or place anyone on trial, but to hear evidence, make investigation, report to the council with suggested remedial legislation, if it is felt there is a need, he explained.

The Legislative Council, he went on, carried out the request of Del. Whitworth in making a suggestion of an investigation by (1) study, (2) a hearing, and (3) recommendations.

No crime is being investigated by the committee, he stated.

"The committee, and I, personally, resent any implication of a whitewash. There is nothing to whitewash. We are not the jury or judge," he declared.

"The committee wants to hear anyone with any knowledge of the subject under consideration," McLaughlin continued.

"The use of the 'No Whitewash' headline before the committee even met was an indictment of the committee. The hearing is for the purpose of determining whether any rights were violated.

"Criticism before the meeting was unfair. The committee has no intention of doing anything but hearing facts," McLaughlin declared.

Whitworth First Witness

Del. Whitworth was the first witness. He opened his statement by explaining that his reasons for asking for the investigation and study were based on principles and not personalities.

"I have the greatest respect for police officers and state's attorneys all over Maryland, but I am convinced that during the past ten years there has been a slow, creeping hacking away and possible abuse of civil rights without the intent to do so.

"However, authorities in some instances have taken away individuals' liberties and violated constitutional rights by holding them incommunicado without the knowledge of their friends, families or attorneys," Whitworth charged.

"As a member of the legislature and as a lawyer, it is my duty to help preserve constitutional liberties. I may be prejudiced, but I am especially interested in the problem."

Police Should Comply

Whitworth stated he believed law enforcement authorities should make reasonable compliance with the established rules.

He then quoted Article Four and Article Six of the Declaration of Rights in the Maryland Constitution.

"Article Four—That the people of this state have the sole right of regulating the internal government and police thereof, as a free, sovereign and independent state.

"Article Six — That all persons invested wtih the legislative or executive powers of government are the trustees of the public, and as such, accountable for their conduct: Wherefore, wherever the ends of government are perverted, and public liberty manifestly endangered, and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may, and of right ought, to reform the old, or establish a new government; the doctrine of nonresistance against arbitrary power and oppression is absurd, slavish and destructive of the good and happiness to mankind."

Whitworth then observed that he believes the committee will conduct an impartial investigation.

He also referred to Article 23 of the Maryland Bill of Rights which reads:

"That no man ought to be taken or imprisoned or disseized of his freehold, liberties or privileges, or outlawed, or exiled, or, in any manner, destroyed or deprived of his life, liberty or property, but by the judgment of his peers, or by the Law of Land."

Problem Statewide

Whitworth pointed out that the phrase "judgment of his peers," does not mean the opinion of a police officer or a state's attorney.

The problem is not a local one in Allegany County but is statewide, Whitworth added. He cited that in Baltimore a number of years ago newspapers, assisted by former Judge Joseph Sherbow, succeeded in breaking up certain police practices.

The Allegany county delegate said he hoped Judge Sherbow would be asked to appear before the committee, and said the Baltimore attorney is willing to speak.

Whitworth added that in Baltimore the practice of taking prisoners from jail to jail without being booked was clearly unconstitutional. By the present Baltimore ordinance, it is necessary to take a prisoner to the nearest station house, he pointed out.

However, there is no statute law along these lines for all of Maryland, Whitworth declared.

The federal government, he explained, recognized the need for such a law and under its rules a prisoner must be taken to the nearest committing magistrate without delay.

Gap In State Law

"There is a gap in the state law," he charged. If the committee thinks there have been abuses of civil rights, then there is a need for legislation," he observed.

"Sherbow has stated, and I concur, that any abuse of civil rights should be made a crime by statute," Whitworth continued.

Whitworth explained that he made his request to the Legislative Council because the press in Allegany County had printed in certain instances that the state's attorney and police officers held persons for investigation without charges being filed.

"They (the authorities) think they are doing the right thing, but it is not right," he exclaimed.

"When a man is arrested without a warrant, he can only be held a reasonable length of time until authorities obtain a warrant or take the man before a magistrate," Whitworth continued.

Should Investigate First

"Authorities should investigate first—if they think they have necessary evidence they should make an arrest, then present the prisoner before a magistrate and book him," he declared.

There is no law, Whitworth said, that he knows of in Maryland that allows authorities to hold a prisoner for investigation without a definite charge.

At this point McLaughlin interrupted to ask Whitworth if the Court of Appeals of Maryland has ruled on this issue.

Whitworth answered that the high court ruled 72 hours was "a reasonable length of time," but other courts and the United States Supreme Court have ruled differently.

Whitworth referred to a Texas case where a man had been held three days. The conviction was set aside on a similar issue, he stated.

Don't Know Rights

Whitworth contended that a man has "a right to be booked, not only for public information, but for his own protection. With his name on the docket he can't just disappear. Guilty or not, he is still a citizen."

In many instances, the arrested persons do not know of their rights and are afraid of reprisals, he charged.

Whitworth also asked the committee to find out why the Allegany County Bar Association on August 20, 1951, passed a resolution condemning the practice of the state's attorney holding prisoners incommunicado.

In answer to a question by the chairman, Whitworth explained that the two judges of the Circuit Court here answered the Bar Association by advising them to take the individual cases up when the prisoner comes to trial. The judges said they had no jurisdiction over the state's attorney in this instance.

Whitworth also suggested the committee call before it former Chief Judge Charles E. Markell of the Court of Appeals, and James Hepbron, director of the Criminal Justice Commission.

Whitworth pointed out that since Christmas six persons have been held in the County Jail "For Investigation," according to the sheriff's register.

Wants Reporters Heard

There seems to be a conflict of facts in the Burkett instance, the Westernport man said, adding that he felt reporters on the case should be invited by the committee to be heard.

McLaughlin commented: "They have."

Whitworth also stated that when Burkett was let out of jail he was released in the custody of his attorney, Harold M. Naughton.

"Does the state's attorney have the power to say who shall leave the state?" he asked.

"There is no such law giving him that authority," he contended.

"It is not right to take prisoners to hotel rooms secretly, and to go so far as to take persons out of the county, whisked away to points where they have no friends," Whitworth continued.

Start Of "Police State"

They may be guilty, but there is no excuse for it, he said. There must be some protection against a police action, he continued.

This situation is the "embryo of a police state," he charged.

"Police are taking, little by little, more freedom away from citizens, and some day we'll wake up to find we have no freedom."

Whitworth pointed out that the police docket at the City Jail has in one instance a notation alongside the name of a man booked "For Investigation"—"Subject is to talk to no one."

Beside another being held "For Investigation," he said, there is this note, "Leave no one see him."

Whitworth explained that he believes the police believe they are within the law to do such things, but he said he believes if there is not sufficient evidence to book a man, he should be released.

Del. Thomas F. Dempsey, of Baltimore, a member of the committee, asked whether police should have some period of time in which to hold prisoners incommunicado.

Whitworth answered, "Not one hour. It could happen to the lowest vagrant, and also to you."

Comment Brings Laugh

Whitworth maintained that a man arrested has the right to have an attorney immediately. McLaughlin asked: "What would you tell the man if you were an attorney?"

Whitworth said "I'd tell him to tell the truth."

McLaughlin observed: "Such an attorney would not get many cases."

This comment brought a laugh from the 25 spectators.

The Allegany countian contended that once these rights are taken away, there will be a police state. Maryland should guard against this, he said.

"In most cases the people arrested have no money," he explained. "If such cases were appealed the convictions obtained by confessions in hotel rooms and other such places would not stand, under the Supreme Court."

There isn't one person in 100 who can afford to take an appeal to the Supreme Court, Whitworth stated.

Mother Sought Son

He mentioned the mother of John Humes, one of the boys arrested in connection with the Westernport arson cases, who sent him a letter telling of the trouble she had tracing her son after he was taken into custody.

The state's attorney's office said Humes was at the County Jail, and attaehes at the County Jail said he was at the state's attorney's office, Whitworth stated.

He was finally located in a hotel room making a confession, Whitworth added. The confession was probably correct but the youth's rights were jeopardized, he continued.

The innocent can suffer along with the guilty, he declared.

Allegany County is not the first instance where such things have happened, and the situation is bad for the welfare of the state as a whole, he concluded.

Press Makes Statement

When McLaughlin asked if the press wanted to make a statement, A. Trago Brust, managing editor of The Cumberland News, read the following:

"We appreciate the invitation you have just extended to us to present testimony at today's hearing.

"Your investigation into the subject of prisoners being held incommunicado by law enforcement authorities, with possible remedial legislation in mind, is a topic which touches on the equal rights of all citizens as set forth in the Constitution.

"Inasmuch as we did not receive prior invitation and were given to understand that we were not to testify today, we feel that we are not prepared to do so.

"We feel certain that this committee which is investigating the equal rights and treatment of all citizens will recognize the fact that under the circumstances we have not been given an equal opportunity to prepare testimony.

"If we are invited to testify on this subject at a later date we shall be happy to comply. We do feel, however, that we should be allowed as much time to prepare our testimony as was granted those persons who are here by invitation."

The statement was signed "A. T. Brust Jr., managing editor, The Cumberland News," and "T. Donald Shires, city editor, Cumberland Evening Times."

McLaughlin said that the statement by the press was incorrect. "I told Mr. Finan (Thomas B.), attorney for the Times-News papers, by telephone last Friday that the committee would be glad to hear anyone."

Finan arose to say that McLaughlin told him that the committee had not planned on hearing anyone except those persons already listed.

"McLaughlin told me that he felt the press did not have any facts in which the committee would be interested," he added.

"I further recall that you (McLaughlin) mentioned the full agenda for the day would use testimony from that list.

"However, you said that if the press felt it wanted to say something, and that if there was no difference of opinion the committee would be glad to hear the press at a later date."

McLaughlin countered with the assertion that "Didn't I say that the committee wanted to hear anyone? I felt that the press would be here. The invitation may have been qualified, but the press was welcome to come."

Fletcher Gives Version

Fletcher then followed in giving his version in the matter at hand.

"I have no prepared statement but can give certain facts. No civil rights were violated insofar as the state's attorney's office or officers were concerned during the investigation of Burkett.

"We questioned Burkett and everything has been done with his full knowledge, permission and consent. In fact, he cooperated. Burkett was given two polygraph tests. It might be noted that a person must be willing or cooperative or the tests would be of no avail."

At this point Fletcher said he understood that the Burkett case was the only one to be considered at the hearing.

(This was a reference to previous testimony by Whitworth concerning other persons involved with law officials in this county).

He then gave a brief accounting of the procedures followed in each of these cases.

"Burkett was asked if he would submit to a lie detector test," Fletcher said. "It was arranged to have a lie detector test given here in Hagerstown by Grayson Wigfield, a detective with the Hagerstown Police Department.

Tells Of Questioning

"Burkett was not questioned until the morning of April 17, and at that time, he was talked to for three and one-half hours. He made certain admissions and later changed his statements. A second lie detector test was given at Hagerstown as it was thought this would speed up the procedure.

"I sent Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, to the Burkett home to advise his wife that he was being taken to Hagerstown. This is no 'Gestapo' operation. The authorities were performing their duty within the limitations of the law. The second test resulted in damaging reactions from Burkett.

"Burkett left Hagerstown after the test at 10:30 a. m. on April 18. He was taken to the Allegany County Infirmary, his wife notified of that fact and told she could see him. At 2:30 the same day she did go to the Infirmary detention quarters to see her husband.

"The following Monday Mrs. Burkett came to my office and said she wanted to see her husband. At no time did either the husband or wife indicate he was being mistreated. They did not ask for an attorney but they could have had one if they asked."

Fletcher said he was willing to disclose anything or answer any question without endangering the Meister murder probe.

Burkett Picked Up

McLaughlin then asked for a chronological listing in the Burkett case.

Fletcher said: "Early in April a service station attendant was told by Burkett that he 'knew where Odessa Meister had been murdered, and it was not at the place where the body had been found.' On April 16 at 7:30 p. m. Lieut. James Van and Detective Leo E. P. Law went to the Burkett home and brought him to my office."

At this point Fletcher commented that murder is a felony and a person can be taken into custody if he is a suspect.

"Mrs. Burkett was at the home when the two officers went for Burkett and was told he was being taken to the state's attorney's office. Mrs. Burkett commented to the officers at the time that 'it was probably in connection with the Meister case'.

"Burkett was told of his constitutional rights. He did not look like much of a suspect. At this time the investigation was more like a conversation without much questioning. He said he did not know Mrs. Meister, did not know his wife worked in a night club owned by an uncle of Mrs. Meister, but did say he went there most every night to get his wife. That looked odd."

Questioned 11 Hours

Fletcher then stated: "In the six days and seven nights that Burkett was held, he was questioned a total of 11 hours.

"On the night (he was arrested, April 16) he was taken to the state's attorney's office and while waiting for the lie detector test Detective Law took him to a movie to put in time and keep him calm for the test."

Dempsey then asked Fletcher: "If a person is suspected of a crime, what procedure is followed?"

Fletcher replied that there is "no booking law in Allegany County or the rest of the state (outside of Baltimore City)."

He said that "authorities can take in the person for questioning and do not need a warrant in advance unless they have information they have obtained."

Fletcher then followed with, "if in questioning, the person admits the charge or we have reason to believe the person guilty, then we take him to jail on a warrant."

Then Fletcher stated, "We don't operate on the manner in which the papers make it appear."

He then pointed out that there is no such charge of "suspicion of murder or robbery."

Again Fletcher repeated in his testimony that there is "no booking requirement."

Fletcher mentioned the newspapers again and after noting some headlines of interest, said that men from a paper entered the basement of the building in which his office was located, talked to an elderly janitor and asked about an auto seat. They then took a picture of the seat and it appeared in the paper.

(The seat in question was the one taken from Burkett's car then sent to Baltimore and tested for blood stains.)

Fletcher added that the two representatives of the press who entered the building did so without permission.

Sen. McLaughlin told Fletcher the committee was not interested in hearing criticism directed at any party.

Another question, this time by Richard E. Lankford (Annapolis) directed at Fletcher was: "Is it usually customary in Allegany county to release prisoners in custody of their attorney?"

Fletcher retorted, "No, it is very unusual."

The state's attorney then quoted several opinions and rulings to justify the action before completing his testimony.

O'Conor To Give Graduation Address At Mt. St. Mary's

HERBERT R. O'CONOR

Former U. S. Senator Herbert R. O'Conor will deliver the principal address to the graduating class at the 145th annual commencement of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Wednesday, June 3.

The ceremonies will begin at 10:30 a. m. in the Memorial Gymnasium of the college and O'Conor will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the commencement exercises.

A native of Baltimore, O'Conor was graduated from Loyola College with an A. B. degree in 1917 and later received his LL.B from the University of Maryland in 1920. He was admitted to the Maryland bar in 1919 and began his law practice in Baltimore that year.

He served as assistant state's attorney in Baltimore in 1921-22, state's attorney from 1922 to 1934, attorney general of Maryland from 1935 to 1939, governor of Maryland from 1939 to 1947 and as U. S. Senator from Maryland from 1947 through 1952.

He was one of two Senators to hold memberships on five major committees in the 82nd Congress and was particularly active in the drafting of internal security and displaced persons laws. He served as chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee and was a member of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

Since his retirement from political life in 1952 he has continued to practice law in Baltimore.

Two Burlington Youths Receive Legion Medals

Officers Installed At PTA Dinner

KEYSER — Scholarship - citizenship medals were presented to Carolyn Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Cook, and Harlan Barbe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Barbe, Burlington, last night by Boyce - Houser Post 41, Keyser, American Legion.

The presentation by Dr. Earl Fishback, past commander of the post, was made at the closing meeting of the Burlington PTA dinner meeting. The medal was awarded the eighth grade pupils for outstanding scholastic work.

Mrs. Andrew Rexrode, retiring PTA president, received reports from the officers, and Miss Mirnie Judy, principal of Burlington School, introduced the guests, who included Rev. and Mrs. James H. Hardesty, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cannon, Miss Janet Tyler, former teacher at the school.

The PTA has a membership of 133 parents, and there was present for the dinner meeting, 105 persons, a new high mark for the annual dinner.

Newly elected officers were installed. They are Mrs. Oscar Welch, president; Mrs. Bessi Arnold, secretary, and Mrs. Leslie McGee, treasurer. The new vice-president, Mrs. Roy White was absent.

Miss Judy introduced Robert Stickley and Ronald Welch, who made exceptionally fine marks in the recent achievement test conducted at the school, adding that this year's eighth grade class maintained the highest point score in the 27 years an elementary school has been in Burlington.

Miss Judy was presented a gift of appreciation by the PTA.

Sue Jones To Head Frostburg Music Club

FROSTBURG — Sue Jones was elected president of the Frostburg Junior Notes Music Club recently at a meeting at the home of Oliver Rephann.

Others elected were Marie Goebel, vice president; Colleen Festerman secretary; Sandra Loar, treasurer; Ellen Richardson, scrap book; Howie Lemmert, philanthropic chairman; Oliver Rephann, publicity, and Anna Grace Baer and Marie Goebel, membership committee.

The June meeting will be at the home of Sandra Loar, with Mrs. Herbert Loar installing the new officers. Members of the club will be entertained with a spaghetti dinner at the home of Mrs. Rephann in the near future.

Fire Truck Repair Payment Authorized

PIEDMONT — The payment of $440.39 due for repairs of the Tri-Towns Fire Company 1, fire truck was authorized at the regular meeting of Mayor Allan L. Hill and the city council recently.

The truck was damaged in an accident on the Westernport and Luke Road on October 31, 1948. The total amount of the damages amounted to $9,065. The report of the recent election of the election of mayor and three councilmen was approved by the city officials.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 22—(INS)—Two important films will be premiered in London during coronation festivities.

C. S. Forrester's "Sailor Of The King," for the benefit of naval charities, will have one of the most distinguished first night audiences of all time.

The lovely Princess Margaret will attend. Also, General and Mrs. George Marshall, California's Governor Earl Warren and his daughters, and Winthrop Aldrich, ambassador to the Court of St. James, have accepted for the showing at the Odeon Theatre, June 11.

Of course, Wendy Miller, star of the 20th Century Fox film, will be there.

Tomorrow MGM's "Young Bess," the story of Queen Elizabeth I, opens at the Empire with Lana Turner, Kirk Douglas, Gregory Peck, Gene Kelly, Alan Ladd and Clark Gable on hand.

Peter Lawford's three appearances on the Columbia lot last week were not for "Caine Mutiny" as many guessed.

The attractive young actor gets the third starring role with Judy Holliday and Jack Lemmon in "A Name For Herself." He was personally chosen by Director George Cukor.

The role is something for Peter—a young advertising executive who makes love to Judy for business reasons. It's his first feature since bowing out of his MGM contract although he's made a Screen Gems TV movie.

That Collier Young laughs at himself before he gives anyone else a chance to make with the joke. He said:

"Ida Lupino's two husbands—her present one, Howard Duff, and her ex—me (Collier Young) are trying to persuade Ida to direct 'The Bigamist,' the next picture for our company The Filmmakers.

"You see Ida wrote and scripted it—and Howard doesn't mind taking direction from his wife."

"What about Joan Fontaine—doesn't Joan, your present wife, object to your working with your ex-wife?"

"Not at all," replied Collier, "the two girls are good friends."

David Selznick hit the ceiling over my story that Rodgers and Hammerstein are planning a musical version of "Gone With the Wind." Says he's planning the same thing himself as he still owns the rights to the Margaret Mitchell book.

Well, far from me to get in the middle,—but if David does it, I understand the score will be written by Victor Young.

And just as he did in casting the movie "Gone With The Wind," David will stage an international search for the right prima donna to sing Scarlett O'Hara. Remember all the whoopla before Vivien Leigh won the screen role?

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Greta Garbo's taken up tennis. Plays every afternoon on the Chateau Marmont courts with an instructor.

If Joe DiMaggio signs that big TV deal he's angling—you can bet he'll insist on headquarters in Hollywood to be near Marilyn Monroe.

Is there yet another girl who looks exactly like Sheilah Connolly who looks exactly like Liz Taylor? Sheilah denies she was ever out with Sonny Tufts. Says she's never met him.

When Frances and Edgar Bergen, and Charlie McCarthy of course, arrive in Dublin they will be the guests of William Howard Taft III, our new ambassador to Ireland.

Edie and Bill Goetz cruised to Havana aboard their chartered yacht, and Ernest Hemingway was their guest at dinner. Edie tells me that "Papa," as he is called, is adored by the Cubans who all but staged a national holiday when his "Old Man And The Sea" won the Pulitzer award for fiction.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Personal

Mrs. Grace R. Alderton, 54 Marion Street, has returned home from Memorial Hospital, where she was treated for a fractured foot.

Will Graduate Monday

FROSTBURG—Miss Nancy Lou Neal, daughter of James E. Neal, Bowery Street, will graduate Monday from Johns Hopkins University School of Nursing, Baltimore. Her father, uncle, brother, Marshall Neal, and aunts, Misses Loubell, Hilda, and Velma Neal, will attend the exercises.

Tri-Hi-Y Installs

Officers were installed and new members received at the meeting of the Tri-Hi-Y of Allegany High School, Wednesday evening at Central YMCA. Margaret Moulton was installed as president; Marilyn Kreider, vice president; Carolyn Smith, secretary; Patricia Robertson, treasurer; and Marlene McGraw, chaplain. Marjory Hutcheson presided at the meeting and officiated at the installation ceremony.

Twenty-four girls were received as new members. They are Lucille Wanless, Virginia Leasure, Eleanor Murphy, Carole Runyon, Catherine Eiler, freshmen; Ellen Beneman, Judy Bennett, Nancy Duncan, Margaret Frish, Rita Houck, Sue Knotts, Lois McCullough, Wilma Schry, sophomores; Doris Clayton, Sarah Conrad, JoAnn Fisher, Nancy Hager, Janice Layman, Bessie Liakos, Nancy McGill, Carol Shuck, Ann Veach, Geraldine Wilson and Gail Young, juniors.

NOW THAT YOU'VE SEEN ILYA ZAVISH'S LABORATORY, WHAT DO YOU THINK?
BLAMED IF I KNOW.
WHAT ABOUT ILYA WANTING NO VISITORS, HER MISSING VEGETABLE GARDEN, THE HELICOPTER, AND THAT STRANGE, MUSTY ODOR?
THE PLACE, SAWYER, IS PLAINLY NO OBSERVATORY. IT'S A COVER-UP FOR SOMETHING... POSSIBLY SMUGGLING. BUT I CAN'T SEE HOW IT POSSIBLY TIES IN WITH OUR PROBLEM, THE KEG-ISLANDERS' LAZINESS.

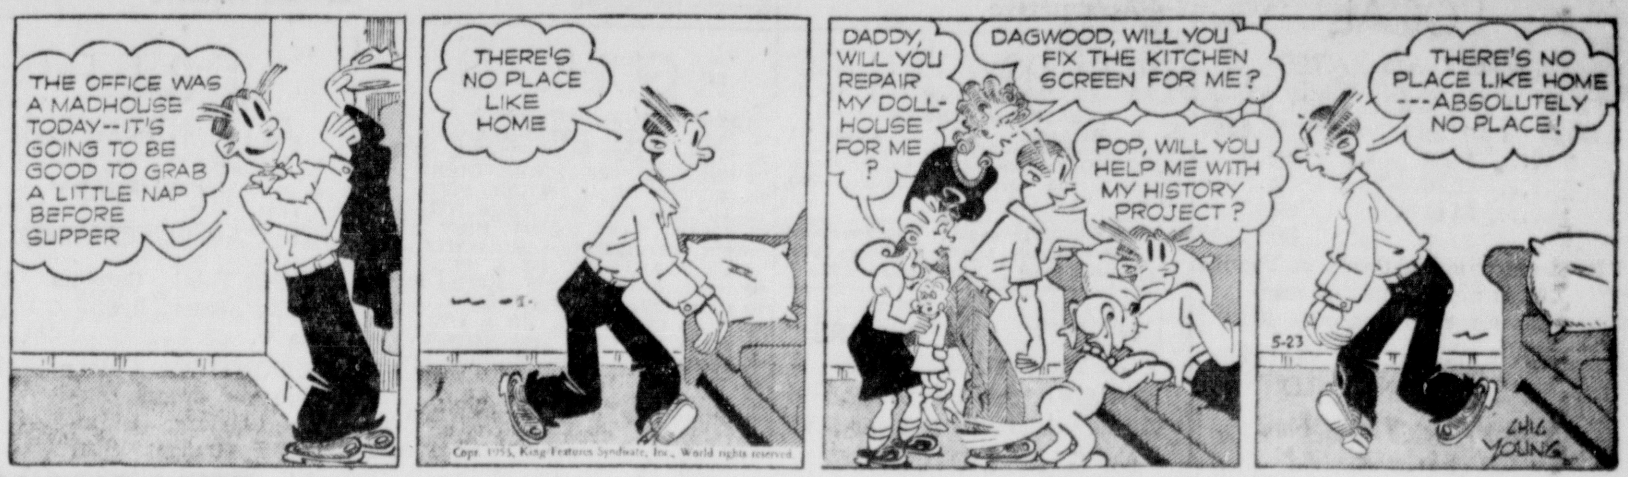
By CHIC YOUNG



THE OFFICE WAS A MADHOUSE TODAY--IT'S GOING TO BE GOOD TO GRAB A LITTLE NAP BEFORE SUPPER
THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME
DADDY, WILL YOU REPAIR MY DOLL-HOUSE FOR ME?
DAGWOOD, WILL YOU FIX THE KITCHEN SCREEN FOR ME?
POP, WILL YOU HELP ME WITH MY HISTORY PROJECT?
THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME ---ABSOLUTELY NO PLACE!

DR. NEPAL, THE GENTLEMAN FOR WHOM YOU HAVE BEEN WAITING---BRICK BRADFORD!
I'M GLAD YOU GOT HERE, BRICK. I SUPPOSE DR. REX HAS TOLD YOU WHAT HAPPENED.
NONMETALS
NO. I THOUGHT YOU COULD EXPLAIN IT BETTER.
WELL, HERE IT IS!
... THE INFORMATION CARD BEARING THE FORMULA... AS SOON AS IT WAS BROUGHT INTO THIS LAB IT DISINTEGRATED!

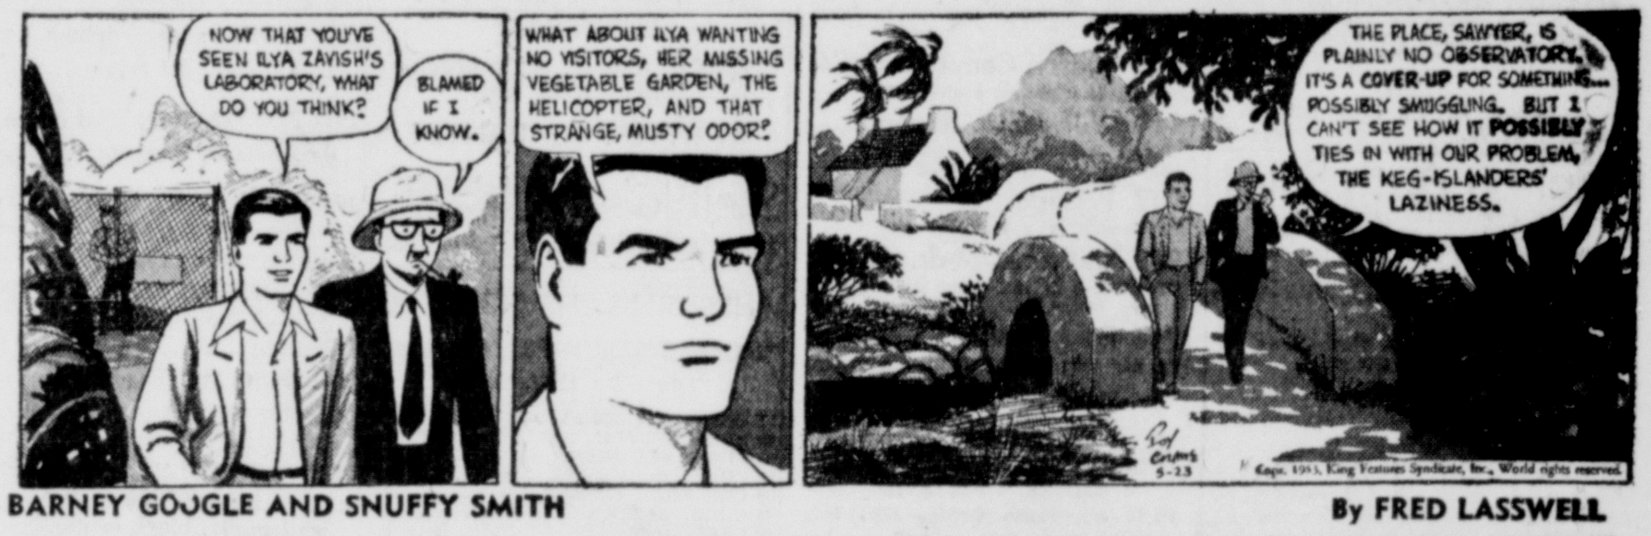
BUZ SAWYER

By ROY CRANE



NOW THAT YOU'VE SEEN ILYA ZAVISH'S LABORATORY, WHAT DO YOU THINK?
BLAMED IF I KNOW.
WHAT ABOUT ILYA WANTING NO VISITORS, HER MISSING VEGETABLE GARDEN, THE HELICOPTER, AND THAT STRANGE, MUSTY ODOR?
THE PLACE, SAWYER, IS PLAINLY NO OBSERVATORY. IT'S A COVER-UP FOR SOMETHING... POSSIBLY SMUGGLING. BUT I CAN'T SEE HOW IT POSSIBLY TIES IN WITH OUR PROBLEM, THE KEG-ISLANDERS' LAZINESS.

MIZ TATTERSALL AN' THAT SACKER FEMALE HAVE BEEN GOSSIPIN' OVER TH' FENCE TH' LIVELONG DAY, AUNT LOWEEZY
JUGHAID SMIF!! HAVE YE BEEN EAVESDRAPPIN'?
NO, MA'AM--I WUZ SNEAKIN' UP ON MY ALL-FOURS TO FIND OUT WHAT THEY WUZ GOSSIPIN' ABOUT—BUT, DURN MY HIDE, I CRACKLED TH' BRESH AN' THEY SHUT UP LIKE TWO CLAMS!
YE ORTER BE ASHAMED OF YORESE'F, JUGHAID!!
WON'T YE EVER L'ARN NOT TO CRACKLE TH' BRESH?

HONEST, ZERO, I'M GETTIN' THE WIM-WAMS—THE SHERIFF'S CAR KEEPS GOIN' UP AN' DOWN ALL DAY LONG, AN' AT NIGHT ANOTHER SHERIFF'S CAR GOES UP AN' DOWN ALL NIGHT LONG—
AN' ALL THE DAYS ARE SO SUNNY AN' THE NIGHTS ARE SO BRIGHT AN' SHINY, IF WE TRY TO SNEAK AWAY ONE SHERIFF IS SURE TO KETCH US—
BUT IF THE NICE PEOPLE WHO OWN THIS GUEST HOUSE COME HOME AN' FIND ME SLEEPIN' HERE THEY'LL SEE THIS MONEY IN THE PLATE AN' KNOW I AIN'T A ROBBER——AN' IF YOU CAN'T SEND A RAINY DAY, PLEASE SEND A FOGGY NIGHT SO WE KIN SNEAK AWAY BEFORE THE SHERIFF KETCHES US--

I GUESS I WAS LUCKY, DIGGER. YOU'RE A GREAT FIGHTER...AND I'LL BE GLAD TO GIVE YOU A RETURN BOUT.
YOU WERE A "BEAUT" T'COME OVER, JOE. YOU WON FAIR AN' SQUARE. CONGRATS!
WE'LL TAKE YOU UP ON THAT.
THE SUSPENSE WAITIN' FOR THAT DECISION WAS WORSE THAN THE FIGHT.
YEAH... THEY SAY THEY BEEN GOIN' BALMY, NOT ONLY HERE, BUT ALL OVER THE WORLD.
BELIEVE ME, I'VE BEEN SWEATING IT OUT.
IN MY STORY FOR MY PAPER BACK IN THE STATES, I'M CRITICIZING A ONE-MAN DECISION. IT CAN CAUSE A LOT OF ANXIETY...
RIGHTEEO...AND ALL KINDS OF CONFUSION. WE THINK THIS FIGHT SHOWED US WE SHOULD HAVE SEVERAL JUDGES...OR A COMMISSION!

HERE'S SOME OF THE OLD BOOKS. THERE'S LOTS MORE OF THEM.
MY! THEY'RE AWFUL DUSTY. THEY MUST HAVE BEEN UP THERE A LONG TIME!
H'MM! THEY'RE ALL DIFFERENT. NO TWO ABOUT THE SAME SUBJECT. SOME ARE SCHOOL BOOKS -SOME STORYBOOKS-EVEN MEDICAL AND TECHNICAL. THEY'RE ALL VERY OLD! I WONDER...
I HAVE IT, BUDDY! I THINK I KNOW WHAT THESE OLD BOOKS ARE. MAYBE YOU BOYS HAVE FOUND YOUR FORTUNE AFTER ALL!
WHAT DO YOU MEAN, BETH? WHAT GOOD COULD THEY POSSIBLY BE?

Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS—
We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who comforted us in our recent sad bereavement, the death of our beloved father, James J. VanSickle, Sr. Especially do we thank those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and George H. McAlpine for his comforting words.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of George E. Clark, who passed away four years ago, May 24, 1949.

Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time can not change them it's true.
Years that may come cannot sever
The loving remembrance of you.
Sadly missed by his WIFE & CHILDREN

Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS—
We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who comforted us in our recent sad bereavement, the death of our beloved father, James J. VanSickle, Sr. Especially do we thank those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and George H. McAlpine for his comforting words.
THE CHILDREN

In Memoriam

In loving memory of George E. Clark, who passed away four years ago, May 24, 1949.

Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time can not change them it's true.
Years that may come cannot sever
The loving remembrance of you.
Sadly missed by his WIFE & CHILDREN

Market's Late Recovery Erases Most Early Losses

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—A recovery movement today in the stock market was strong enough to wipe out most early declines, but it lacked sufficient vigor to push the market definitely to the higher side.

Showing strength were railroads, distillers, air lines, oils and utilities. On the lower side were motors, metals and building materials. Other key sections, like steels, aircrafts, and chemicals, were fairly well mixed.

American Car & Foundry gained 3 at 48 after directors declared dividends amounting to $3 for the year and a 10 per cent stock dividend, the same as a year ago, plus a special dividend of $2. It was the day's most active issue with 52,500 shares traded.

Reynolds Metals was down 1⅛ at 53. Directors declared a 5 per cent stock dividend as compared with 10 per cent a year ago.

In second place in the most active list was American & Foreign Power up ½ at 10⅞, followed by Willys-Overland unchanged at 15⅞, American Safety Razor up ½ at 7⅞, Texas Gulf Producing up 2¼ at 54, and National Distillers up ⅝ at 19⅜.

Lower were Northern Pacific off ⅝ at 73⅞, Southern Railway ⅜ at 96¾, Anaconda Copper ⅜ at 37⅝, General Electric ¼ at 74⅝, U. S. Steel ¼ at 39½, General Motors ½ at 62¼, Chrysler ⅝ at 76¾, Packard ¼ at 5½, and Johns-Manville 1¼ at 63¾.

Higher were Baltimore & Ohio ¼ at 27, Pacific Western Oil 1⅜ at 42⅝, Pan American Wogd Airways ⅜ at 10¾, American Telephone ½ at 156⅝, Bethlehem Steel ¼ at 53, and Schenley Industries ¾ at 25¾.

There are more than 50,000 different articles made from rubber.

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

FORESTALL FOE'S MOVES

IT IS easiest for the declarer to play in such a way that he gets a good result if the defenders do what he expects. But it is much more profitable, in the long run, to foresee what they might do, if skillful, and then forestall them by taking the correct counter-measures. Even such a small thing as their refusal to win a finesse, when able to, may beat you in certain lineups if you do not protect yourself against it.

Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Dbl.
2 ♦	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

Three of the South players, in a medium-sized duplicate game, reached that contract with its doubtful trump suit. Two of them made it and one failed, though in each case the defense began in the same way. The diamond K was scored and, upon seeing dummy's singleton, each West switched to the spade 6, which East won with the A so that he could fire back the 10 to dummy's Q. Each of the three declarers decided to leave the spade J in dummy, as protection against a diamond lead, and then led the club 4.

Two of the Souths put on the club 9 as a finesse. One West won that with the K and returned the spade 5 to the J. The declarer then had no trouble, as he led to the club A, used the heart A on the third round of that suit and easily discarded his losing diamonds on the last heart and clubs.

One West refused to win the club 9 finesse. After taking that trick, South laid down the A, led a heart to the A and sent the club Q to the K, discarding a diamond. This West returned the diamond A, forcing dummy to ruff while each defender had a trump. That rendered dummy's clubs useless, also the establishable heart thirteener. So this South wound up losing two diamonds to be down two.

The third South protected himself against a club hold-up by not trying the finesse at all. On the fourth trick he scored the club A, then led the 9. No matter what West then did, the contract was safe, as you will see if you mentally play the cards out.

Your Weekend Question

What are the two contrasting phases of operations that a declarer should always consider when making a plan for the play at his contract, regardless of whether it be in a No Trump or a suit declaration?

Market's Late Recovery Erases Most Early Losses

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—A recovery movement today in the stock market was strong enough to wipe out most early declines, but it lacked sufficient vigor to push the market definitely to the higher side.

Showing strength were railroads, distillers, air lines, oils and utilities. On the lower side were motors, metals and building materials. Other key sections, like steels, aircrafts, and chemicals, were fairly well mixed.

American Car & Foundry gained 3 at 48 after directors declared dividends amounting to $3 for the year and a 10 per cent stock dividend, the same as a year ago, plus a special dividend of $2. It was the day's most active issue with 52,500 shares traded.

Reynolds Metals was down 1⅛ at 53. Directors declared a 5 per cent stock dividend as compared with 10 per cent a year ago.

In second place in the most active list was American & Foreign Power up ½ at 10⅞, followed by Willys-Overland unchanged at 15⅞, American Safety Razor up ½ at 7⅞, Texas Gulf Producing up 2¼ at 54, and National Distillers up ⅝ at 19⅜.

Lower were Northern Pacific off ⅝ at 73⅞, Southern Railway ⅜ at 96¾, Anaconda Copper ⅜ at 37⅝, General Electric ¼ at 74⅝, U. S. Steel ¼ at 39½, General Motors ½ at 62¼, Chrysler ⅝ at 76¾, Packard ¼ at 5½, and Johns-Manville 1¼ at 63¾.

Higher were Baltimore & Ohio ¼ at 27, Pacific Western Oil 1⅜ at 42⅝, Pan American Wogd Airways ⅜ at 10¾, American Telephone ½ at 156⅝, Bethlehem Steel ¼ at 53, and Schenley Industries ¾ at 25¾.

There are more than 50,000 different articles made from rubber.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

FORESTALL FOE'S MOVES

IT IS easiest for the declarer to play in such a way that he gets a good result if the defenders do what he expects. But it is much more profitable, in the long run, to foresee what they might do, if skillful, and then forestall them by taking the correct counter-measures. Even such a small thing as their refusal to win a finesse, when able to, may beat you in certain lineups if you do not protect yourself against it.

Three of the South players, in a medium-sized duplicate game, reached that contract with its doubtful trump suit. Two of them made it and one failed, though in each case the defense began in the same way. The diamond K was scored and, upon seeing dummy's singleton, each West switched to the spade 6, which East won with the A so that he could fire back the 10 to dummy's Q. Each of the three declarers decided to leave the spade J in dummy, as protection against a diamond lead, and then led the club 4.

Two of the Souths put on the club 9 as a finesse. One West won that with the K and returned the spade 5 to the J. The declarer then had no trouble, as he led to the club A, used the heart A on the third round of that suit and easily discarded his losing diamonds on the last heart and clubs.

One West refused to win the club 9 finesse. After taking that trick, South laid down the A, led a heart to the A and sent the club Q to the K, discarding a diamond. This West returned the diamond A, forcing dummy to ruff while each defender had a trump. That rendered dummy's clubs useless, also the establishable heart thirteener. So this South wound up losing two diamonds to be down two.

The third South protected himself against a club hold-up by not trying the finesse at all. On the fourth trick he scored the club A, then led the 9. No matter what West then did, the contract was safe, as you will see if you mentally play the cards out.

Your Weekend Question

What are the two contrasting phases of operations that a declarer should always consider when making a plan for the play at his contract, regardless of whether it be in a No Trump or a suit declaration?

Local Reserve Instructor To Go To Moscow

Sgt. John Gregory Completes Duty Here

M-Sgt. John Gregory, assistant unit instructor at the local Organized Reserve Corps, completes his duty here this weekend and will be assigned to a post behind the Iron Curtain in Moscow, Russia.

Sgt. Gregory will leave tomorrow for Baltimore where he had been temporarily assigned pending his assignment to the American Embassy in Moscow. He was informed of his overseas assignment during a recent trip to the Pentagon Building, Washington.

His orders for assignment to the Kremlin area may well result in his second around-the-world trip since October, 1950 when he was dispatched to the Military Assistance Advisory Group in Siam.

The local soldier arrived in Cumberland in September of last year and in November his wife and two children joined him from Philadelphia at his residence in Cresaptown.

Sgt. Gregory entered the Air Force in July 1943 following his graduation from Central High School, Providence, R. I. The 27-year-old veteran received training at various Air Force bases throughout the country.

After his discharge from the service in 1946, he attended Bryant College in Providence under the GI Bill and took a course in Business Administration.

In December of 1947 he decided to reenter the Army and was assigned to the ORC Military District in New York City. Later in October, 1950, he was assigned to the State Department with duties at the American Embassy in Siam.

He worked as a stenographer with Brig. Gen. J. T. Cole, chief of Military Assistance Advisory Group, as well as with chiefs of Air Force and Navy sections. During his 13 months overseas, he made trips to Indo-China, Tokyo, Hong Kong and the Philippines.

When he returned to the United States he was assigned to Headquarters First Army at Governors Island, N. Y., and served in the Inspector General Office and the National Guard and ORC units throughout New England.

He later attended Officers Candidate School at Aberdeen, but due to a foot injury was unable to graduate. In May, last year, he was assigned as Sgt. Major of the Military Personnel Division at Aberdeen Proving Grounds and in September came to Cumberland.

Frostburg Woman's Will Is Probated

The will of Mrs. Frances E. Lewis, 80-year old Frostburg resident, who died Sunday, was admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

Two daughters, Mrs. Mary McLuckie and Mrs. Ruth Davis, both also of Frostburg, are named executrices of the estate. Her estate is to be divided into six equal parts, with her five children, George A. Lewis, Mrs. McLuckie, Clarence Lewis, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Frances Guffy, each getting one, and the sixth being divided equally between Edith Suther and Harold Lewis, children of a deceased son, John Lewis. The will was dated October 25, 1947.

Also admitted to probate yesterday was the will of John F. Finan, who died February 5, 1949. It named Bart J. Finan, a brother, as sole beneficiary. Bart J. Finan died May 28, 1949, just a few months after his brother's death. The Liberty Trust Company, by John J. Robinson, trust officer qualified as administrator c. t. a.

Legion Fighting VA Fund Cut

American Legion posts throughout the country are being contacted by National Commander Lewis K. Gough to combat the recommendation of the House Appropriations subcommittee to cut the Veterans Administration budget by 280 million dollars.

Russell C. Paupe, adjutant of Fort Cumberland Post 13, and the adjutants of the other Legion posts in the state are being contacted by telephone and telegraph in order to organize the fight at local levels.

Frank T. Powers, Frostburg, a national executive committeeman, said the American Legion has estimated that the VA needs a minimum of 900 million dollars for administration, medical, hospital and domiciliary services.

Meeting Postponed

The Salvation Army Advisory Board meeting scheduled Monday has been postponed until Friday, June 5, at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA cafeteria, Lewis J. Ort, secretary of the board, announced last night.

Arthritis Clinic Set

Dr. Leon A. Kochman of Baltimore will conduct an arthritis clinic Friday, June 12, from 9 a. m. until noon at the headquarters of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Newsmen Tell Probers Individual Freedoms Must Be Safeguarded

Local Arresting Practices Termed Akin To Police State

The question of whether new laws are needed to protect the constitutional rights of Marylanders is more important than the methods police used in one sensational case, a representative of the Cumberland newspapers told a Legislative Council investigating committee yesterday.

And Del. Horace P. Whitworth Jr. termed the lack of such protection "the embryo of a police state."

Both statements came as a committee headed by State Sen. D. Kenneth McLaughlin (R-Wash) wound up a hearing in Hagerstown, aimed at determining whether new laws on the booking of prisoners are needed.

The hearing was prompted by Whitworth's earlier criticism of methods used in the arrest and detention of a local house painter in connection with the Meister murder case.

Whitworth had criticized the State's Attorney's Office after Charles F. Burkett, 41, was picked up for questioning in the case. Burkett was held seven days without a charge before he was released in custody of his attorney.

Thomas B. Finan, attorney for the Times-News papers, told the legislators the real issue before the committee was "the consideration of just what are a person's constitutional rights, insofar as being held without charges and incommunicado is concerned."

Finan was asked to speak while the committee was discussing how long a prisoner should be held without seeing anyone. State Sen. Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany), a member of the committee, said he noticed "the Cumberland city solicitor" was present, and asked him about some docket entries at City Jail.

Kimble referred to two docket entries, mentioned earlier by Whitworth, which stated that two prisoners in separate cases were to be allowed no visitors.

Finan said that although nobody ever had discussed either of the cases with him, he was certain the city had no policy of not allowing prisoners to see counsel or anyone else.

Couldn't See Clients

The attorney said he was appearing at the hearing as attorney for the Times-News papers and that he hadn't anticipated that he would be called to testify.

But, since he had been asked about it, said Finan, there was a case about five years ago in which he had been refused admission to consult a client, held on a forgery charge at the City Jail, until after the State's Attorney had talked to the prisoner.

And, he said, within the past year, he had been told he could not speak to two clients at the County Jail until after they had been interrogated by representatives of the State's Attorney's Office.

Finan said he felt that the State's Attorney should be allowed to talk to a prisoner first, and that an attorney should not object to this, provided the attorney were allowed to see his client within a few hours.

In fairness to State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, Finan said, he wanted to point out that Fletcher did allow him and Attorney William C. Walsh to see a man they had represented in connection with the Meister case. Finan said he and Walsh were allowed to see their client within several hours after they had asked to see him.

No Hearing Date Set

As to how long a prisoner could be held incommunicado, Finan said he felt police probably could do this for "up to 24 hours."

Finan's testimony came as the special five-man investigating committee prepared to close the hearing. There was no indication when or where any second hearing might be held, but indications have been that another session may be held in Baltimore.

The attorney said he wanted to impress on the committee that, as far as the Cumberland papers were concerned, the subject of the hearing was not a question of personalities and did not resolve itself into a consideration of any controversy, "apparent or otherwise, if such exists," between the newspapers and the State's Attorney's Office.

Had Good Intentions

He said he believed that "Mr. Fletcher was motivated by the best of intentions, but the real question, insofar as the papers are concerned, is a much more fundamental and profound matter.

"That question," he said, "is whether or not in this state there is a need for remedial legislation to protect certain constitutional rights of individuals."

Finan went on to say that a newspaper is an organ of public information, and that when a case as sensational as the Meister case develops, the public clamors for reports on progress. It is the duty of a newspaper, he declared, to furnish this information.

Ont the other hand, he pointed out, the State's Attorney has a duty to perform, and as a result of these two considerations there is sometimes a conflict.

"The question of methods employed in the case of Mr. Burkett," he said, "is not the important issue. The real issue before the committee is the consideration of legislation to clarify the question of just what are a person's constitutional rights, insofar as being held without charges and incommunicado is concerned."

Finan said he felt that everyone present at the hearing was hopeful that a constructive law would emerge as a result of the session.

He also said the Cumberland newspapers were reserving their right to express their views, if necessary, on the constitutional guarantee involved at any future hearing before the committee.

Earlier, the committee heard Attorney Harold E. Naughton, who represented Burkett, say that he felt that State's Attorney Fletcher was justified in holding his client for a week.

Naughton told the investigators he had not been brought into the case as Burkett's attorney until Tuesday, April 21.

Mrs. Burkett came to his office, Naughton said, and discussed the case with him. She said two city policemen had come to the house and taken her husband away. They told her they were taking Burkett to the State's Attorney's Office, she said.

Mrs. Burkett Saw Husband

On Friday, the day after Burkett's arrest, Mrs. Burkett told the lawyer, County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya came to the house and told her her husband was being taken out of the county.

Lilya explained that Burkett had made some damaging admissions and that police were investigating further.

On Saturday, Mrs. Burkett told Naughton, Lilya came back to the Burkett house and told Mrs. Burkett that her husband was at the County Infirmary and that she could go and see him.

Naughton said Mrs. Burkett visited her husband almost immediately on Saturday, twice on Sunday, and again on Monday and Tuesday.

The attorney said Mrs. Burkett had told him on two occasions that her husband had made no written statements about the case to authorities.

Naughton said he asked Mrs. Burkett if she wanted him to get her husband out of jail on a writ of habeas corpus. Mrs. Burkett, he said, told him not to do anything at the time because she feared her husband's elderly parents in Bedford, Pa., "might have a stroke" if his name got into the papers and they learned he was being held.

Prisoner Disappeared

Later that day, Burkett's name did appear in the Evening Times, and Mrs. Burkett told Naughton to go ahead and get her husband out of jail if he could.

Naughton said he handled a couple of cases in Circuit Court the next day, Wednesday, and had a chance to tell Fletcher he had been retained as counsel for Burkett. They agreed to get together and talk the case over as soon as the court cases were over, said Naughton.

But when he went to see Fletcher, said the attorney, Fletcher was out.

"I was sore about it at the time," Naughton said, "but I found out later it was perfectly legitimate." He said he went out to the County Infirmary to try to see Burkett, but Burkett wasn't there and he couldn't find out where he was.

(Later testimony brought out that Burkett was at State Police Barracks in LaVale while Naughton was looking for him.)

Naughton checked the City Jail. He checked the County Jail. Burkett wasn't at either place. So, on Wednesday night, he prepared a writ of habeas corpus and announced his plan to seek a writ in court for Burkett's freedom.

The next morning, Naughton said, he did get in contact with Fletcher and Fletcher opened up for him his complete file on the Burkett case.

"My client has an overactive imagination," Naughton said. "He is inclined to tell whoppers."

Naughton said that on the basis of damaging statements that Burkett made during the first three days he was held, the prosecutor could reasonably have concluded that he was guilty.

He said that in view of this, he thought that seven days was a reasonable length of time for Fletcher to hold Burkett. He said that Burkett had made such damaging statements that Fletcher would have been justified in getting out a warrant against him charging him with murder.

Says Rights Not Violated

Sen. McLaughlin asked Naughton if Burkett had been deprived of his rights. Naughton said no.

Naughton said Burkett had not been held incommunicado. Asked again about whether Burkett's constitutional rights had been violated, Naughton answered, "Absolutely not."

Naughton added that after the first three days, Burkett was held for his own protection. Naughton said it was his feeling that if he had been in the case and had sought a writ of habeas corpus in the first three days, Fletcher would have been forced to swear out a murder warrant against Burkett.

Cresaptown To Honor War Dead

Program Is Planned Tomorrow Afternoon

A memorial service honoring Cresaptown men who lost their lives in World War II and the present Korean conflict will be held tomorrow in that community under sponsorship of Cresaptown Unit 209, American Legion Auxiliary.

Principal speaker in the program which will get underway at 1:30 p. m. at the Honor Roll will be Rev. Raymond M. Crowe, Methodist Church minister.

Invocation will be by Rev. William Stroup, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, and a short talk will be given by Frank Powers, of Frostburg, national executive committeeman of the American Legion.

Greetings will be extended by Edna Hounshell and each of the auxiliary members will place a flower at the Honor Roll in memory of the deceased men.

Miss Dorothy Bowman, community service chairman, is in charge of arrangements. The Cresaptown School Band will play a number of selections during the service. The Honor Roll was recently repaired by the auxiliary and a new flag will be flown during the ceremonies.

Those men who will be remembered for paying the supreme sacrifice include: Arthur Boyd, Harold Cain, Homer Cecil, George Chilcott, James Cuff, Robert Densock, Dale Douthitt.

Hubert Hershberger, Raymond L. Logsdon, John J. McKenzie, James C. Miller, Howard Sheppard, Roland B. Shirey, Charles Walsh and Argil Warner, killed in World War II; and Richard Cook, who died in the Korean conflict.

Indianapolis Opens Attack On Pigeons

Cumberland is not the only city that is having its troubles with pigeons and starlings.

The United States Municipal News, in its May 1 issue, notes that Indianapolis has begun an attack to rid the city of its vast flocks of pigeons.

It noted that 10 per cent of the estimated 50,000 birds in that city are said to be infected with psittacosis and are believed to have contributed to influenza attacks there.

The city will use three giant traps expected to catch about 150 of the birds each day. The campaign is expected to take about 11 months.

Legion Auxiliary To Hold Annual Poppy Sales Today

Robert Wilson, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 American Legion, last night appealed to all patriotic citizens to wear a poppy today—Poppy Day.

Memorial poppies will be distributed on the streets of Cumberland throughout the day by members of the American Legion auxiliary, Wilson said, and contributions received will be used to aid disabled war veterans and needy children of veterans, he explained.

The red crepe-paper poppies are made by veterans at the Perry Point Hospital, Perryville, and the project enables hospitalized veterans to earn much-needed funds as well as being beneficial as occupational therapy)

The local Legion auxiliary is sponsoring the sale of the paper flowers and volunteers will report at the Legion home on Harrison Street today at 8 a. m. to begin sale of the little flowers.

A display in the window of the Ridgeley Post Office has been arranged by Knobley Mountain Unit 136, American Legion Auxiliary, in conjunction with the sale today.

The display, arranged by Mrs. Virginia Zimmerman, chairman, and Mrs. Lillian Duer, features a miniature cemetery with poppies separating the graves.

The miniature paper flowers are accurate replicas of the wild poppies which grew in profussion on the battle fields of both world wars in France and Belgium.

Today's sale will be conducted by volunteers from the auxiliary units and members of Girl Scout Troop No. 1.

District Eagles Meeting Planned Here Tomorrow

Class Of 15 Members Will Be Initiated

Maryland state officers of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will make their yearly visit to Cumberland Aerie 245, Sunday, at the meeting of District No. 2, Herman L. Myers, secretary of the local lodge, announced last night.

The district meeting will be presided over by Francis T. Twigg, deputy grand president of the district which comprises lodges in Cresaptown, Frostburg, Hagerstown and Cumberland.

Twigg, a member of the Cumberland lodge, is also Maryland State President.

The meeting will begin at 2 p. m. at the lodge rooms on North Mechanic Street, Myers stated, and a class of about 15 new members will be initiated in special ceremonies.

John L. Farrin, state membership director of Cumberland, and members from the four district lodges are expected to attend.

In addition to Twigg and Farrin, other state officers who will probably visit the city are Robert Cleland, vice president from Hagerstown; Robert Funk, Brunswick chaplain; John Harbaugh, city, state conductor; Vernon Urghart, Baltimore, state inside guard; Waverly Rice, Cresaptown, state outside guard; and three state trustees, Andrew Dunn, Frostburg, Norman Whitmer, Hagerstown and William Goldbeck, Baltimore.

Also expected to attend the affair is past state president, Benjamin Mattingly, Baltimore, Myers stated.

Plans are rapidly taking shape for the Maryland state convention here June 12, 13 and 14, Myers continued. Reservations for delegates for the three-day affair already are coming in and at least 200 delegates throughout the state are expected to be present.

In addition to election of officers for the coming year, other activities will include initiation of a class of candidates commemorating the 34th anniversary of the state body, as well as many social activities.

C. William Baer is chairman of arrangements for the state affair next month with John L. Farrin as assistant.

Sister Marjorie To Mark Jubilee

Sister Mary Marjorie, principal of Ursuline Academy and SS. Peter and Paul Parochial School, will observe the silver jubilee of her entrance into the Ursuline Nuns tomorrow.

Rev. Louis Glantz, O.F.M., Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, will be celebrant at a solemn high Mass of Thanksgiving in her honor at 9:30 a. m. Sunday.

Rev. Marius Elsner will be deacon and Rev. Julian Patterson will be subdeacon at the mass.

Sister Marjorie entered the order January 6, 1928 at Louisville, Ky.

After teaching at Evansville, Ind., and at Sidney, Neb., she was transferred back to Louisville to teach at Ursuline Academy and at Sacred Heart Academy.

Sister Marjorie came here in 1948 from Sacred Heart Academy. Her home town is Cincinnati, Ohio.

Weather

A heavy overcast and a sprinkle of rain sent humidity percentage soaring yesterday making atmosphere sticky and uncomfortable. Although mercury stayed in the 70's all day, residents shed sweaters and jackets in the humid air. U. Of Md. Board Commission For Burke Arrives

Five Election Board Appointees Named

A commission naming Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, to the final six years of a nine-year term on the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland, was received here yesterday by Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Burke was named by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin to the remainder of an unexpired nine-year term which started the first Monday in June, 1950. The term will run until the first Monday in June, 1959.

Commissions for the three regular members and two substitutes on the County Board of Election Supervisors also arrived at Boden's office yesterday. They are all for two years from the first Monday in June.

Both regular Republican members of the board, William A. Wilson, chairman, and Victor H. Hebb, were reappointed. The new Democrat member is Matthew J. Mullaney, Cumberland attorney. He succeeds James E. Kenny, Westernport grocer, who now is the Democrat member of the County Board of License Commissioners.

William D. Rankin, Lonaconing, is the new Republican substitute board member, succeeding Mrs. Nell Thomas Nichols, this city. Marshall Wolford has been reappointed as Democrat substitute board member. He has been serving on the board this month since Kenny was sworn in as a member of the Board of License Commissioners May 4.

Child's Parents Jailed For Neglect

A 50-year-old father and 48-year-old mother were sentenced yesterday in Allegany County Juvenile Court on charges of neglect and contributing to the delinquency of their seven-year-old child.

The father was given a six-months term to the Maryland House of Correction for contributing to the delinquency of a minor child, and the mother was sentenced to six months in the Maryland Reformatory for Women on a charge of abandonment and neglect of her child.

The child was placed in the custody of the Welfare Board and will be put in a foster home. In sentencing the parents, Magistrate Alban C. Thompson told the couple that the jail terms were not a punishment but he hoped it would be a lesson to them.

He said that when they return he hoped they would make a suitable home for their child.

AFL Meetings Planned

The Building Trades Council will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall. The Allegany Trades Council will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the hall.

City Will Have Air Raid Alert During September

Cumberland will have its first air raid alert since World War II days during the week of September 21.

That's the week when Maryland's attack warning system—and the readiness of Marylanders—will be tested in Operation Checkup, a statewide air raid test.

Sherley Ewing, director of the Maryland Civil Defense Agency, said that all traffic should stop and all people will be urged to take cover. These are the initial steps in the event of a raid warning or a sudden attack.

Operation Checkup will start with a warning, indicating that unidentified aircraft have been reported several hours away from Maryland.

The Red warning (attack imminent) will last for 3 minutes and will be followed immediately by the attack period, to last another 3 minutes. The White signal (all clear) will then be given for 7 minutes.

Ewing said that the general public will only be disturbed in normal activities for 6 minutes at the very most. "Of course, local Civil Defense leaders may want to conduct more extensive exercises in conjunction with the warning and raid test," he added.

This will be the first statewide alert since World War II. It will take place during daylight hours.

In announcing plans for the test yesterday, Gov. McKeldin said President Eisenhower's statement of April 30 clearly indicated that we must keep all of our defenses currently alerted as well as under constant development for a long time to come.

Local Navy Reservist To Take Sea Cruise

A Cumberland sailor will be the first Navy reservist from the Cumberland unit to be flown to his ship for a two-week summer cruise when he leaves tomorrow morning.

Randall Linn Sheetz, 424 Arch Street, Seaman Hospital Man at the Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9 here, will leave tomorrow morning by train for Washington. At Washington he will board a plane for Norfolk, Va. where he will meet his ship, the USS Roberts, destroyer escort, DE 749.

Sheetz will be aboard the vessel for his two weeks annual training. The ship will go to Boston, Mass. and return to Norfolk.

This is part of the Navy's reserve program. Reservists are given a two-weeks training cruise with pay and transportation expenses to and from the vessel port.

One Jail Escapee Is Recaptured

A Baltimore man who broke out of Howard County Jail Tuesday night was recaptured yesterday in Baltimore, but two local brothers and another Baltimorean were still at large last night.

Baltimore police said they found Albert Smith, 34, hiding in a clothes closet in the apartment of a 28-year-old woman who also was held.

Police in the Western Maryland-West Virginia area were still patrolling highways last night in search of Michael Leslie, 28, and his brother, Woodrow, 35. Robert R. Smith, 54, of Baltimore, also remained free last night.

Rec Officials Seek West Side Playground Site

The City Recreation Board is trying to find a suitable site for a playground on the West Side.

Albert S. Paye, chairman, said members of the board have been discussing for some time the possibility of securing a site in the area between the Ridgedale Reservoir and the water tank.

The playground would be designed to take care of children from the Fairmont Avenue, Kelly Boulevard, Gephart Drive and Fayette Street section.

The board said it has received a number of complaints from West Side residents about children playing in the streets and that similar reports have been directed at police.

Paye said the only playground on the West Side is at West Side School. The Mt. Royal School and Ridgedale play lots are too small for much equipment or for a full program.

Robert E. Pence, city rec director, yesterday toured the area to study available sites, and members of the Recreation Board will make similar studies over the weekend.

CIVIL RIGHTS IN STATE GET AIRING

Local Reserve Instructor To Go To Moscow

Sgt. John Gregory Completes Duty Here

M-Sgt. John Gregory, assistant unit instructor at the local Organized Reserve Corps, completes his duty here this weekend and will be assigned to a post behind the Iron Curtain in Moscow, Russia.

Sgt. Gregory will leave tomorrow for Baltimore where he had been temporarily assigned pending his assignment to the American Embassy in Moscow. He was informed of his overseas assignment during a recent trip to the Pentagon Building, Washington.

His orders for assignment to the Kremlin area may well result in his second around-the-world trip since October, 1950 when he was dispatched to the Military Assistance Advisory Group in Siam.

The local soldier arrived in Cumberland in September of last year and in November his wife and two children joined him from Philadelphia at his residence in Cresaptown.

Sgt. Gregory entered the Air Force in July 1943 following his graduation from Central High School, Providence, R. I. The 27-year-old veteran received training at various Air Force bases throughout the country.

After his discharge from the service in 1946, he attended Bryant College in Providence under the GI Bill and took a course in Business Administration.

In December of 1947 he decided to reenter the Army and was assigned to the ORC Military District in New York City. Later in October, 1950, he was assigned to the State Department with duties at the American Embassy in Siam.

He worked as a stenographer with Brig. Gen. J. T. Cole, chief of Military Assistance Advisory Group, as well as with chiefs of Air Force and Navy sections. During his 13 months overseas, he made trips to Indo-China, Tokyo, Hong Kong and the Philippines.

When he returned to the United States he was assigned to Headquarters First Army at Governors Island, N. Y., and served in the Inspector General Office and the National Guard and ORC units throughout New England.

He later attended Officers Candidate School at Aberdeen, but due to a foot injury was unable to graduate. In May, last year, he was assigned as Sgt. Major of the Military Personnel Division at Aberdeen Proving Grounds and in September came to Cumberland.

Frostburg Woman's Will Is Probated

The will of Mrs. Frances E. Lewis, 80-year old Frostburg resident, who died Sunday, was admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

Two daughters, Mrs. Mary McLuckie and Mrs. Ruth Davis, both also of Frostburg, are named executrices of the estate. Her estate is to be divided into six equal parts, with her five children, George A. Lewis, Mrs. McLuckie, Clarence Lewis, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Frances Guffy, each getting one, and the sixth being divided equally between Edith Suther and Harold Lewis, children of a deceased son, John Lewis. The will was dated October 25, 1947.

Also admitted to probate yesterday was the will of John F. Finan, who died February 5, 1949. It named Bart J. Finan, a brother, as sole beneficiary. Bart J. Finan died May 28, 1949, just a few months after his brother's death. The Liberty Trust Company, by John J. Robinson, trust officer qualified as administrator c. t. a.

Legion Fighting VA Fund Cut

American Legion posts throughout the country are being contacted by National Commander Lewis K. Gough to combat the recommendation of the House Appropriations subcommittee to cut the Veterans Administration budget by 280 million dollars.

Russell C. Paupe, adjutant of Fort Cumberland Post 13, and the adjutants of the other Legion posts in the state are being contacted by telephone and telegraph in order to organize the fight at local levels.

Frank T. Powers, Frostburg, a national executive committeeman, said the American Legion has estimated that the VA needs a minimum of 900 million dollars for administration, medical, hospital and domiciliary services.

The Salvation Army Advisory Board meeting scheduled Monday has been postponed until Friday, June 5, at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA cafeteria. Lewis J. Ort, secretary of the board, announced last night.

Arthritis Clinic Set

Dr. Leon A. Kochman of Baltimore will conduct an arthritis clinic Friday, June 12, from 9 a. m. until noon at the headquarters of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Newsmen Tell Probers Individual Freedoms Must Be Safeguarded

Local Arresting Practices Termed Akin To Police State

The question of whether new laws are needed to protect the constitutional rights of Marylanders is more important than the methods police used in one sensational case, a representative of the Cumberland newspapers told a Legislative Council investigating committee yesterday.

And Del. Horace P. Whitworth Jr. termed the lack of such protection "the embryo of a police state."

Both statements came as a committee headed by State Sen. D. Kenneth McLaughlin (R-Wash) wound up a hearing in Hagerstown, aimed at determining whether new laws on the booking of prisoners are needed.

The hearing was prompted by Whitworth's earlier criticism of methods used in the arrest and detention of a local house painter in connection with the Meister murder case.

Whitworth had criticized the State's Attorney's Office after Charles F. Burkett, 41, was picked up for questioning in the case. Burkett was held seven days without a charge before he was released in custody of his attorney.

Thomas B. Finan, attorney for the Times-News papers, told the legislators the real issue before the committee was "the consideration of just what are a person's constitutional rights, insofar as being held without charges and incommunicado is concerned."

Finan was asked to speak while the committee was discussing how long a prisoner should be held without seeing anyone. State Sen. Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany), a member of the committee, said he noticed "the Cumberland city solicitor" was present, and asked him about some docket entries at City Jail.

Kimble referred to two docket entries, mentioned earlier by Whitworth, which stated that two prisoners in separate cases were to be allowed no visitors.

Finan said that although nobody ever had discussed either of the cases with him, he was certain the city had no policy of not allowing prisoners to see counsel or anyone else.

Couldn't See Clients

The attorney said he was appearing at the hearing as attorney for the Times-News papers and that he hadn't anticipated that he would be called to testify.

But, since he had been asked about it, said Finan, there was a case about five years ago in which he had been refused admission to consult a client, held on a forgery charge at the City Jail, until after the State's Attorney had talked to the prisoner.

And, he said, within the past year, he had been told he could not speak to two clients at the County Jail until after they had been interrogated by representatives of the State's Attorney's Office.

Finan said he felt that the State's Attorney should be allowed to talk to a prisoner first, and that an attorney should not object to this, provided the attorney were allowed to see his client within a few hours.

In fairness to State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, Finan said, he wanted to point out that Fletcher did allow him and Attorney William C. Walsh to see a man they had represented in connection with the Meister case. Finan said he and Walsh were allowed to see their client within several hours after they had asked to see him.

No Hearing Date Set

As to how long a prisoner could be held incommunicado, Finan said he felt police probably could do this for "up to 24 hours."

Finan's testimony came as the special five-man investigating committee prepared to close the hearing. There was no indication when or where any second hearing might be held, but indications have been that another session may be held in Baltimore.

The attorney said he wanted to impress on the committee that, as far as the Cumberland papers were concerned, the subject of the hearing was not a question of personalities and did not resolve itself into a consideration of any controversy, "apparent or otherwise, if such exists," between the newspapers and the State's Attorney's Office.

Had Good Intentions

He said he believed that "Mr. Fletcher was motivated by the best of intentions, but the real question, insofar as the papers are concerned, is a much more fundamental and profound matter.

"That question," he said, "is whether or not in this state there is a need for remedial legislation to protect certain constitutional rights of individuals."

Finan went on to say that a newspaper is an organ of public information, and that when a case as sensational as the Meister case develops, the public clamors for reports on progress. It is the duty of a newspaper, he declared, to furnish this information.

Ont the other hand, he pointed out, the State's Attorney has a duty to perform, and as a result of these two considerations there is sometimes a conflict.

"The question of methods employed in the case of Mr. Burkett," he said, "is not the important issue. The real issue before the committee is the consideration of legislation to clarify the question of just what are a person's constitutional rights, insofar as being held without charges and incommunicado is concerned."

Finan said he felt that everyone present at the hearing was hopeful that a constructive law would emerge as a result of the session.

He also said the Cumberland newspapers were reserving their right to express their views, if necessary, on the constitutional guarantee involved at any future hearing before the committee.

Earlier, the committee heard Attorney Harold E. Naughton, who represented Burkett, say that he felt that State's Attorney Fletcher was justified in holding his client for a week.

Naughton told the investigators he had not been brought into the case as Burkett's attorney until Tuesday, April 21.

Mrs. Burkett came to his office, Naughton said, and discussed the case with him. She said two city policemen had come to the house and taken her husband away. They told her they were taking Burkett to the State's Attorney's Office, she said.

Mrs. Burkett Saw Husband

On Friday, the day after Burkett's arrest, Mrs. Burkett told the lawyer, County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya came to the house and told her her husband was being taken out of the county.

Lilya explained that Burkett had made some damaging admissions and that police were investigating further.

On Saturday, Mrs. Burkett told Naughton, Lilya came back to the Burkett house and told Mrs. Burkett that her husband was at the County Infirmary and that she could go and see him.

Naughton said Mrs. Burkett visited her husband almost immediately on Saturday, twice on Sunday, and again on Monday and Tuesday.

The attorney said Mrs. Burkett had told him on two occasions that her husband had made no written statements about the case to authorities.

Naughton said he asked Mrs. Burkett if she wanted him to get her husband out of jail on a writ of habeas corpus. Mrs. Burkett, he said, told him not to do anything at the time because she feared her husband's elderly parents in Bedford, Pa., "might have a stroke" if his name got into the papers and they learned he was being held.

Prisoner Disappeared

Later that day, Burkett's name did appear in the Evening Times, and Mrs. Burkett told Naughton to go ahead and get her husband out of jail if he could.

Naughton said he handled a couple of cases in Circuit Court the next day, Wednesday, and had a chance to tell Fletcher he had been retained as counsel for Burkett. They agreed to get together and talk the case over as soon as the court cases were over, said Naughton.

But when he went to see Fletcher, said the attorney, Fletcher was out.

"I was sore about it at the time," Naughton said, "but I found out later it was perfectly legitimate." He said he went out to the County Infirmary to try to see Burkett, but Burkett wasn't there and he couldn't find out where he was.

(Later testimony brought out that Burkett was at State Police Barracks in LaVale while Naughton was looking for him.)

Naughton checked the City Jail. He checked the County Jail. Burkett wasn't at either place. So, on Wednesday night, he prepared a writ of habeas corpus and announced his plan to seek a writ in court for Burkett's freedom.

The next morning, Naughton said, he did get in contact with Fletcher and Fletcher opened up for him his complete file on the Burkett case.

"My client has an overactive imagination," Naughton said. "He is inclined to tell whoppers."

Naughton said that on the basis of damaging statements that Burkett made during the first three days he was held, the prosecutor could reasonably have concluded that he was guilty.

He said that in view of this, he thought that seven days was a reasonable length of time for Fletcher to hold Burkett. He said that Burkett had made such damaging statements that Fletcher would have been justified in getting out a warrant against him charging him with murder.

Says Rights Not Violated

Sen. McLaughlin asked Naughton if Burkett had been deprived of his rights. Naughton said no.

Naughton said Burkett had not been held incommunicado. Asked again about whether Burkett's constitutional rights had been violated, Naughton answered, "Absolutely not."

Naughton added that after the first three days, Burkett was held for his own protection. Naughton said it was his feeling that if he had been in the case and had sought a writ of habeas corpus in the first three days, Fletcher would have been forced to swear out a murder warrant against Burkett.

Cresaptown To Honor War Dead

Program Is Planned Tomorrow Afternoon

A memorial service honoring Cresaptown men who lost their lives in World War II and the present Korean conflict will be held tomorrow in that community under sponsorship of Cresaptown Unit 209, American Legion Auxiliary.

Principal speaker in the program which will get underway at 1:30 p. m. at the Honor Roll will be Rev. Raymond M. Crowe, Methodist Church minister.

Invocation will be by Rev. William Stroup, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, and a short talk will be given by Frank Powers, of Frostburg, national executive committeeman of the American Legion.

Greetings will be extended by Edna Hounshell and each of the auxiliary members will place a flower at the Honor Roll in memory of the deceased men.

Miss Dorothy Bowman, community service chairman, is in charge of arrangements. The Cresaptown School Band will play a number of selections during the service. The Honor Roll was recently repaired by the auxiliary and a new flag will be flown during the ceremonies.

Those men who will be remembered for paying the supreme sacrifice include: Arthur Boyd, Harold Cain, Homer Cecil, George Chilcott, James Cuff, Robert Densock, Dale Douthitt.

Hubert Hershberger, Raymond L. Logsdon, John J. McKenzie, James C. Miller, Howard Sheppard, Roland B. Shirey, Charles Walsh and Argil Warner, killed in World War II; and Richard Cook, who died in the Korean conflict.

Indianapolis Opens Attack On Pigeons

Cumberland is not the only city that is having its troubles with pigeons and starlings.

The United States Municipal News, in its May 1 issue, notes that Indianapolis has begun an attack to rid the city of its vast flocks of pigeons.

It noted that 10 per cent of the estimated 50,000 birds in that city are said to be infected with psittacosis and are believed to have contributed to influenza attacks there.

The city will use three giant traps expected to catch about 150 of the birds each day. The campaign is expected to take about 11 months.

Legion Auxiliary To Hold Annual Poppy Sales Today

Robert Wilson, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 American Legion, last night appealed to all patriotic citizens to wear a poppy today—Poppy Day.

Memorial poppies will be distributed on the streets of Cumberland throughout the day by members of the American Legion auxiliary, Wilson said, and contributions received will be used to aid disabled war veterans and needy children of veterans, he explained.

The red crepe-paper poppies are made by veterans at the Perry Point Hospital, Perryville, and the project enables hospitalized veterans to earn much-needed funds as well as being beneficial as occupational therapy)

The local Legion auxiliary is sponsoring the sale of the paper flowers and volunteers will report at the Legion home on Harrison Street today at 8 a. m. to begin sale of the little flowers.

A display in the window of the Ridgeley Post Office has been arranged by Knobley Mountain Unit 136, American Legion Auxiliary, in conjunction with the sale today.

The display, arranged by Mrs. Virginia Zimmerman, chairman, and Mrs. Lillian Duer, features a miniature cemetery with poppies separating the graves.

The miniature paper flowers are accurate replicas of the wild poppies which grew in profussion on the battle fields of both world wars in France and Belgium.

Today's sale will be conducted by volunteers from the auxiliary units and members of Girl Scout Troop No. 1.

District Eagles Meeting Planned Here Tomorrow

Class Of 15 Members Will Be Initiated

Maryland state officers of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will make their yearly visit to Cumberland Aerie 245, Sunday, at the meeting of District No. 2, Herman L. Myers, secretary of the local lodge, announced last night.

The district meeting will be presided over by Francis T. Twigg, deputy grand president of the district which comprises lodges in Cresaptown, Frostburg, Hagerstown and Cumberland.

Twigg, a member of the Cumberland lodge, is also Maryland State President.

The meeting will begin at 2 p. m. at the lodge rooms on North Mechanic Street, Myers stated, and a class of about 15 new members will be initiated in special ceremonies.

John L. Farrin, state membership director of Cumberland, and members from the four district lodges are expected to attend.

In addition to Twigg and Farrin, other state officers who will probably visit the city are Robert Cleland, vice president from Hagerstown; Robert Funk, Brunswick chaplain; John Harbaugh, city, state conductor; Vernon Urghart, Baltimore, state inside guard; Waverly Rice, Cresaptown, state outside guard; and three state trustees, Andrew Dunn, Frostburg, Norman Whitmer, Hagerstown and William Goldbeck, Baltimore.

Also expected to attend the affair is past state president, Benjamin Mattingly, Baltimore, Myers stated.

Plans are rapidly taking shape for the Maryland state convention here June 12, 13 and 14, Myers continued. Reservations for delegates for the three-day affair already are coming in and at least 200 delegates throughout the state are expected to be present.

In addition to election of officers for the coming year, other activities will include initiation of a class of candidates commemorating the 34th anniversary of the state body, as well as many social activities.

C. William Baer is chairman of arrangements for the state affair next month with John L. Farrin as assistant.

Sister Marjorie To Mark Jubilee

Sister Mary Marjorie, principal of Ursuline Academy and SS. Peter and Paul Parochial School, will observe the silver jubilee of her entrance into the Ursuline Nuns tomorrow.

Rev. Louis Glantz, O.F.M., Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, will be celebrant at a solemn high Mass of Thanksgiving in her honor at 9:30 a. m. Sunday.

Rev. Marius Elsner will be deacon and Rev. Julian Patterson will be subdeacon at the mass.

Sister Marjorie entered the order January 6, 1928 at Louisville, Ky.

After teaching at Evansville, Ind., and at Sidney, Neb., she was transferred back to Louisville to teach at Ursuline Academy and at Sacred Heart Academy.

Sister Marjorie came here in 1948 from Sacred Heart Academy. Her home town is Cincinnati, Ohio.

U. Of Md. Board Commission For Burke Arrives

Five Election Board Appointees Named

A commission naming Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, to the final six years of a nine-year term on the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland, was received here yesterday by Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Burke was named by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin to the remainder of an unexpired nine-year term which started the first Monday in June, 1950. The term will run until the first Monday in June, 1959.

Commissions for the three regular members and two substitutes on the County Board of Election Supervisors also arrived at Boden's office yesterday. They are all for two years from the first Monday in June.

Both regular Republican members of the board, William A. Wilson, chairman, and Victor H. Hebb, were reappointed. The new Democrat member is Matthew J. Mullaney, Cumberland attorney. He succeeds James E. Kenny, Westernport grocer, who now is the Democrat member of the County Board of License Commissioners.

William D. Rankin, Lonaconing, is the new Republican substitute board member, succeeding Mrs. Nell Thomas Nichols, this city. Marshall Wolford has been reappointed as Democrat substitute board member. He has been serving on the board this month since Kenny was sworn in as a member of the Board of License Commissioners May 4.

Child's Parents Jailed For Neglect

A 50-year-old father and 48-year-old mother were sentenced yesterday in Allegany County Juvenile Court on charges of neglect and contributing to the delinquency of their seven-year-old child.

The father was given a six-months term to the Maryland House of Correction for contributing to the delinquency of a minor child, and the mother was sentenced to six months in the Maryland Reformatory for Women on a charge of abandonment and neglect of her child.

This will be the first statewide alert since World War II. It will take place during daylight hours.

In announcing plans for the test yesterday, Gov. McKeldin said President Eisenhower's statement of April 30 clearly indicated that we must keep all of our defenses currently alerted as well as under constant development for a long time to come.

Local Navy Reservist To Take Sea Cruise

A Cumberland sailor will be the first Navy reservist from the Cumberland unit to be flown to his ship for a two-week summer cruise when he leaves tomorrow morning.

Randall Linn Sheetz, 424 Arch Street, Seaman Hospital Man at the Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9 here, will leave tomorrow morning by train for Washington. At Washington he will board a plane for Norfolk, Va. where he will meet his ship, the USS Roberts, destroyer escort, DE 749.

Sheetz will be aboard the vessel for his two weeks annual training. The ship will go to Boston, Mass. and return to Norfolk.

This is part of the Navy's reserve program. Reservists are given a two-weeks training cruise with pay and transportation expenses to and from the vessel port.

One Jail Escapee Is Recaptured

A Baltimore man who broke out of Howard County Jail Tuesday night was recaptured yesterday in Baltimore, but two local brothers and another Baltimorean were still at large last night.

Baltimore police said they found Albert Smith, 34, hiding in a clothes closet in the apartment of a 28-year-old woman who also was held.

Police in the Western Maryland-West Virginia area were still patrolling highways last night in search of Michael Leslie, 28, and his brother, Woodrow, 35. Robert R. Smith, 54, of Baltimore, also remained free last night.

Rec Officials Seek West Side Playground Site

The City Recreation Board is trying to find a suitable site for a playground on the West Side.

Albert S. Paye, chairman, said members of the board have been discussing for some time the possibility of securing a site in the area between the Ridgedale Reservoir and the water tank.

The playground would be designed to take care of children from the Fairmont Avenue, Kelly Boulevard, Gephart Drive and Fayette Street section.

The board said it has received a number of complaints from West Side residents about children playing in the streets and that similar reports have been directed at police.

Paye said the only playground on the West Side is at West Side School. The Mt. Royal School and Ridgedale play lots are too small for much equipment or for a full program.

Robert E. Pence, city rec director, yesterday toured the area to study available sites, and members of the Recreation Board will make similar studies over the weekend.
